58 GIs Die in Red Ambush

Battle 41 Miles North of Saigon Takes Heavy Toll of Officers

SAIGON (AP) — A veteran Communist regiment ambushed two companies of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division in canopied jungles 41 miles north of Saigon Tuesday. After a day of fierce fighting, 58 Americans and at least 103 Communists had been killed and 61 Americans were wounded.

The battle took a costly toll of U.S. officers. Among them were Maj. Don W. Holleder, voted most valuable player on Army's 1955 football team, and Lt. Col. Terry Allen Jr., whose father commanded the 1st Division in Tunisia and Sicily in World War II.

Holleder, a brigade operations officer, had replaced Allen in command of a battalion after the latter was killed. A battalion intelligence officer and a platoon commander also were killed and two company commanders were wounded.

A fresh battalion was sent into the jungle area this morning but made no contact with the enemy.

Planes Near China

Over North Vietnam, meanwhile, U.S. planes flew close to Red China Tuesday to attack the Lang Son railroad bridge 10 miles from the frontier and the Lang Giai railroad yards 20 miles south of the border.

The U.S. Command said four American planes were lost—three Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs and one A4 Navy Skyhawk. This raised the total of U. S. planes announced lost in combat over the North to 705.

Hanoi claimed five planes were shot down Tuesday.

As the pace of the war quickened, there were these other developments

Koreans Kill 431

2 South Korean Marines reported 431 enemy troops killed and 16 captured on the Batangan Peninsula about 350 miles northeast of Saigon in a sweep that began Sept 5 about 12 miles southeast of the allied base at Chu Lai The area has been a Communist stronghold for 20 years and an important water supply route for the Reds, a Korean spokesman said. Korean casualties were termed light in the operation

3 Infantrymen of the U S 9th Division, continuing a search of a vast tunnel complex 30 miles east of Saigon, uncovered more enemy weapons and munitions. The huge cache so far has yielded 1,150 weapons and 142,500 rounds of ammunition, division officers reported.

The battle north of Saigon erupted when the two compa-

Football Fan Fails Final Fidelity Test

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — A man and wife presented themselves before the divorce court in Kielce, central Poland.

"He's not interested in me, not in anything but soccer," she told the judge. "He remembers the dates and results of all matches, but he doesn't even remember the date of our wedding."

"It's a lie," the husband exclaimed. "I married you on the day when the Blues beat the Ostrowiec club."

The judge stopped the proceedings and granted the woman a divorce.

Arson Suspected in Third of Brush Fires

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Fire fighters say arsonists may be responsible for at least a third of the 50,000 acres that have been destroyed by Southern California brush fires.

One major fire still raged uncontrolled late Tuesday, a 7,000-acre blaze edging into Los Padres National Forest north of Santa Paula, about 50 miles northwest of Los Angeles Fire officials said the blaze had a perimeter of about 12 miles, with about four miles of that perimeter burning out of control, but that it was moving steadily away from populated areas and into rugged mountain terrain.

An earlier fire in the Santa Paula area roared across 15,000 acres and burned within a quarter mile of the town before firemen brought it under control Tuesday.

A spokesman for the California Division of Forestry said Tuesday night arson investigations are being made in at least three of the fires that have blotched the hill areas since Sunday.

Frank Crossfield of the division said police and sheriff's investigators believe arson was the cause of one of the major fires that erupted Sunday in the area of Simi, in the west end of the San Fernando Valley about 20 miles east and south of Santa Paula.

Crossfield said witnesses saw three youths fleeing the area shortly before the fire broke out. The fire joined another blaze to form a 25,000-acre inferno.

Menaced Town

He said the combined fire, which raged out of control through Sunday and Monday, was 90 to 95 per cent contained late Tuesday It menaced the town of Thousand Oaks and forced evacuation of 50 homes and two schools before firemen and winds turned it back

Crossfield said investigators also believe arsonists started a second fire in the Simi area Monday night That blaze destroyed 2,000 acres before it was brought under control Tuesday, Crossfield said.

Two 16-year-old girls were arrested in Simi Tuesday and accused of starting a fire that burned six acres in a field adjacent to Simi Valley Community High School.

Ventura County sheriff's deputies said the girls were seen throwing burning refuse into the field from the highway.

Fire officials said the rash of fires had destroyed 42 homes in Los Angeles and Ventura counties by late Tuesday. Seventeen other structures were lost.

There were reports of several small fires erupting throughout the area, but patrolling firemen were reported putting them out as fast as they occurred Authorities said 1,100 fire fighters were on the lines Tuesday.

Ike's Ailment Not Cancer, Doctors Say

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army doctors reported today that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has a "benign (non-cancerous) enlargement of the prostate gland," but that surgery is not indicated at this time.

Doctors at Walter Reed Army Hospital said that Eisenhower had symptoms indicating a partial obstruction within his urinary tract system.

But they said his spirits are good and that he is "up and around and out of bed."

The doctors also said that it has not yet been determined how long Eisenhower will remain in the hospital. He was admitted to the hospital Tuesday with his third illness in five months.

U.S.S.R. Craft Drops Instruments on Venus

Soft Landing Is Reported By Russians

Temperature on Planet Placed at 104-536 Degrees

MOSCOW (AP) — The unmanned Soviet spacecraft Venus 4 flew into the atmosphere of cloud-shrouded Venus today and dropped an instrument package tnat transmitted data showing a temperature range from 104 to 536 degrees Fahrenheit, an announcement said. It reported the package made a soft landing by parachute.

The planet's atmospheric pressure varied from the equivalent of that of the earth to about 15 times as great, the announcement said.

"The measurements have shown that the atmosphere consists almost exclusively of carbon dioxide," it was added "Hydrogen and vapors account for about 1½ per cent and no noticeable traces of nitrogen were detected."

Signals from the spacecraft's instruments were monitored in Britain for an hour and a half after they apparently landed on Venus.

The Soviet announcement, distributed by the Tass news agency, said the instruments "conducted continuous stable measurements and transmission to the earth of the parameters of the atmosphere for an hour and a half." It did not make clear what happened then or why the transmissions ended.

Venus 4 was reported to have entered the atmosphere of the planet at 12:34 a.m. EDT.

'Started Descent'

"The scientific laboratory detached itself from the station"—meaning the 2,438-pound spacecraft—"and started its descent," Tass said.

"After aerodynamic braking of the apparatus in the atmosphere, the automatic parachute system took over and it continued gradual descent in the atmosphere of Venus."

The announcement added that Venus 4 found "the absence of any noticeable magnetic field or radiation belts" around Venus.

"A weak hydrogen corona was detected," it said

The end of the broacasting may have been due to melting of instruments in the heat.

The spacecraft was the fourth of its type to be sent by the Russians toward Venus, the earth's cloud-covered sister, since Feb. 12 1961 The first two were wide of the mark. The third, bearing a Soviet pennant, was reported to have crashed on Venus March 1, 1966.

Another Pennant

Venus 4 carried another pennant with the coat of arms of the Soviet Union.

The Venus 4 findings were generally similar to those made by the first successful probe of the planet by U S Mariner 2 which passed about 21,600 miles from Venus on Dec. 14, 1962.

Mariner 2 reported a temperature of about 800 degrees, compared with a maximum of 536 reported by Venus 4.

An explanation of the way the instrument package reached the surface of the planet suggested that the temperature variations occurred as the measuring de-

Mrs. Knowles' Redecoration Plans Again Run Into Snags

BY TIM WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The state architect has opposed Mrs. Warren P Knowles' plans for the redecoration of the ornate reception room in the executive office of the state Capitol, but state planning for the job is proceeding.

Secretary of Administration Wayne McGown admitted today that Shinji Yamamoto, the state's architect, has opposed the plan but refused to make public a letter containing Yamamoto's criticisms of the project, pushed by the governor's wife

"Yes, Shinji was opposed to it I was opposed to it, too, at the start," said McGown when asked what Yamamoto had reported regarding the propriety of the project.

But McGown refused to release the letter, saying that it contains information regarding bids on the work, which are still out.

Mrs Knowles is an interior decorator in private life, affiliated with a New York firm Last year she generated criticisms in the midst of a political campaign when she worked on a several-hundred-thousand-dollar renovation project of the state executive mansion. She completed the project despite the opposition

She has now turned her attentions on the ceremonial conference room in the executive office, which was constructed in 1917 as a copy of the council chamber in Doge's Palace in Venice, Italy. It is finished in Venetian Renaissance style and has wood paneling, painted brown.

Backbone of Mrs. Knowles' project is a plan to paint the wood a light gray to match a large marble fireplace.

Opposition has sprung up within state departments among planners involved in the project, who argue that the room has a unique historic value as it is and that it should be preserved without change. Renovation should copy existing finishings, they say.

Tuesday the state Senate passed a bill backed by Mrs. Knowles which would create a state executive residence board to preserve, in the future, the historic features of the remodeled mansion in the face of remodeling proposals.

McGown said that Mrs. Knowles had been involved in proposing the changes in the office but that the decision was his as secretary of administration. Four sources in his department said the decision was Mrs. Knowles'.

"This was in part decided on the advice of Mrs. Knowles, who is donating her services to the state," McGown said.

"Sure, there is historic worth, but I think it is both her opinion as a professional interior decorator and my opinion, . . having read materials for what is authentic for this period of Italian Renaissance, that it will work with a white background," he said.

He added that Mrs. Knowles had shown him written materials regarding the authenticity of a whiter color in such design work of the period.

"It meets what an interior decorator says will produce an attractive effect," McGown argued.

Other state sources say the original council chamber of the Doge's Palace was finished in brown and painted at a later date. A white color in that room would not be authentic, they argue.

McGown was asked if he had consulted another interior decorator.

"No," he replied.

He was asked if he intends to consult another interior decorator.

"No," he replied.

He was asked if he had an interior decorator on his staff in the State Bureau of Engineering.

"No," he replied.

"I asked the same questions but when we went to the textbooks, it refers to this as authentic for the period," he said

Would Follow Bombing Halt

Wilson-Kosygin Talks Hinted

LONDON (AP) — British Prime Minister Harold Wilson intends to seek Soviet support for new Vietnam peace moves if the United States suspends bombing of North Vietnam.

Informed sources said Wilson may go to Moscow for talks with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin.

A hint of Wilson's approach emerged during an interview with The Associated Press when he said he was in close contact with Kosygin about chances of joint peacemaking action in Vietnam.

"We would be ready to try any time when we felt joint action on our part could help to bring the parties together," Wilson said.

An opportunity for joint action may arise next month. South Vietnam's president-elect Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, has said he would ask the United States after his inauguration Oct. 30 to stop bombing the Communist North for about a week in order to test Hanoi's willingness for peace talks.

Wilson would like a longer bombing pause—long enough to enable him to consult Kosygin in Moscow. He said in the interview he had no immediate plans to visit either Moscow or Washington but recalled he had arranged with Kosygin to travel to the Soviet capital "at an appropriate time."

The Soviet Union and Britain were cochairmen of the 1954 Geneva conference that ended the French Indochina war.

In answer to other questions on Vietnam in the interview marking the start of his fourth year in office, Wilson also said

—Britain is against any invasion of North Vietnam. This is a possibility that British newspapers claim has been under serious study by President Johnson's administration.

—North Vietnam would not advance toward peace if it used any American bombing pause to build up its own power or increase military activity.

Convinced of Desire

—Wilson personally is "100 per cent convinced" of the American desire for peace in Vietnam.

—Preconditions for peace talks are an end of American bombing of the North and of Hanoi's backing for the Viet Cong

Wilson's position on these matters has separated him from many in the Labor Party. Two weeks ago the Party's annual convention urged the British government to dissociate itself "from the policy of the U.S. government in Vietnam" and called for an American bombing halt "immediately, permanently and unconditionally."

Once More, Rockefeller Claims He Won't Run

ABOARD SS INDEPENDENCE (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York has made his strongest statement yet to kill off moves by party moderates to push him for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination.

"I do not want to be president," Rockefeller told reporters on the sun deck of this National Governors Conference cruise liner en route to the Virgin Islands.

Gov. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland, who has never wavered in his support of Rockefeller as the best candidate the GOP could nominate, said the New Yorker's disclaimer sounded "pretty definite."

"I'm convinced he won't run unless he is drafted," Agnew said "If he were drafted, it would take a pretty emphatic individual to turn it down. But did anybody ever hear of a genuine draft?"

"I am not a candidate," Rockefeller told newsmen Tuesday.

Rockefeller

"I do not intend to be a candidate. I do not want to be president."

"Do you really mean it?" a reporter asked.

"You hear me loud and clear," Rockefeller replied.

Humphrey to See Thieu Ceremonies

SAIGON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey is expected to head the U.S. delegation to the inauguration of Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu as president of South Vietnam Oct. 30, reliable sources said today.

Dispatches from Washington said President Johnson had talked with Humphrey about the inauguration but the personnel of the American delegation had not been worked out.

Resumption of UW-GB Fight Greets Returning Legislators

Leonard Calls Large Proposal on Transcripts 'Hate Legislation'

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Shadowboxing over the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay broke out on the floor of the State Senate Tuesday as the Legislature settled into its recessed fall session.

But the big battle over the fate of the Northeastern Wisconsin campus is at least a week away, according to Senate sources.

Sen. Gerald Lorge, R-Bear Creek, lost in his attempt to push a bill which would require the State Building Commission to prepare and deliver a transcript of all meetings to all members of the Legislature.

Lorge denied the bill is related to the choice of a site in Green Bay as home of the planned UW branch campus, but was countered by Senate majority leader Jerris Leonard, R-Bayside, who called the measure "pure hate legislation."

Power On Commission

The bill is one of several introduced in response to building commission actions in approving the Green Bay site selected and in preparing plans for the construction of the new school.

Leonard is a building commission power and chairs its university affairs subcommittee, which has overseen the UW-GB development. Lorge is a leader of the forces opposing the present UW-GB site.

Sen. Ernest Keppler, R-Sheboygan, attempted to push the bill which would require the provision of transcripts. The commission deals with important issues and large sums of state funds, he said. The bill would "keep the rest of us on the outside looking in aware of what is happening."

Sen. Robert Warren, R-Green Bay, pointed out that the bill would require the commission to keep more records than the regular minutes now taken, and could prevent the agency from lapsing into closed session to discuss some land purchases and legal matters as it is now allowed to do.

Lorge said the bill "has nothing to do with UW-GB. "As a member of the Legislature I want to know what is going on," he said.

But Leonard called it "pure hate legislation — and typical of such, as it is poorly drawn."

The bill was set aside, as the senate is attempting to pursue only non-controversial matters in its early days.

The Rogers bill, designed to change the site of the Green Bay campus, is not expected to be brought before the upper house until at least next week, in light of the attempt to hurry through the non-controversial matters.

Sessions Set To Begin After Funeral of Held

MADISON (AP) — The Wisconsin Legislature, rested from an 11-week summer recess, begins regular sessions today after the funeral of a fellow lawmaker.

Both houses delayed meeting until later in the day to allow members to attend the funeral of James Held, Republican assemblyman from Milwaukee.

Held died Sunday night when his car crashed with a truck on a rain-swept freeway in Milwaukee.

Both houses devoted part of Tuesday's brief meetings to eulogies to the 29-year-old first-term legislator.

Agree to Delays

No bills of importance are expected to be debated until later this week. The leaders of both parties have agreed to delay important matters until a huge backlog of minor proposals can be disposed of.

The Assembly took no action Tuesday. The Senate debated nearly 100 measures in four hours, but voted on less than half of them. Thirty-six minor bills were approved and eight were rejected.

The body was expected to spend most of today con-

Mariner Behind by One Day

Soviets Nosing Out U.S. in Venus Race

By RALPH DIGHTON
AP Science Writer

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A top British space scientist says a Soviet space probe apparently reached Venus today, ending a four-month, 213-million-mile race with the United States to seek clues to life on earth's mysterious "sister planet."

Signals from the Soviet Union's Venus 4 being read by the Jodrell Bank Observatory in England stopped at 4:38 a.m. Greenwich Mean Time—12:38 a.m. EDT—and were replaced in 15 seconds by signals of a different type

The director of the British tracking station, Sir Bernard Lovell, said a possible explanation was that capsules had been ejected from the main Russian rocket casing onto the surface of Venus and were now transmitting.

The 2,438-pound Soviet Venus 4 apparently had been designed to make a landing whereas Mariner 5, the smaller U.S. vehicle, was built to fly by Venus and take closeup measurements of the planet and its atmosphere. The U.S. vehicle is expected to arrive some 24 hours after Venus 4.

A Tass news agency article last month said the Russian vehicle had been sterilized "to prevent any terreslrial microorganism from being carried to the Venus surface."

The American entry, the 540-pound U.S. Mariner 5, equipped with an umbrella and venetian blinds to shield it against intense solar heat, will fly past Venus at a distance of 2,500 miles Thursday morning. The Soviet craft was launched June 12, Mariner 5 on June 14. Each responded properly to radioed commands in steering maneuvers far out in space.

Mission Unexplained

Venus 4's mission has not been fully explained, but the Tass article said: "It is only automatic stations coming into contact with the planet or speeding near it that can directly study physical conditions on the planet and processes taking place in its atmosphere and on its surface."

An earlier Soviet craft, Venus 3, was designed to send a sphere filled with experiments to the surface, but the vehicle itself crashed on the planet in March 1966.

Mariner 5 was not sterilized because it was aimed to fly past Venus, not land on its surface.

The U.S. craft is a modification of Mariner 4, which snapped 22 pictures of almost airless Mars from 6,200 miles in July 1965. Mariner 5 carries no camera, however—its target is obscured by clouds. Instead, it has instruments to measure the diameter of Venus and the height, density, temperature and makeup of its atmosphere.

Telescope Knowledge

Virtually all that is known about Venus, the third brightest body in earth's sky, has come from earth-based telescopes and radar, and from Mariner 2, the only successful Venus probe to date.

Mariner 2 flew within 21,700 miles in 1962 and made readings indicating Venus' surface temperature was an unbearably hot 800 degrees Fahrenheit. This was an assumption based on temperatures in the upper layers of the atmosphere—readings which could have been distorted by electrical activity in the Venusian "sky."

Radar probing from earth shows considerable roughness on the planet, probably high mountains. Some scientists have speculated that somewhere on the slopes of such mountains there could be a temperate zone favorable to life.

Dr. Lewis Kaplan, planetary meteorologist at Jet Propulsion Laboratory, which is controlling the Mariner 5 flight, does not share such views.

No Life

"Almost certainly, there is no possibility that life exists on Venus," he said in an interview

"I am convinced that the clouds surrounding the planet are not water clouds, that there is no liquid water on the planet's surface, and that the heat—even on the highest mountain—is so great it would disintegrate the most elementary life form."

Mariner 5 carries instruments which will go a long way toward settling scientific dispute Among them are an ultraviolet photometer to measure any hydrogen and oxygen that may exist in Venus' atmosphere

Hydrogen and oxygen are the elements of water. Infrared (heat) measuring instruments on high-altitude balloons have detected particles in Venus' hot clouds which could be ice crystals. Kaplan believes, however, that only traces of hydrogen and oxygen exist in Venus' atmosphere and that the major constituent is carbon dioxide.

Measure Atmosphere

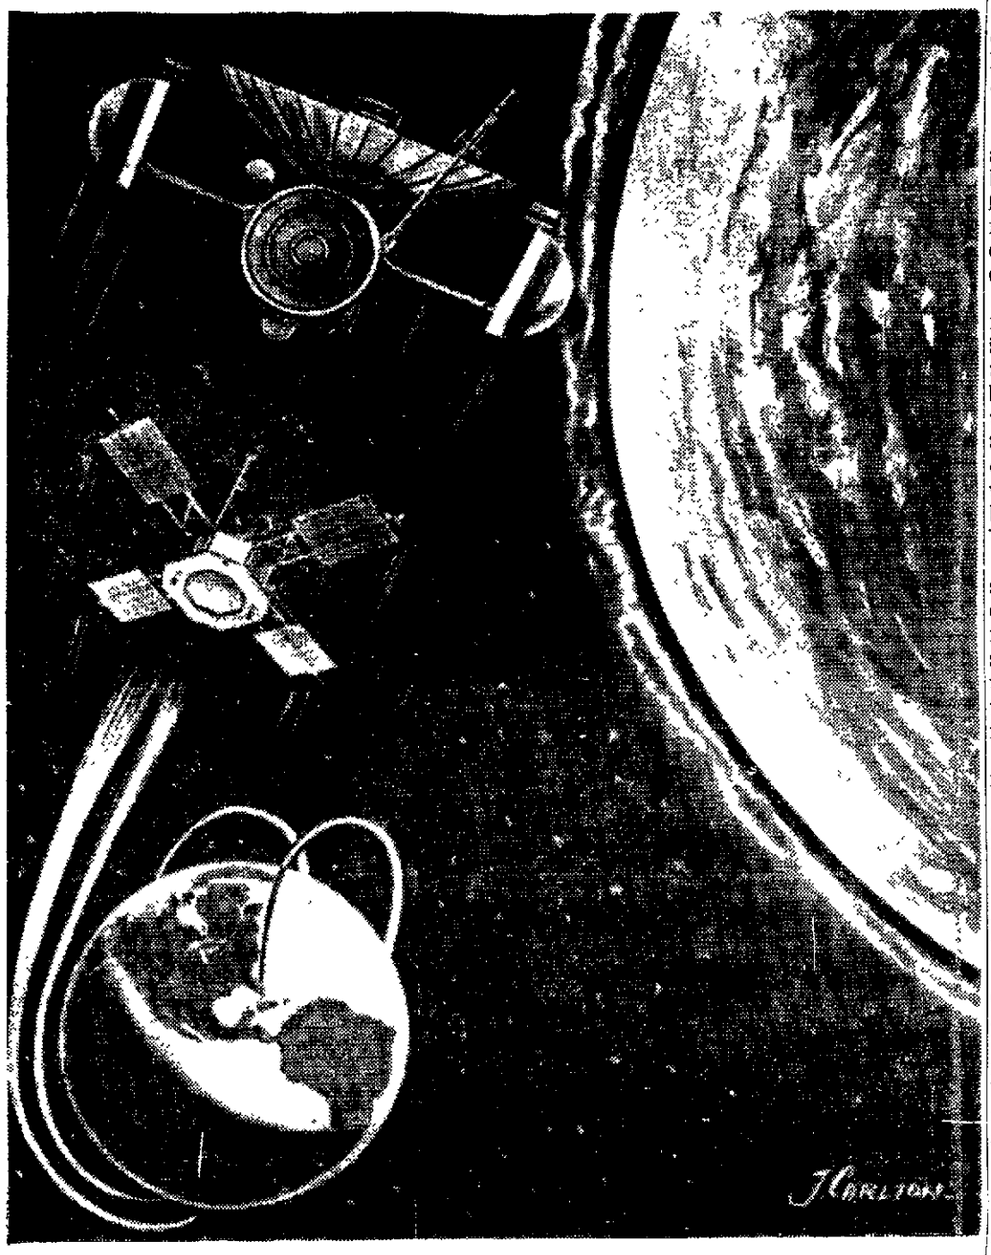
Another measurement of the height and density of Venus' atmosphere will be made by an occultation experiment as Mariner 5 swings behind the planet for 26 minutes at the point of closest approach.

Dan Schneiderman, Mariner 5 project manager, expects to be able to announce rough figures on the atmosphere height an hour or so after the spacecraft passes behind Venus.

The $38-million Mariner 5 project reflects continuing scientific interest in Venus, despite a general consensus that the planet could not harbor life. Its thick clouds keep the planet's surface mysterious, and to scientists any mystery is intolerable.

If Venus is proved to be hostile to life, mankind will feel even lonelier in the solar system. Venus is presumably the last possibility among the four "inner planets," other than earth. Mercury, the closest to the sun, is believed far too hot. Mars, which orbits beyond earth, was pictured by Mariner 4 as a desert with an atmosphere too thin to support life. The outer planets are too cold.

Final proof of whether life exists on Venus may have to wait many years. The first phase of a $2-billion program to land a series of automated laboratories on the planet's surface—Project Voyager—was canceled this year.



The Race to Venus is illustrated by John Carlton. At the top is the Soviet Union's 2,438-pound Venus 4, followed by the 540-pound U.S. Mariner 5, which is equipped with an umbrella and venetian blinds to shield it from solar heat. The Venus was launched June 12, Mariner June 14. (AP Wirephoto)

Federal Grant For Airport Is Accepted

Decision on Use, Matching Funds Still Not Made

Supervisors agreed, with some reluctance, to accept a $143,000 federal grant for projects at the Outagamie County Airport without going into what projects the grant covered or deciding whether the county would put up the required matching funds

The grant, which would cover proposed runway work announced two months ago, required formal acceptance by the county and designation of the state aeronautics commission as the county's agent in handling the funds.

The required resolution was passed 40-1 Tuesday afternoon with three supervisors abstaining from voting. Supv. Carl Runte, Kaukauna, cast the lone dissenting vote while Supvs. Henry Breiting, New London, Joseph DeBruin, Town of Buchanan, and Merritt Kavanaugh, Kaukauna, abstained.

Refused To Act

DeBruin said he refused to act on the lengthy resolution, which was received by the county Monday from the state, until he had a copy of it to study.

Supvs. Patrick Mares and Eugene Kloes, Appleton, questioned whether passing the resolution would commit the county to spending $265,000 which had been mentioned at the September meeting of the board.

Airport Committee Chairman Paul Kostka, Little Chute, said the resolution committed the county to only acceptance of the grant.

Sought To Outline

Kostka sought to outline development plans for the airport but Board Chairman Sylvester Esler stopped him and told the board to "trust the Airport Committee" until the November session of the board when complete airport plans would be ready.

A move by DeBruin to have the resolution held over until Nov. 6 was defeated after County Corporation Counsel A. W. Ponath said he did not know if the delay would jeopardize the county's chances for the grant.

He confirmed Kostka's explanation that passing the resolution would not bind the county to spending any money.

Early Budget Reviews Cut Only $1.28 From Tax Rate

Having cut $190,000 from a series of municipal budgets over a three-night period, Appleton city officials admitted today the 1968 tax rate picture looks grim.

Original requests of all departments, boards and commissions were $17 8 million and called for a $13.78 increase in next year's rate.

Members of the council's finance committee wrapped up reviews for the week late Tuesday night by deleting $180,000 from police, fire and inspection department appropriation requests.

At this point — taking the cuts into consideration — the rate would jump $12 50

Appleton's tax rate this year was $56 22 per $1,000 assessed valuation

Resume Hearings

When budget hearings are resumed next week the board of education and department of public works budgets will undoubtedly bear the brunt of major cutbacks

They have the largest operational and capital improvement budgets

This year's general city operation, including public works, fire, police, street, sanitation, welfare and other divisions, call for a $6 12 increase in the tax rate

The board of education's operational budget as it now stands equals a $4.83 boost

And the Vocational School District levy — which proved to be a shocker to city officials — automatically adds $2 04 to the rate.

Budget examiners Tuesday night cut $45,293 from police department requests; $95,619 from the fire department, and $6,125 from the department of inspections budget. In addition, a $33,000 request for land for a new fire station site was deleted from capital outlay.

Police Chief Earl O Wolff asked authorization and funds to hire eight additional men, and a policewoman, next year. The committee allowed him only four men A request for another squad car also was deleted.

The major revision in the fire department budget was elimination of a $75,000 aerial Snorkel.

And in the inspections department budget, the largest cut was $4,400 for a power ladder mounted truck for the electrical division.

"We've got a long way to go," remarked Finance Director Henry Schreve today

Plan Recommendations

Schreve said he would have some recommendations for the committee when it completes its review of all budgets.

"However, I can't come up with anything like a magic solution either," Schreve declared

Appleton's state sales tax credit refund this year was $3 55.

Schreve said he is hoping for increased revenues to offset projected record expenditures to operate the city government and schools in 1968

Surfacing Experiment Tested in Appleton

A special blacktop surface — representing a Wisconsin "first" — was applied over a 300-foot strip of West Spencer Street today.

The experiment, carried out by the department of public works with the cooperation of the Wisconsin Asphalt Pavement Association, is geared at preventing cracking when applied over a concrete street.

"There has been some problem with regard to putting blacktop over concrete streets with the underlying cracks rising to the surface in a 5 to 10 year span," explained Tom Harp of the city engineering division.

"Experts feel with a heavier grade of aggregate used in mixing the blacktop, these crack shadows can be prevented," Harp added

Courtney and Plummer, the firm with the citywide resurfacing contract this year, made special arrangements to handle the experimental mix through its plant

The test area is on Spencer between Douglas and Outagamie Streets.

The Asphalt Institute developed the formula. The only other test strips have been laid at airports in the State of Maine, according to Stanley Nestigen of the state association

Wants More Law Personnel

No Action on Marx Request

The request of Outagamie County Sheriff Norbert J Marx for additional personnel, job reclassification for a portion of his staff and a 7 per cent across-the-board salary increase for all personnel would cost the county $67,491 next year, the Courts and Law Enforcement Committee determined Monday night

The committee went on record to not recommend the increase in personnel "until they are assured that maximum use is being made of current personnel."

The committee's action was learned from minutes of the meeting Tuesday Supv. Eugene Kloes, Appleton, chairman of the committee, said today the county clerk's office was informed of the meeting. However, no meeting notice was posted.

Marx had requested funds to hire four additional patrolmen, two additional investgiators, safety officer and job reclassification for the Huber law officer, jailers, records clerk and two clerk stenographers.

Estimated Costs

The committee estimated the cost of four patrolmen at $28,128, two investigators at $12,144; and safety officer at $6,072. Change in job classifications would cost an estimated additional $6,600 in salaries and the seven per cent across the board wage increase another $20,547.

Marx, who had made his requests in a letter to the committee last Thursday, indicated he wanted to add a patrolman to each of the four shifts There presently are 17 men, including a lieutenant and four sergeants, in the traffic bureau.

Kloes said today the committee's action, along with Marx's request, was supposed to have been submitted to the county board Tuesday. The matter did not come up

The committee also indicated they would again investigate the use of police dogs for night patrol work.

PMA Recommendation

Propose Campaign for Promoting Fluid Milk

BY PAT DUFFEY
Post-Crescent Farm Editor

A massive advertising campaign to create more and better consumers of fluid milk products may be in the offing in the Midwest, a prominent dairy marketing specialist predicted here Tuesday night.

Harold Cope, marketing director for Pure Milk Association (PMA) of Chicago was the keynote speaker at the annual meeting of PMA's Lakeland local at Country Aire in Appleton

Cope explained that because of a 3 per cent dip in national fluid milk sales, the board is studying a 5 cents per hundredweight (cwt) checkoff on Class I sales to finance the campaign.

It will take a 5 per cent increase in sales before profits begin to show. The funds would be channeled through the National Milk Foundation of Chicago headed by Neal McBeath who also is marketing director for Consolidated Badger Co-Op at Shawano

Imitations Threaten

Cope pointed to price resistance and imitations as being partly responsible for the decline. He noted that imitation milk products in Pheonix, Ariz., have snared 3 per cent of the fluid market there.

In addition, milk supplies for the Chicago market were off 80 million pounds in September.

Cope said, however, that PMA's objective was the long range improved farm income not just immediate increased sales He warned of the danger of increased prices which might alienate the consumer.

The marketing director had been in Indianapolis earlier in the day conferring with Farm Bureau representatives from Kentucky, Ohio, Illinois and Indiana on the dairy situation. They considered overcoming imitations, mergers and mar-

Hearing Sought for Lake Pipeline

NWRPC Requests Future Talks For All Similar Proposals

A unanimously-approved motion by the Northeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission (NWRPC) has asked that the Public Service Commission conduct a public hearing on Appleton's proposed water withdrawal pipeline from Lake Winnebago.

The motion was adopted at the commission's quarterly meeting at Keshena. Besides the hearing request, the motion also asked that legislation be introduced to require a public hearing on all major water withdrawal projects in the future.

Commission members said they were sympathetic to Appleton water needs. In a letter sent to the Department of Housing and Urban Development, the NWRPC staff recognized that there was no apparent alternative to the city's drawing needed water from Lake Winnebago.

But members felt that the PSC should have conducted a hearing on the proposal "in order that the impact of the project on all interests involved be fully considered," according to Gordon Bubolz, commission chairman.

"In granting the permit," Bubolz said, "the state should see that proper safeguards are adopted in regard to pollution and other areas of lake development."

Bubolz pointed out that hearings are required for landowner improvements along waterways but not for a major water withdrawal project such as Appleton's.

"If a hearing is required on all these isolated cases," Bubolz said, "then a hearing should also be required in the case of a major water withdrawal project."

Most Important

Bubolz emphasized that a hearing would not be solely to consider the validity of Appleton's request for water withdrawal The most important outcome of such a hearing, he said, would be to air the impact of such a move on pollution and other aspects of waterway development and to propose safeguards in these areas.

Bubolz said Wednesday that a letter to the PSC was being written. He said it would be mailed within the next few days

The letter will include a copy of the adopted motion and statements made by commission members in support of it.

"Commission members," Bubolz said, "feel that the time has come when we should not limit the protection of our water resources to little changes along the riverbank and that major water projects should get a public hearing."

Bill Would Change Time Polls Close

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — All polls in the state will close at 8 p.m. on election days if a bill passed Tuesday by the state Senate is signed into law by Gov. Warren P. Knowles.

The bill, sponsored by Assemblyman Jack Steinhilber, R-Oshkosh, removes an optional clause from state statutes which allows fourth class cities and towns and villages to close their voting places at 5:30 p.m. on election day.

Under the Steinhilber plan, previously passed by the Assembly, all polls in the state will close at 8 p m , although opening times can vary from 7:30 to 9 a.m.

The proposal, which was forwarded to the governor, is an attempt to unify election practices and to foil electronic vote predictions which have been made while some voting places within the state are still open.

Using computers, some election forecasters have tried to predict state results on the basis of the early-closing polls under the optional plan.

The bill was approved on a voice vote.

City to Pay $2,700 Per Acre

Sale of the old Outagamie County Airport land to the City of Appleton was approved by the county board but not before some two hours of debate which occasionally ended in shouting matches Tuesday afternoon.

The vote was 32-11 after efforts to hold off a decision until November and to amend the original resolution were defeated.

Appleton will pay the county $2,700 per acre for the 153-acre site on a 10-year land contract at 4 per cent annual interest on the unpaid balance.

Opposition to the sale was led by supervisors Russell DeLa Hunt, Kaukauna; Joseph De Bruin, Town of Buchanan, and G. Allen Bubolz, Appleton.

An effort by Supv George Kroes, Town of Vandenbroek, to have only half of the land sold lost in a voice vote. DeLaHunt then sought to amend the resolution to sell only 50 acres of the site.

Argued Procedure

After a procedural argument over whether the amendment was out of order, Board Chairman Sylvester Esler, Appleton, ordered the amendment put to a roll call vote and it was defeated, 28-16. Supv. Merritt Kavanough, Kaukauna, sought to have the issue laid over until Nov. 6 but that also was voted down

"No" votes on selling the land came from Supvs. Bubolz, Appleton; DeBruin, Town of Buchanan, DeLaHunt, Kaukauna; Hiler, Appleton; Kroes, Town of Vandenbrock; Leny, Kimberly; Mares, Appleton, Schreiter, Appleton; Schwartz, Appleton Spierings, Little Chute; Welch, Appleton, and Weyenberg, Kimberly

DeBruin and DeLaHunt led the fight to have the airport site reserved for a future complex of

Chairmen Named; Local TB Campaign Plans to be Made

Mrs. Donald Sturtevant, Appleton, has been named the 1967 chairman of the Christmas Seal Campaign by Richard Calder, president of the Outagamie County Tuberculosis Association Mrs. Sturtevant, a member of the board, was president of the association last year.

Area chairmen working with Mrs. Sturtevant include Mrs Richart Platt, Appleton; Orville Sell, Black Creek; Mrs. Edward Hartjes, Combined Locks, Mrs Henry Schucknecht, Hortonville, Mrs. Reginald Ahrens, Kimberly;

Mrs. Raymond Schmidt, Kaukauna; Mrs. Jack Hermsen, Little Chute, and Miss LaVerne Olds, Seymour.

According to Mrs. Sturtevant, about 94 per cent of the money stays in Wisconsin; the other 6 per cent goes to the National Tuberculosis Association for projects and research.

Locally, the money pays for skin testing of school children; indigent X-ray programs, pilot study skin testing in local industry; and educational literature pertaining to TB prevention and control.

Plans for conducting the campaign will be made in the next few weeks and announced to the public.

West Germans Meet

The reunion of Theo (Ted) Apel, 17, Satrup, West Germany and Dr Gerhard Schroeder, Soerup, West Germany, occurred at the Aid Association for Lutherans (AAL) home office building

Dr Schroeder is one of 16 German Lutheran churchmen who are studying American churches. The church leaders are accompanying the Utrecht Motet Society of Utrecht, Holland, and the Horvath String Quartet of Nuernberg, Germany, which presented a concert Tuesday evening at Faith Lutheran Church

The musical groups were brought to this country to participate in a church music seminar sponsored by Valparaiso University as part of its observance of the 450th anniversary of the Reformation Their participation was made possible in part by a $6,000 grant from AAL

Apel was accompanied to Appleton by his American "father," Norbert Bierman, a Green Lake realtor. The German senior, who has studied English for seven years, hopes to become a high school teacher.

Apel arrived in this country in September and will live with four Green Lake families before returning home next August. He is sponsored by Rotary International clubs in Green Lake and Schleswig, West Germany.

Young Apel, son of a supervisor in a meat manufacturing firm, also speaks French. He studied religion for a year in the state-operated high school at Satrup under Dr. Schroeder, who also serves as pastor of Marien Kirche in Soerup county buildings. He said the courthouse could not be expanded in its present location and the various departments needed more space.

"The best way to expand is on DeBruin said he was speaking of 20 years in the future when the county may also be considering such things as a convention center.

Esler, stepping down from the presiding chair, disputed De Bruin's contention and made a plea to the board to cooperate with the city. He said a 1963 survey indicated the present courthouse would be adequate for another 20 years.

"Not one office is crowded," he said.

He added that the biggest problem is parking but indicated this would be alleviated because the Social Services Department would soon be moving to a new facility, releasing both room and parking space.

Don't Need Courthouse

"We absolutely do not need a new courthouse," Esler stated. "The city is our biggest partner. We must work with the city. We had reason to turn down their request for $100,000 (for College Avenue) but not for this. If the city does not have land for industrial expansion it is not their fault, but ours," the board chairman said.

Supv. Andrew Jimos, Appleton, said if the county wanted to build new facilities it could do so on county land at the county hospital. This was supported by Supv. Herbert Helble, Appleton.

"Give Appleton a chance to develop its tax base. If Appleton prospers, the county also prospers," he said.

Bubolz asked that the sale be held up so there could be adequate planning. This is a good example of "crisis planning," he said. He urged that a special planning committee be created to decide what best can be done with the land.

Supv. Eugene Kloes, Appleton, reminded the board that the county had originally hoped to get about $500,000 out of the old airport when it built the new facility. This is approximately the figure the county will realize in the sale of the property.

Appleton Paid Half

"The new airport has cost money," Kloes said. "Appleton has paid half of that and this is the only reason this land is available for sale."

Supv. Bernard Tillman, Town of Grand Chute, concurred. "The idea was to sell the land when we built the new airport," he said.

DeLaHunt charged th at action on the resolution was "timed so opponents of the sale could not appear before the board."

Seymour Supv. Marvin told the supervisors "to act like men." He said he was "amazed at the frustration of the board. You are afraid of every committee. The city, the biggest taxpayer in the county, has made an offer. It has been reported. If you don't want to sell, vote no."

Appleton Mayor George Buckley, who was invited to appear before the board over the objections of several supervisors, said it was not the intention of the city to take the time of the board to explain its need. "The city is desperate for this property for industrial expansion," he said.

He later thanked the supervisors who voted for the sale for "their wisdom."

Matinee Tickets for Marine Band Concert Are Still Available

However, the $1 tickets for the matinee at 2 p.m. Saturday are still available, Kools said.

Matinee tickets can be purchased at Heid's of Appleton, First National Bank of Appleton, Appleton State Bank, Outagamie County Bank and The Coach Lamp Inn.

Almond Motorist Pleads Innocent

WAUPACA — LeRoy R. Clinton, 41, Almond, who was arrested Tuesday morning by Waupaca police, pleaded innocent when he was arraigned in Municipal Justice Court later Tuesday on a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicants.

His trial was set for 2 p.m. Oct. 24. Clinton was released after posting a $175 bond.

Rescue Squad Revives Appleton Resident

A 41-year-old Appleton man was given oxygen resuscitation by an Appleton Fire Department rescue squad called to the residence at 10:07 Tuesday.

Firemen found William Krueger, 204½ N. State St., unconscious on the floor of the home when they answered a call by his wife. He recovered soon after they administered the oxygen.

He was not taken to the hospital.

Firemen Called To Laundromat

A one-gallon paint can cover wedged in the door of a dryer at The Laundrite, 813 W. College Ave., resulted in a call to the Appleton Fire Department at 3:54 p.m. Tuesday.

Firemen discovered the paint can cover in the dryer door and said it had caused a short of the pilot light. They found the door of the dryer slightly scorched.

keting as some of the most pressing problems.

State dairy co-op leaders were conferring in Washington Tuesday with the Wisconsin Congressional delegation on industry problems and programs.

Cope said he expected a recommendation soon on proposals for the former Chicago milk marketing order area. Cope said PMA is still supporting a single order for the entire lakeshore area.

He cited cooperation between cooperatives and other farm agencies for the current success on the Chicago market. He praised the National Farmer Organization for its fertilizer and member information programs and the Farm Bureau for its long-time contributions to the industry particularly in the field of rural insurance.

Last year the PMA gained 500 members which is significant in view of the decline in the number of dairy farmers, Cope commented.

Extension service advisers have been stressing the need for mergers within the industry for the past 25 years and now that some measure of success has been reached, members must indicate what the future direction will be.

Differences can be magnified from here to eternity," he warned, "or we can find ways to cooperate."

Bus Service Sought for All Students

Kaukauna District Chairman Claims Everyone Pays

KAUKAUNA — A lone objection was registered against the proposed $2,007,361 school district budget when the board of education met with town, city and village officials Tuesday.

George Kroes, Town of Vandenbroek chairman, favored an additional expenditure to provide bus transportation for all students after Jan. 1.

Under the proposed plan, students within the district would be provided bus transportation to private and public schools after Jan. 1 if they qualify under the 2-mile minimum distance rule. This meets state requirements.

Everyone Pays

Effective next September, the district will provide transportation to students within the district who will be attending school within a 5-mile limit of district boundaries which is required by the legislature. Kroes argued, everyone will be paying for transportation costs as of Jan. 1 so all should be provided transportation rather than a few.

He pointed out, students in one area within his town would be transported while those on the other side would not. He felt this would cause hardship or trouble within the district.

Supt. Julian Bichler said this would require additional buses and could cost the district another $6,000 to $10,000. He suggested Kroes make his wishes known in writing for study at the next school board session.

Considerable discussion was conducted on the inequality of state aids to school districts. Kaukauna receives flat aids rather than equalized aids. Bichler felt the district was being punished due to its high elementary school enrollment and felt the legislature should study the problem realistically and grant additional aids to districts such as Kaukauna.

Discussion deviated to the Vocational and Technical and Adult Education-12 (VTE-12) budget, but Bichler hurried to point out, this had no bearing on the public school budget. He asked city officials to separate the VTE-12 budget from the public school budget on tax notices, so persons will realize how their tax dollars are used.

School board members said a site was being sought for a new northside elementary school. Tentative plans call for the school to be in use by September 1969.

Officials referred the budget to the council's finance committee for approval when the regular budget is established.

Constant Changes and developments in education in Wisconsin were discussed at the University of Wisconsin, Fox Cities Alumni meeting Tuesday. High on the interest list is the Green Bay campus, and a special guest, Dr. Edward Weidner, chancellor of the new campus, second from left, was on hand to explain the recent developments. He talks with Robert Goemans, president of the local group; left, Angus McIntyre, program chairman, and William Brana, public relations head. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Family of 10 May Rebuild Burned Greenville Home

A Town of Greenville man said Wednesday he may rebuild the two-story home that he, his wife and their 10 children lived in until fire destroyed it Saturday.

Pledged Aid

Harlan Verhagen said he and his family is staying with relatives in Kimberly, Kaukauna and Appleton. No cost estimate has been made on the fire that destroyed their home on U.S. 10, about two miles west of Appleton.

In the meantime, co-workers at Consolidated Papers Inc., where Verhagan works as a painter, have pledged to assist Verhagen and his family.

"We've raised about $85," said one of the workers Wednesday morning, "and we should have between $150-$200 before we're through."

Verhagen, who was building an addition to the home when the fire occurred, said he had some insurance on the building. He said he will wait for an appraiser's estimate on costs before he decides whether to rebuild on the present site.

Fire broke out in the upstairs of the home about 8 p.m. Saturday, while the family was downstairs watching television.

"We don't know what caused the fire," Verhagen said, "but fire officials assumed it was faulty wiring.'

Professors to Ask Federal Funds For Lake Butte des Morts Study

State and federal agencies soon will be asked for financial support for a study of the present distribution of sediments in Lake Butte des Morts.

Proposing to undertake the survey are two assistant professors of geology at Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh, James W. McKee and Thomas S. Laudon. They estimate the cost for a study of core samples would be about $9,000.

The study proposal is based on a supposition the lake is dying faster than most people realize, according to McKee. He said the "end" of the lake could become a serious problem within 75-100 years, according to several core samples he and Laudon gathered two weeks ago.

Lack Data

"We lack data to make precise predictions now," McKee said, "but we hope, through extensive study of the lake's history and present core samples, to make more accurate predictions."

Both McKee and Laudon hope the proposal will be just a beginning of research projects undertaken by the university to involve it "in the day-to-day activities of the community."

McKee said they also would like to undertake similar studies on Lakes Poygan and Winnebago, but these were not as "critical" as the study of Butte des Morts.

The professors also have proposed to the university administration that space and facilities be provided for this and other research projects concerned with area waterways.

McKee said the administration has reacted favorably, but no action will be taken until finances are secured.

Propose Facility

"We hope to eventually have a proper lake study facility somewhat like the laboratory in Madison," Laudon said, "but this will probably be a long way in the future."

McKee said application for project funds will be made within the next two weeks.

At its quarterly meeting last Thursday, the Northeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission (NWRPC) voted unanimously for the study. Boyd Kinzley, NWRPC director of natural resources, said the university's involvement in waterway research had "unlimited possibilities" for future area planning and development.

Actual gathering of data from Lake Butte des Morts would begin this summer, according to Laudon. During this school year, the professors propose to gather past data on the lake, which they say is available, but "widely dispersed" throughout the state.

Franciscans Set Conference at Appleton Church

"We are Living in a World of Permanent Change," will be the theme of the conference of the Franciscan Sisters of Christian Charity, Manitowoc, set from 1 to 5 p.m. Saturday at St. Thomas More Church.

The Rev. Kurt Gessner, OFM Cap., retreat master at Monte Alverno Retreat House, will be the speaker. His topic will be "Renewal of Community Through General Chapter" (the function of an order which helps determine the work and activities of that order).

Also participating will be Sister St. Mel, OSF, dean of Holy Family College, Manitowoc. She will speak on general chapters and the community.

Welcoming the group will be the Rev. Patrick McMahon, host pastor. Sister Frederick Marie, principal of the school, is in charge.

About 300 sisters including teachers and nurses, in the order from the central area of Wisconsin, are expected to attend.

Kimberly Driver Rams Car Parked at Curbing

A Kimberly driver was arrested by Appleton police for inattentive driving Monday night after the auto he was driving struck a car parked on E. Newberry Street.

Dominicus Vander Wielen, 43, 209 N. Sidney St., told police he was unaware of the auto until his car struck it in the rear. The auto is owned by Richard M. Witter, 712 S. Mason, Appleton.

Damage, which exceeded $100 for both vehicles, included the left rear bumpter and fender of the Witter auto and the right front bumper, hood and fender of the Vander Wielen car.

Allis-Chalmers Earnings Down For 9 Months

Strikes, Changes Blamed for Loss of Sales During 1967

MILWAUKEE — Sizable and significant changes in two of its divisions were cited today for reduced earnings for the first nine months of 1967 for Allis-Chalmers which operates a plant in Appleton.

Sales volume was $623 million compared to $637 million for the same period last year, reported company chairman Robert S. Stevenson and President Willis Scholl.

However, the company's farm equipment division reported record sales for the sixth consecutive year.

Costs and expenses amounting to a net figure of 58 cents per share have been absorbed since Jan. 1 in the electrical transmission and distribution and construction machinery divisions.

Shut Down

Two plants in the electrical division were shut down by strikes for the first three months and expenses were high for research and post-development of new extra high voltage transformers.

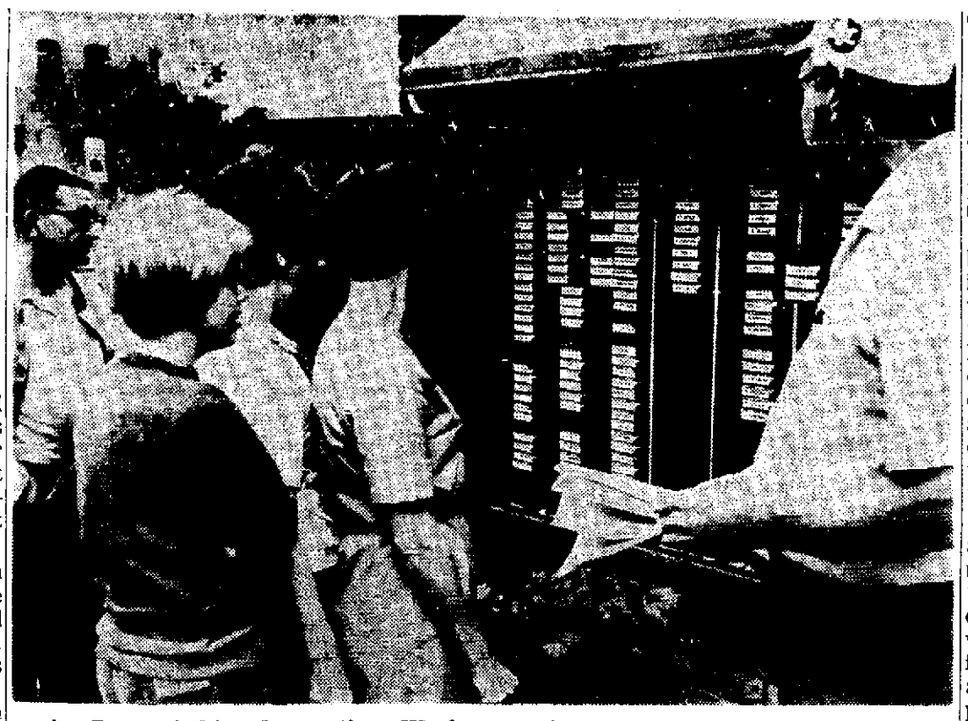
The slowdown in the construction field reduced sales in the machinery division. Also cited were costs for a new large computerized central parts depot. Field service costs on equipment also were high.

Most other divisions of the company performed close or slightly ahead of current trends in their respective markets. Sales in general products, Canadian Allis-Chalmers and hydraulic products divisions are slightly higher than last year.

Large projects of costumers in basic raw materials are still being deferred and awaiting development of more strength and confidence in the economy.

Backlog of unfilled orders for industrial, electrical and defense products on Sept. 30 was $332 million or $18 million ahead of the year-end figure.

A three-pronged drive is underway to boost sales, reduce costs and expenses and terminate programs which detracted from a favorable business year.



As Part of Fire Prevention Week, workers at the Atlas Mill of Kimberly-Clark Corp., participated in fire drills. A large peg board, with golf tees used as markers, serves as a check system so mill managers and superintendents know everyone is out of the building. Surprise drills are held throughout the year.

Councils Opposed on COG Survey

NEENAH - MENASHA — After having attended the same discussion Monday night on the proposed Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG) long-range survey, the Twin Cities' two common councils have chosen opposite paths in the controversy.

Neenah aldermen voted Tuesday night unanimously endorsing the survey, giving Mayor Carl Loehning the sign to vote "aye" when it comes up next Tuesday night for approval of the thirteen elected heads of COG member governments.

Mayor Kenneth Holmes, on the other hand, said this morning he feels he will have to cast a "no" vote, after the Menasha council voted 11-1 Tuesday night to defer final action.

Ald. Ernest Koerner persuaded the majority to vote for the delay to allow time to ask water utility and sewerage commission officials how far into the future the city's present facilities are expected to meet demands.

The majority arguments were couched in terms questioning the benefits to the city of a long-range regional survey, if the city's present facilities are adequate for the period of time covered by the survey's forecasts.

Federal Aid

Ald. Robert Probst voted alone against the delay after asking if aldermen had "been a little hasty" in deciding against the survey. He argued that the city's chances of federal aid would be "nil" if it didn't take part in an area-wide survey to meet federal qualifications.

In Neenah, meanwhile, Ald. Peter Fara was telling fellow aldermen he believed the study was "a good thing for the entire area — we should participate."

He added that without the survey, communities in the COG area would be ineligible for federal assistance in building storm or sanitary sewer facilities, adding to water systems or providing refuse disposal facilities. In the next two to three years, he added, Neenah is likely to have to expand its water system, and recent discussion has pointed toward sewer extensions.

Two Sections 'Unconstitutional'

Steffens Flays Housing Code

BY CLIFF MILLER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MENASHA — Rather than being lured by federal aid funds into adopting an ordinance that would reach into the majority of the city's homes, City Atty. Richard Steffens has advised the common council to enact a comprehensive housing code strictly for rental units, while exercising condemnation powers to rid the city of unsafe or unsanitary dwellings.

Steffens leveled a broadside of arguments at a housing ordinance being recommended by the Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG) in order for valley communities to qualify for federal subsidies. The city attorney gave aldermen a six-page critique of the ordinance upon instructions from the common council.

He reported that in his opinion one section was ruled unconstitutional by the U.S. Supreme Court recently, while the principles of another section violate the Wisconsin constitution under a state Supreme Court ruling 30 years old.

Piece by Piece

Steffens took the proposed ordinance apart piece by piece, piling objection upon objection.

After warning early in the report that considerable public opposition could be expected, he concluded by commenting, "If the council still feels that the minimum standards housing ordinance should be passed, it should be referred to the planning commission and a public hearing held. It is suggested that a public hearing be held in Calder Stadium."

Aldermen received copies of the report Tuesday night and voted to discuss the ordinance at the next meeting by the council as a committee of the whole, on Nov. 6, to study the attorney's opinion in the meantime.

Steffens stressed that the ordinance would affect existing homes as well as new construction, then continued by pointing out that:

—The U.S. Supreme Court has recently ruled unconstitutional the provisions for inspectors' powers to enter private property.

—Provisions for jail sentences for violations are ruled out by a 30 year old Wisconsin Supreme Court ruling that says cities cannot impose jail sentences on persons who break ordinances, limiting cities to levying fines only.

—The housing appeals board set up under the ordinance would include the city attorney as a permanent, voting member. Since the attorney would also advise the building inspector in prosecutions, Steffens argued, he would "advise, prosecute and judge."

"This simply puts too much power in the hands of the city attorney, whoever he may be. No one wants to be prosecuted and adjudged by the same man," he said.

The city attorney said the section dealing with floor space and general occupancy "is probably one of the most objectionable features" in the proposed ordinance.

He pointed out that a home that met the minimum floor space requirements per person when a newly married couple moves in could become inadequate under the ordinance as the family grows.

The ordinance requires 150 square feet of floor space for the first occupant and 100 feet for each additional occupant, not including such space as bathrooms and halls. Bedrooms would be required to have at least 70 square feet of space for one occupant and 50 feet for each additional person.

Homes built on "split level" plans would be classified as basement living quarters if the lower level were 3½ feet below ground, Steffens said, and limitations in the ordinance on basement quarters could place costly burdens on owners of many such homes.

Slum Control

He also stated that the city "went a long way to prohibit the creation of slum areas in the city" in 1964 when it strengthened its zoning and planning ordinance to define the word "family" more strictly, in requirements for living space use.

On the provisions in the proposed ordinance dealing with dangerous dwellings, Steffens opined that existing state statutes in effect in Menasha are adequate.

The city attorney concluded by recommending a study by the planning commission toward establishing a "comprehensive housing code for rental units" and added. "This office feels by the exercise of condemnation powers on buildings that are unsafe or unsanitary, the city can progress to the point where there will not be a slum or a blighted area."

'Cloud Nine'

Finally, Steffens wrote, "Our office feels duty bound to warn the aldermen or the planners on Cloud Nine who continue to say that the ordinance can be discriminately and prudently enforced," as has been said in some discussions of the COG proposal.

"When an ordinance is passed it must be enforced against everyone," the city attorney warned. "And the only person who is going to have to answer the question, why an ordinance was enforced against neighbor 'A' when it was not enforced against neighbor 'B', is the city attorney.

"I do not want to be put in that position and will not be. An imprudent ordinance cannot be enforced prudently."

Special Leaf Pickup Service Begins Today in Appleton

It's autumn cleanup time in Appleton and the city today announced a special leaf pickup service.

The sanitation division will start collections north of the river at the east city limits and circle in a counter-clockwise direction.

Hollis Broushard, division superintendent, said collections will continue as weather permits until all leaves have been picked up.

Property owners were advised:

—Rake leaves into gutters.

—Keep them in low piles so children cannot be hidden from motorists' view, and close to the curb so as to not interfere with traffic.

—Brush and garden debris will be picked up as usual on the regular collection day.

—No special leaf pickups will be made. However, requests for mulching made through the department of public works will be filled on a first come, first serve basis.

A Long, Long Coast

BOSTON (AP) — The coastline of Massachusetts is about 192 miles long. But it extends 1,519 miles when all bays and inlets have been measured to where they narrow to a width of 10 0feet.

Uncut Neenah Budget Higher By 38 Per Cent

NEENAH — A financial jolt awaits Neenah's taxpayers in the form of a record city budget, still in the uncut stages, which will raise their taxes by almost 30 per cent.

Clerk-Comptroller R. V. Hauser, after adding up the departmental requests and anticipated revenues for 1968, came up with a gross tax rate of $35.62 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

This year's gross tax rate is $27.50.

The gross tax rate is the figure before state tax credits. In 1967, this reduced the property owner's rate by $1.73 to $25.78 per $1,000 of assessed valuation. About the same rebate can be expected from the state next year.

The boost of $8.11 per $1,000 means that if the budget stands as presented, a resident with a home valued at $10,000 will have to pay some $80 more next year than he did in 1967.

The aldermen will be faced with raising $5,030,311 through the property tax unless pencils are honed to pare some of the $1,255,692 increase in spending.

Second Look Urged for Joint Planner

MENASHA — Members of the Menasha Redevelopment Authority (MRA) have urged taking a further look at proposals to hire a joint planner for the Twin Cities on a permanent basis, with the Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG) as his headquarters.

The commissioners expressed their views Tuesday afternoon, while Mayor Kenneth Holmes stated he flatly opposes having the planner working from the COG office.

Arno Haering, assistant director of COG, said the regional planning agency had offered to accommodate the Twin City planner if he is hired, in order to give him a single boss.

Ralph McClone, president of the MRA, added that he thought consideration should be given to the suggestion, stating he believed it would be difficult for a man to work for two bosses — one in Neenah, the other in Menasha.

The MRA dropped the matter without formal action, although members hinted that a request may be forthcoming from the MRA to the common council to provide funds in the 1968 city budget to hire a planner.

Neenah redevelopment officials have already asked for $6,000 as their half of the salary and fringe benefits for a planner shared equally with Menasha.

Mary Pickford, Left, was one of Hollywood's first stars. The star system reached its peak in the 1930s and 1940s, especially at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Studios where Ava Gardner, center, and Elizabeth Taylor became stars. The system is coming back, but with a difference. Today's stars are not under contract to any one studio and some, like Miss Taylor, can command a million-dollar fee. (AP Wirephoto)

Coming of Sound Gives Impetus to Star System

Era Reached Height in 1930s, 1940s When Every Studio Had Actors Under Contract

BY BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The sound era brought further flowering of the star system.

The great popularity of the talkies brought a demand for more product, and each studio began pouring out a picture a week.

This brought the need for a large reservoir of acting talent, tied to contracts which assured availability at salaries that weren't too excessive.

Nowhere was the star system more fully developed than at MGM in the 1930s and 1940s. Under the leadership of Irving Thalberg and Louis B. Mayer, the studio amassed a galaxy never equaled.

Second of a series

When Thalberg wanted to dazzle audiences with star power, he photographed with the players: Greer Garson, Clark Gable, Katharine Hepburn, Spencer Tracy, James Stewart, Fred Astaire, Robert Taylor, Elizabeth Taylor, Judy Garland, Red Skelton, Esther Williams, Mickey Rooney, June Allyson, dozens more.

The creation of stars was often long and painstaking. A hundred young players were kept under contract and nurtured through musical and dramatic lessons, then cast in bit roles. Most were never heard from again. But some—Ava Gardner Van Johnson, Debbie Reynolds—developed into stars.

Begins to Wane

The revolution in film economics beginning in 1948 struck a severe blow to the star system. Beleaguered studios could no longer afford the heavy overhead of contract lists. Stars were dropped as their options came due—and many later were hired back for individual films at far more than their contract salaries.

Beset by a falling market due to television and other competition, the film companies could no longer afford to develop new stars; they continued to hire the veterans. That, too, was self-defeating, because audiences were demanding new faces.

Gradually, in recent years, the situation has been brightening. Creative young directors of Europe proved that films can do business with unknown performers, thus propelling the unknowns to stardom. Film companies seem more willing to gamble on new talent.

Thus a new breed of star is rising to supplement the few veteran stars who continue as vestiges of Hollywood's golden past.

Old Met's Art Cannot be Sold

NEW YORK (AP) — They've torn down the old Met, and no one wants to pick up the pieces.

An organization planning a cultural center for the site of the 1964-65 World's Fair had hoped to get $100,000 for two decorative paintings and four relief sculptures salvaged from the razed home of the Metropolitan Opera. But the sale price was only $1,500 for one painting and $250 for one sculpture.

A disappointed executive of the sellers said bids on the other four objects did not even meet minimum standards.

Flunks Out, but Returns to Become 'A' Student, TV Star

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — College dropouts can take heart from the example of a University of Richmond senior.

Rance Conley, 24, of Nashville, Tenn., was chosen Monday to be team captain of his school's entry in a television quiz contest GE College Bowl Nov. 12.

Conley flunked out of the University of Richmond in 1961, and, after a hitchhiking trip across the country, returned to become a straight-A student.

Exposition Center Approved for Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — The Metropolitan Fair and Exposition Authority approved plans Monday for a $71.5 million exposition center that will replace McCormick Place which was ravaged by fire Jan. 16.

The new hall, which will be built on the shore of Lake Michigan in the same location as the destroyed exposition hall, will have 221,500 square feet additional exhibition space.

Story of Trapp Singers

'Sound of Music' Will Come Back to Brin

"The Sound of Music" with all its wealth of acting talent, beautiful scenery and the music of Rodgers and Hammerstein is coming back to the Brin Theater in Menasha.

The engagement for this movie musical starts Wednesday night, Oct. 25, with nightly shows at 8 p.m. only, a 2 p.m. matinee and 8 p.m. performances Saturday, three performances Sunday at 1:30, 4:30 and 7:30 p.m.

All admissions will be general with no reserved seats this time around and special ticket prices for students and children.

One of the most popular musicals of all times, "The Sound of Music" is the creation of the true story of the world famous Von Trapp singers. The plot goes from the time the musical, hoydenish postulant (Julie Andrews) becomes the governess of the seven children of Baron Von Trapp (Christopher Plummer) until they escape the Nazis in taking their stealthy leave of their native Austria.

Not only is the movie a prizewinner several times over with medals as "best family picture of year," "best Motion Picture of 1965-1966" according to Cue Magazine, Photoplay, its actors, directors, artists, cinematographers, costumers, sound technicians, musicians and film editors were all nominated for Oscars that year.

Won 5 Oscars

"The Sound of Music" won five Academy Awards as best picture of year, best directed, scored, edited and with the best sound. It has been playing to packed theaters ever since. Directed by Robert Wise, the screen play was written by Ernest Lehman.

Besides its leads — Miss Andrews and Plummer — the movie features other stars. Veteran stage actress Peggy Wood portrays the Mother Abbess and was nominated best supporting actress for her work; Eleanor Parker plays a svelte baroness trying to capture the widowed naval captain, the baron. Actor Richard Haydn portrays the agent-friend of the Von Trapps.

Czech Film in Appleton

'Loves of a Blonde' Is Delightful Comedy

Vladimir Pucholt and Hana Brejchova may not have the box-office allure of Cary Grant and Doris Day, but their film, "Loves of a Blonde", which opened Tuesday for three-days at the Apleton Theatre, is certainly one of the more delightful comedies to be shown on area screens this year.

Produced in Czechoslovakia, with none of the glossy visual trappings of the current Hollywood product, "Blonde" is a short (88 minutes) black-and-white feature which, in terms of technical quality, is approximately equal to the low-budget American "programmers" of the thirties.

In terms of warmth, humanity and believability, however, it is head and shoulders above many so-called "A" pictures — and mercifully, it is one contemporary film that is entirely free of violence, brutality and offensive sex.

Not Offensive Sex

Note the term: offensive. "Loves of a Blonde" is not free of sex; it simply treats it as a matter of course, as it might occur in life, rather than as it might be depicted in a cinematic super-spectacle or in a sensationalized best-seller.

As a result "Blonde", which was written, directed and produced by Milos Forman, rings true in scene after scene, as it tells the story of Andula (Miss Brejchova), a blonde who works in a shoe factory in a provincial town where women outnumber men 16 to one.

When, through the intervention of the factory manager, the army sets up a camp near town, Andula and two of her friends attend a party and are picked up by a trio of middle-aged soldiers. Andula, however, is more attracted to Milda (Vladimir Pucholt), a young pianist with the traveling orchestra.

Their idyll, in his hotel room, complete with window curtain that won't stay down, is a masterpiece of frankness, youthful ardor and gentle humor. As might be expected, she takes his promises seriously, and he promptly for g e t s them . . . and her, as well.

When the love-smitten Andula hitch-hikes to Prague to visit her lover, she finds his parents scandalized and the boy anxious to forget the entire thing. Shaken and tearful, she returns, sadder but scarcely wiser, to her place on the assembly line.

Realistic Insights

"Loves of a Blonde" is valuable, not only for its realistic insights into the far from affluent life of Eastern Europe, but as a demonstration of what a director obsessed with truth can accomplish with a cast of semi-professional actors and a rock-bottom budget.

Unfortunately, the dubbed sound track bears only the roughest relationship to the actors' lip motion, and the consequent lack of synchronization seriously detracts from the illusion of reality. "Loves of a Blonde" might better have been shown with the original Czech dialogue, and English sub-titles.

Editing, also, is crude on occasion. On the whole, however, "Loves of a Blonde" can be highly recommended as an earthy and intelligent comedy for adult audiences.

Youth Suffers Head Laceration In Auto Mishap

LITTLE CHUTE — Raymond Gruenstern, 18, route 1, Kaukauna, suffered a laceration of the forehead and two passengers in the car he was driving escaped uninjured when the vehicle left the road, broke off a utility pole and rolled over about 12:50 a.m. Tuesday.

According to police, Gruenstern was traveling west on Wisconsin Street when his car struck the utility pole, knocked over a supermarket exit sign and rolled over. The youth was issued a citation for reckless driving. Damage to the auto was extensive.

$5 Billion Reduction

House to Start Paring of Budget

By EDMOND LeBRETON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) -- President Johnson's budget goes under the knife in the House today. For most members, the question seemed to be not whether to cut, but how deep.

The Appropriations Committee offered a package, heavy with reductions in government payroll money and research, estimated to save $2 85 billion. About $1.4 billion of this would show up in reduced spending by June 30.

Republicans marshaled behind an amendment which would add to this a mandatory $5 billion spending reduction this year.

Many Amendments

And individual members with ideas for saving by dropping individual programs were ready with a sheaf of amendments. One would delete the $162 million for partial development of a supersonic transport plane. Others would hit a variety of Johnson administration programs.

There was some sentiment in the other direction also—for example, to exempt particular departments, such as the Treasury, with its tax collectors; the Justice Department, which contains the FBI, and the Post Office from the 5 per cent cut in payroll money included in the Appropriations Committee bill Sponsors argued that forcing reductions in internal revenue agents or other key personnel would be self-defeating

A postal official told a Senate committee Tuesday that a House economy move might force curtailment in mail delivery to three days a week.

Bow Cut

The House Democratic leadership called a caucus, intended mainly to hold enough party members in line to defeat the $5 billion cut amendment offered by Rep Frank T Bow of Ohio, senior Republican member of the Appropriations Committee.

However, the amendment already had gained the support of some important Democrats, including Chairman Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas, whose Ways and Means Committee has pigeonholed a Johnson tax increase proposal pending spending cuts. Some administration supporters were holding out for the Johnson position that Congress should finish work on the appropriation bills, then give the departments a chance to work out reductions. But the Johnson forces had virtually written off the House, hoping the Senate would deal more gently with the budget and that a compromise could be worked out.

Congress is pressing against a deadline. The basic bill on which the budget provisions have been loaded would continue for a month temporary financing of government agencies whose regular appropriations are still pending. The present emergency money provision expires Monday.

Mike's Moldering Molar Too Much For Bear to Bear

CHICAGO (AP) — Mike the polar bear had an unbearable pain.

His keepers decided what was brewing with the bruin was a bad tooth, and since a thousand pounds of bear flesh is too much for a dental chair to bear the dentist came to him.

It took a tranquilizer dart plus five other injections and seven cans of ether to put Mike to sleep Tuesday so Dr. Erich Maschgan, veterinarian at Lincoln Park Zoo, and Michael Smyle, a senior dental student, could bare the bear's gums and yank a three-inch canine tooth.

This was the fourth extraction for 12-year-old Mike, whose problems stem from his madness for marshmallows and his habit of chewing the bars on his cage.

Dr. Maschgan said Mike consumes bushels of marshmallows tossed to him daily by zoo visitors.

Steinbeck's Son Held in Drugs Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — Novelist John Steinbeck's soldier son, John Steinbeck IV, has been arrested for maintaining an apartment where police say they found a large quantity of marijuana and other narcotics paraphernalia.

Twenty pounds of "pot" was found in a suitcase belonging to Steinbeck, police said.

The 21-year-old Steinbeck, who is assigned by the Army to duty at the Naval Weapons Plant here, pleaded innocent Tuesday night to possession of marijuana and maintaining "a common nuisance."

His trial in the Court of General Sessions was scheduled for Nov. 16.

"I certainly hope this business doesn't upset him," he said of his father, "because I am afraid he is in serious condition."

The elder Steinbeck, winner of the Nobel Prize for his writings, is in a New York City hospital for an exploratory operation for a tumor, his son said.

Young Steinbeck, a specialist fourth class, recently returned from service in Vietnam. In his present assignment he is a writter and announcer in a publications unit.

In his spare time, he said, he has been preparing an article for "The Washingtonian" magazine on narcotics use by American servicemen in Vietnam.

The magazine's publisher, Laughlin Phillips, confirmed that Steinbeck was preparing "a couple" of articles.

Steinbeck's apartment at 1737 F St. was raided Monday by narcotics detectives. He was not present at the time of the raid but was there when police made a return visit Tuesday.

After entering his plea in night court, Steinbeck was released to military authorities. They said he would be freed to return to duty after a routine overnight stay at the military detention barracks at the Naval Weapons Plant.

Altering Budget Presentation To Take Years

3 Separate Concepts Would be Unified Under Proposed Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — A major facelifting in the way the government submits its annual budget would take years to implement.

A 16-man commission unveiled Tuesday night its blueprint for a unified summary budget to replace the three present competing concepts—the administrative, the consolidated cash and the national income accounts budgets.

It said its plan would end public confusion over budget figures, make the budget more understandable and end practices which led to charges of budget gimmickry.

Payments Due Basis

The plan calls for comprehensive reporting of government income and outgo, including that of trust funds such as Social Security and highways. It would be figured on an accrual basis—when payments are due rather than when they are made

Had the concept been used last January, spending and deficit figures would be higher than under any of the three existing systems

The report emphasized the economic impact of the federal budget and said too much attention has been focused on the surplus or deficit figure. This has led to confusion, the proliferation of budget concepts and charges of gimmickry, the commission added.

1968 Budget

Some features of the plan could be incorporated into the budget President Johnson is scheduled to present to Congress in January for the fiscal year which begins July 1, 1968.

Others will take longer, the commission indicated, while still others might be rejected.

The Budget Bureau said it is looking into the 108-page report and that no decisions have been made for incorporating any recommendations into the next budget.

Settlement Sought

U.S., Egypt Trying To Re-establish Tie

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Informed sources said today that talks at the United Nations between the United States and Egypt are partly aimed at re-establishing relations between the two governments as a step toward a Middle East settlement.

The informants stressed, however, that overtures for revival of diplomatic ties are coming from the Egyptians and that the United States is taking a "deadpan" approach.

The informants said the meeting Monday between U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg and Egyptian Ambassador Mahmound Riad was designed primarily to set guidelines for a Middle East representative to be appointed by Secretary-General U Thant.

Relations Broken

They said such action would be faciliated by renewal of relations broken by Egypt during the June war with the claim that the United States and other western powers were giving military aid to Israel.

Goldberg and Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov met separately Tuesday with Thant but announced no plans to see each other.

Goldberg told newsmen he hoped "that in the normal course" he would see Kuznetsov, considered one of the Soviet Union's most able negotiators He has dealt with the Middle East in the past

Western circles expressed hope that Kuznetsov's arrival in New York Monday indicated that the Soviet Union might be getting ready to adopt a more flexible approach to the Middle East stalemate.

The Russians have given strong support to the Arab stand that there can be no movement toward a settlement unless Israel withdraws its forces from the territory it captured from Egypt, Jordan and Syria.

A U.S. spokesman said Goldberg had nearly 12 hours of appointments on Tuesday. The talks were reported aimed at reaching an understanding among delegates directly concerned on basic principles for a settlement in the Middle East.

Goldberg met with Israeli Ambassador Gideon Rafael Tuesday morning and the new Jordanian foreign minister, Abdul Monem Rifai, in the afternoon.

Rifai told newsmen after seeing Goldberg that "things are moving. I hope they are moving in the right direction."

Special Representation

Goldberg acknowledged that he and Thant had discussed prospects for sending a special U.N. representative to the Middle East But he said that no names had been mentioned since that would have been "premature"

Most delegations, including the less militant Arab representatives, have agreed that principles for a settlement should hinge on Israeli withdrawal from Arab soil seized last June in exchange for an end to the 20-year Arab state of belligerence against Israel

The 10-non permanent members of the security council held a meeting Tuesday to determine whether they could work out some Middle East formula.

Draft Protesters Abandon Violence for Quiet Picketing

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Anti-draft demonstrators shifted to peaceful picketing at the Oakland Armed Forces Induction Center today after capping a violent 24-hour period with a decision to avoid new battles with police.

Some 25 persons maintained a quiet early-morning vigil Their numbers increased to 500 at dawn but there no confrontations.

More than 20 persons were hurt earlier when police broke up a massive attempt to blockade the center Nearly 150 persons have been arrested in two days of protest by antiwar groups

Joan Baez Jailed

Oakland Municipal Court Judge Delmar Brobst meted out 10-day sentences to folksinger Joan Baez and 102 others who were among 123 arrested in Monday's demonstrations at the induction center

Sentenced with Miss Baez were her mother, Mrs Joan Baez, and her sister, Mimi Farina.

The 103 had pleaded no contest and were sentenced forthwith with no alternative offer to pay fines.

The judge offered to give students the option of serving five weekends so they could keep up school work and turned six youngsters over to juvenile court

The demonstrators' strategy change developed at a three-hour rally on the University of California Berkeley campus. One speaker said "too many people got hurt."

Police used clubs and an eye-stinging chemical spray in clearing demonstrators from the center. They cleared a path for nine busloads of draftees.

As he did Monday night, Dean of Students Arleigh Williams warned those at the Berkeley campus rally that they were defying a temporary restraining order But the meeting continued.

One speaker proposed a delegation to meet with Chancellor Roger W. Heyns and call upon him to denounce "police brutality." Another suggested students picket Oakland City Hall and the police station. Both proposals were turned down.

The meeting ended with agreement for peaceful picketing today.

The session was a far cry from the organized militant feeling expressed at the Monday night rally. After the all-night teach-in on Sproul Hall plaza, demonstrators made their way by car and bus to the induction center

Ordered to Disperse

After they blocked three of the center's entrances Tuesday police ordered them to disperse

When the command was not heeded, wedges of officers—police, Alameda County sheriff's officers and California highway patrolmen applied force

Officers used nightsticks to move the shouting protesters at least a block from the center.

Oakland Police Chief Charles Gain defended the use of force as well as the stinging spray, saying it was "necessary to restore peace"

He called the demonstration an "illegal assembly"

Rounding out the day was a decision by the State Court of Appeal refusing to reopen university facilities for demonstrations. It denied the Associated Students of the university a writ of prohibition against enforcement of the Superior Court order forbidding use of the campus as a meeting place for anti-draft activities. The appeals court said the student group had no right of appeal since it wasn't involved in the original action.

Heyns circulated a message to faculty and students reiterating earlier statements that disciplinary action would be taken against those violating the court directive

Albuquerque Protesters Lost

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Albuquerque was among cities which experienced draft protests Tuesday, but the demonstrators were at the wrong building.

About 40 prospective military candidates showed up at the old post office building for induction board physicals. Although FBI agents and security police were on hand, the demonstrators were not.

About 30 minutes later a group of nine University of New Mexico students, who call themselves "Students for Democratic Society," were noticed handing out literature at the federal building, a block away.

Friendly Clerks Surprise Muscovites

BY ANTHONY C. COLLINS

MOSCOW (AP) — Muscovites, long accustomed to dark, cramped stores staffed by surly clerks, now throng to a book store where salesladies offer a friendly smile.

At the new, block-long Moskovsky Dom Knigi—Moscow House of the Book—one customer struggling with a load of books was amazed to hear a sales clerk offer to tie them together.

"That way, they'll be easier to carry," the pretty blonde saleslady said.

On the counter was a sign: "We thank you for your purchase, come more often."

In the Soviet Union, where most stores act as if the customer is always wrong, such behavior is almost unheard of.

In addition to smiles and helpfulness, customers in the two-story building were greeted by soothing recorded music, clean and roomy aisles, good lighting, a snack bar and a selection of 35,000 book titles.

The store itself, with a handsome block-glass-and-steel facade, is part of a booming downtown shopping center under construction on Kalinin Street, once the site of crumbling yellow slums.

Although progress at the construction site has been slow, it is being hurried to completion, possibly in time for the Nov. 7 celebration of the 50th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution

The book store—and other modern buildings—are being billed in anniversary-year propaganda as proof of the Communist Party's concern for consumers.

Concern for the consumer is mixed with party ideology in the book store.

Seven counters offer obvious Communist propaganda. Others have books with a more indirect party message.

The fiction department is well stocked with works by the militant conservative novelist Mikhail A. Sholokhov but lacks works by the liberal writer Alexander I. Solzhenitsyn, who has criticized censorship here.

Elsewhere in the store, counters do a brisk business in illustrated art books, science manuals, English textbooks for language students and photo albums of movie stars. One long counter specializes in stamps for collectors.

Neither Side Wins In Attempted Robbery

ST LOUIS (AP) — Two men stopped at the St. Louis toll bridge a recent night and told the attendant, 46-year-old Wing Lee, to hand over his money.

"You're kidding," Lee said, "give me your 15 cents."

The man in the car told Lee he really wasn't kidding adding, "I'll blow your head off." The attendant stepped back into his booth and the men drove away without Lee's money.

Police called it a draw. Lee didn't get the 15 cents.

Computer May Become Helper To Physicians

One Doctor Already Experimenting With Probability Diagnosis

By JAMES V. LAMB

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The computer, a major tool of commerce and industry, soon may become a helpful diagnostic instrument for physicians, a University of Pennsylvania Medical School professor believes.

Dr. Johannes Ipsen, professor of epidemology and medical statistics, is running tests to see if a computer, properly programmed and then given the right information about a patient, can spot latent diabetes, stroke or heart disease.

He predicts the computer program could be expanded to cover a host of other diseases.

Ipsen says many times there is no clear-cut diagnosis when a patient comes in. The computer would help narrow the field of possible illness by expressing the probability of various diseases.

Ask Right Questions

"What the computer does," Ipsen said in an interview, "is remind the physician to ask the right questions." Then, according to the answers, "it computes the probability of a disease."

If vital information is neglected, he said, the computer is programmed to ask for that information.

Ipsen is actually several miles from the computer he uses but he communicates with it through a typewriter device linked to it.

If his program gains wide acceptance, Ipsen said, many physicians could start similar programs. He rents time on the computer with about 50 other persons and businesses.

The program might lead to mass screening some day, the professor said

Information on medical history, age, weight and a few tests on a large number of persons could be run through the computer which would kick back forms on those suffering from a possibly undetected disease.

Disease Programming

Thus far, Ipsen has programmed his computer for studies on possible diabetics or heart or stroke victims.

For diabetic studies, he has information stored in the computer on about 15,000 persons—500 of whom were once diabetic. When the medical history of a patient is fed into the computer, it compares it with its memory bank and computes the probability of the patient being diabetic.

Information on 320 heart and stroke patients has been fed the computer.

"As more medical diagnoses for previous heart attack and stroke victims are stored in the computer," Ipsen said, "Our ability to predict the probability of other patients suffering these attacks will increase."

Ipsen said the computer will never replace a surgeon's sensitive touch or a psychiatrist's ear, but it may become an effective aid in pinpointing latent diseases that might go undetected.

Arab Raiders Resume 'Old War' of Infiltration

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — The "old war" has erupted again in Israel—sabotage and terrorism. But this time the Arab raiders are packing a harder punch.

El Fatah—phantom—terrorists are again working behind Israeli lines in the occupied west bank. They are better armed and more efficient than the Egyptian and Syrian raiders who terrorized Israeli border settlements for 19 years.

The campaign of sabotage in which eight Israelis including a 3-year-old boy, have been killed and 33 wounded since the June 5-10 war has dampened the flush of victory here. The Israelis are clamoring for revenge.

Although the authorities claim they have broken the back of the El Fatah campaign by rounding up 200 Arabs and seizing large arms caches, the raiders are far from crushed.

They answered the Israelis by striking into Jerusalem, dynamiting a U.N. cease-fire supervision mission radio and planting a bomb in a movie house packed with 800 people. It was found only 20 minutes before it was timed to explode.

A guerrilla war in the occupied west bank is not being ruled out. El Fatah groups are still hiding in the craggy Judean hills and more are sneaking across the low-water Jordan River by night.

Soviet machine guns, Syrian army bazookas and Chinese mortars have been found.

Defense Minister Moshe Dayan has warned in effect that Israel may make a retaliatory strike against Syria if saboteurs continue to infiltrate into Israeli-held territory.

The leftist Baath regime in Damascus denies it is behind the raids, but captured terrorists claim that Syrian intelligence recruits, trains and directs El Fatah.

Israel charges that Jordan allows raiders to infiltrate through its territory.

Raiders have ambushed patrols, mined roads and rail lines and dynamited Israeli settlements. Die-hard groups have fought pitched battles with tough border troopers. In one fight the Israelis brought up a tank.

Hundreds of saboteurs are believed to have swarmed across the Jordan since June with orders to organize a "popular resistance" and to intimidate collaborators.

Refugees, unemployed Syrians and young Algerians have been recruited and trained in three Syrian camps by Syrian officers and Algerian instructors, informants here believe.

El Assifa—Hurricane—El Fatah's strike arm, claims it has set up its operational headquarters in west-bank territory and has carried out nearly every major sabotage operation reported in that region and Israel.

El Fatah, formed as an independent organization in late 1964 by Arab extremists dissatisfied with the Palestine line taken at an Arab summit conference, made 76 raids between January, 1965, and last May, killing 11 Israelis and wounding 59.

These attacks, later directed by the Syrian army, were an underlying cause of the June war. Now El Fatah is under the direct command of the Syrian general staff, prisoners report.

Israeli security forces struck back swiftly when the raids began. Small heavily armed patrols fanned out through the mountains and valleys of the west bank, flushing out El Fatah groups. Helicopter squads swooped almost daily on suspected villages. Undercover agents mingled with villagers, ferreting out suspects.

The dragnet pulled in several top Palestinian commanders, including an Algerian officer, reports say.

Frightened villagers admit knowing of "the organization" but rarely finger El Fatah men. Two Nablus police sergeants were gunned down because they collaborated.

Soviet Union Strengthening Mideast Ties

Political Gains Made Among Arabs Despite Neutrality

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union is coming back stronger than ever in political influence on the Middle East.

Four months after the Soviets refused to intervene and save the Arabs from defeat by Israel, the Soviet Union is piling up points to establish itself as the Arab's best friend in their post-war plight. More than just rebuilt, the Soviet position has been extended.

The most dramatic sign of this was the joint communique issued when King Hussein of Jordan left Moscow last week.

From cool suspicion and sometimes hostility toward Moscow's Mideast intentions, Jordan has swung sharply into a close relationship sweetened by Soviet economic and probably military aid. Jordan had been entirely dependent upon U.S. and British aid. The June war has also allowed the Soviets to tighten ties with Sudan, which will shortly sign its first agreement to get Soviet weapons.

Arms to Yemen

Yemen is expected to begin receiving Soviet weapons after years of being deliberately isolated from too close Moscow contacts by Egypt's jealous guardianship.

Egypt may in the long run produce the biggest political gain for the Soviets. President Gamal Abdel Nasser has been a special Soviet friend for a decade. But he kept local Communists locked up, Soviet-trained military officers were shunted into minor jobs, and the right wing was strong in Egypt.

Now the Soviets are working hard to bring about internal changes that will increase the influence of leftist elements in Egypt. The Soviet press has made clear that it expects favorable changes to rise from the ashes of Egyptian defeat.

Relations Cooled

Somewhat offsetting these developments, Soviet relations with Syria and Algeria have gone into temporary cold storage.

Syria in particular is unhappy with its Moscow friend, Although its ultraleftist regime has nowhere other than Moscow to turn for the support it needs. Communist China made a bid for closer ties but lacks the cash and supplies to back it up.

Syria and Algeria are unhappy because the Soviet Union has taken the line that a political solution is needed for the effects of Israel's victory, rather than a military one.

No Other Potion

The Soviet refusal to move while Soviet-equipped armies were smashed by Israel caused great bitterness but the Arabs had no other big, rich patron to whom they could turn. The Soviets thus were able to retain their role of best friend.

The Arabs lost hundreds of millions of dollars worth of military equipment for which the Soviet Union had not been paid, and probably never will be paid. Instead of cutting loses on this, and abandoning the political value of hundreds of millions of more dollars worth of economic aid, the Soviet Union decided to plunge deeper.

Apple Fudge Brownies

POST-CRESCENT FOOD EDITOR
By Lillian Mackesy

"Apple-tizing" is a bright word found the other day referring to the new crop of apples. It's a good word because the fruit counters are especially gay and bright with a magnificent supply of apples this year.

There's something about the glowing red, the glistening green and glittering yellow of the apple that really speaks of autumn. When the apple reaches the produce counters in the markets around the Fox Valley, the wind already has whistled up a sting and the tang of the fruit is matched by the season. There may be a bit of Indian summer lurking around, but there's the "Indian" haze on the horizon early in the morning and a nip to the wind no longer a summer breeze.

This year's apple harvest is at full strength right now as the many varieties reach their peak of color and quality. Prices are at their most attractive during Wisconsin's harvest month of October and roadside stands and markets are selling McIntosh, Jonathans, Cortland and rosy Red Delicious.

Cut into wedges and cored, they may be sprinkled with citrus or pineapple juice to retard browning. Arrange thin slices to use with this Slim Dip: Blend one pound cottage cheese with one tablespoon horseradish, one package dried onion soup and a dash of Worcestershire sauce or its equivalent. Add a touch of skim milk for smoothness . . . and

Dummies Sometimes Must Heed

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Some people think that dummy has no duties after the bidding has ended "He just puts his hand on the table," they say. "Then he can take a nap until the next hand is dealt." Today's hand shows how silly this notion is.

West opened the three of spades, and North put down the ace and five of spades. Without waiting for the rest of the dummy to appear, South played the ace of spades at the first trick Competent mathematicians have estimated that bridge players who do this sort of thing save about 29 seconds per century, not counting leap years.

Declarer led a low club from dummy at the second trick West refused the first club but took the next and returned a diamond to dummy's ace.

When declarer led the queen of clubs from dummy, East ruffed. South overruffed and led a spade to the ten. East returned his last trump, and South had to lose a trump and a spade. Down one.

"What has dummy to do with all of this?" you ask. Very simple Dummy should know his partner's habits. He should therefore put the unled suits down very slowly and only then should he put down the suit of the opening lead. This forces declarer to see the whole dummy before he plays to the first trick.

If declarer has seen the whole dummy he must play dummy's low spade at the first trick. East wins and returns a heart. South puts up the ace of hearts and knocks out the ace of clubs.

West returns a spade to dummy's ace, and South continues clubs. East ruffs the third club, and South overruffs Now South leads a diamond to dummy's ace and leads the fourth club. East cannot ruff, and South discards a spade, thus making the contract.

Daily Question

Partner opens the bidding with one diamond, and the next player bids two clubs. You hold: S- K 10 7 4, H- 9 7, D- K Q 8 2, C- 8 5. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two spades. This is a strong bid, since it forces your partner to a high level if he has no fit for spades. You can well afford it since you have good diamond support in addition to your 10 points in high cards and two doubletons.

Lilli Palmer in 'Oedipus'

Sophisticated Screen Star Takes on Greek Tragedy

By PHILIP DOPOULOS

DODONI, Greece (AP) — Lilli Palmer, a slight, lovely acterss, the epitome of what is usually described as "continental," has long been a bright ornament of the international stage and screen

Just how long is a bit startling Fashions go out, styles are forgotten, but Miss Palmer has continued to present her special blend of sophistication and poignancy as if it had been mixed for the first time this morning

These days, Lilli Palmer is up to something new It isn't that she is playing a mother—she has long since dropped any hesitation about accepting such roles It's that she's playing a mother who, with no conscious knowledge, is also her son's lover

Difficult Role

If this idea sounds modern and daring, one can only add that it is at the center of a drama written over two thousand years ago, Sophocles' "Oedipus the King." Lilli Palmer is starring with Christopher Plummer Orson Welles and Richard Johnson in the film version now before the cameras in the wild mountainous region of northwestern Greece Jocasta, the queen wife-mother and a figure conceived on the grand tragic scale is without doubt the most difficult role of her career

Recently, at the ancient Dodoni amphitheatre, Miss Palmer, regal in a purple gown, her long black hair awry, was going mad before the cameras.

"Twice-wicked bed, breeding husband from my husband, children from my son," she cried out in anguish as countless actresses have cried out on this same spot before her

By the time the heat of the scene had been captured on film, the heat of the Greek day had also subsided Miss Palmer, resting in the shade of an enormous plane tree, chatted electrically about her current role

"I've never played in Greek tragedy before," she said "And this one has shattered me I keep marveling at the idea these plays have behind them that man's fate is decided before he is born and that no matter how hard he struggles against it, there is really nothing he can do Oedipus, his father, his mother-wife Jocasta,—they all try to escape the prophecy that the son shall kill his father and marry his mother —and, in the end they have escaped nothing

No Ways Out

"This absoluteness gives a work like "Oedipus the King" a kind of inevitability and power which makes the modern theater seem very puny and anemic There are no ways out

"This is an extraordinary picture for me," she continued "Usually what I do on the screen is abysmal It used to be different At least there used to be a large quota of decent things that people hoped to make and that were made by professionals Now it is all quite cold-blooded and people can make films about nothing and get away with it As an actor you learn to shrug your shoulders and just ask 'How much is it?'"

Dean Broderick Speaks to Kings Daughters

Charity Kept Alive by Individual Touch

"Has the hour of charity passed?"

The question was asked by Francis Broderick, Lawrence University dean, Tuesday afternoon when he spoke at the 50th state convention of the Wisconsin Branch of International Order of the King's Daughters and Sons at Butte des Morts Golf Club

"When one takes a historical look at charity," continued the dean, "he finds that although its manifestations have changed, the purpose has remained primarily the same."

He stated that through the centuries, charity has been something within a community.

"This was strengthened by the religious belief that the community was actually the extension of the family; that we are all part of the same family."

Gradually charity grew to have a larger, more universal meaning. It received a great deal of strength from organized groups of people, such as in monasteries.

"People, for instance, felt it was an obligation to care for the wayfarer. A child left without parents was not 'everybody's' responsibility, but the concern of each individual," said the speaker

However, the individualistic type of charity was dying out Realizing its potential strength, St Vincent De Paul strove to recreate the individual's act of charity.

"He taught that by one's own action, the sense of Christian charity could be rekindled. Private manifestation again reappeared and kept charity alive," explained Dr Broderick.

However, during this time, the belief that individuals could do nothing for the poor gained strength and the state took over much of the charitable work.

"Private charity was still important but became discouraging," continued the dean. "Men, such as Thomas Malthus said that it was wrong to help people if it would subtract from the comforts of others. For instance if someone were sick and hungry it was wrong to feed him because it would be indirectly robbing from the healthy individual." However, Malthus did not practice what he preached

Dr Broderick stressed that many of the groups became too large to do anything effectively.

"In many cases," he said, "political groups were trying to deal with a moral problem. Charity needs the individual touch. The individualistic touch not only gives charity more meaning to the recipient but also to the person giving of himself.

"Actually," he concluded, "I don't think one can get away from a charitable act as long as he feels its obligation and knows the joy of seeing it done."

Bright New Apple Recipes

there's a low calorie appetizer that's truly appetizing!

Fold grated apples into muffin batter, griddle cake and pancake batters, waffle batters. These make wonderful hot breads. Waffles spread with applesauce and then sprinkled with cinnamon-sugar make a delightful breakfast treat.

APPLEWICHES

For a pretty trim to a meat or poultry platter, make applewiches. Core apples into thick rounds, leaving the colorful peel on. Sprinkle with citrus juice. On one slice spread soft, sharp cheese; on another spread cream cheese with a dab of jam or a nut; spread another with peanut butter and mayonnaise blended; or combine a little honey with butter for another spread idea. Arrange around the outside edge of the platter.

The recipes pictured today honor the popular apple pie that's a favorite with most men. There's a difference, however. One of the pies has the usual cheese right in the crust. Another is served with pastry cornucopias holding tiny cheddar cubes. The Apple-Mince combination is made from little green apples and the Upside-Down Pie borrows an old idea used for cakes.

Add to these the fudge brownies that use applesauce in their batter, the popular Waldorf Salad with crunchy peanut butter one of the ingredients. Last, but not least, is a remarkable recipe for Apple Doughnuts, made from a biscuit mix and canned apples in very little time at all.

CRANBERRY-APPLE PIE

- Pastry for double-crust, 9-inch pie
- 1 (1 lb., 4 oz.) can pie-sliced apples, drained
- ¼ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
- ½ cup granulated sugar
- 3 tablespoons all purpose flour
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¾ teaspoon cinnamon
- ¼ teaspoon nutmeg
- 1 (8 oz.) can whole cranberry sauce
- Cubes of cheddar cheese

Line a nine-inch pie plate with half the pastry; flute edge.

Combine pie-sliced apples, sugars, flour, salt and spices. Blend in cranberry sauce.

Pour into pie shell. Bake in 425-degree oven for 35 to 40 minutes or until crust is golden.

To make cornucopias: Roll remaining pastry into a 12-inch circle. Using the bottom of can as pattern, cut pastry into six rounds. Moisten edge of half of each circle. Fold over and press firmly to seal; shape to form cornucopias.

Place small piece of aluminum foil into hollow of each cornucopia so shape will be retained; place on cookie sheet. Bake in 425-degree oven about 12 minutes or until golden. Just before serving, remove foil and place cornucopias on top of pie, filling with small cubes of cheese.

CHEESY APPLE PIE

- 2 cups apple pie filling
- 2 teaspoons lemon juice
- ¼ teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 cup cubed sharp cheddar cheese
- Pastry for 2-crust 9-inch pie

Combine pie filling, lemon juice, cinnamon and cheese. Roll out half of pastry; fit into pie pan. Spoon apple mixture into pastry-lined pan. Roll out remaining pastry. Slash; fit over filling and crimp edges. Bake at 425 degrees for 35 minutes. Serve warm.

APPLE DOUGHNUTS

- 4 cups biscuit mix
- ½ cup sugar
- 2 cups canned apple slices, chopped
- ¼ cup milk
- 2 teaspoons vanilla extract
- 3 eggs
- ½ teaspoon cinnamon
- ¼ teaspoon ginger
- ½ teaspoon nutmeg
- Glaze, if desired

GLAZE

- ½ cup apple juice
- 1½ teaspoons lemon juice
- 4 cups confectioners sugar, sifted
- ½ cup coconut, toasted or tinted

Combine biscuit mix and sugar. Add chopped apples, milk, vanilla, eggs and spices. Stir until well blended.

Knead dough on a heavily floured board until smooth. Roll out dough, about half-inch thick, on a floured board. Cut out doughnuts with a floured three-inch doughnut cutter.

Set an electric skillet at 400 degrees. Pour in salad oil about two-inches deep.

Drop doughnuts, a few at a time into hot oil. Cook about one minute on each side or until evenly browned. Drain on paper toweling.

To make glaze, bring apple juice and lemon juice to a boil. Stir in confectioners sugar and beat until smooth. Spoon about two tablespoons glaze over each doughnut while they are warm. Roll half of glazed doughnuts in toasted or tinted coconut. Recipe makes 24 doughnuts.

APPLE FUDGE BROWNIES

- 2 ounces unsweetened chocolate, melted
- ½ cup butter or margarine melted
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup all-purpose flour
- ½ teaspoon baking powder
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup canned apple sauce
- 1 cup chopped walnuts
- ½ cup raisins
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine chocolate and butter or margarine. Beat eggs until light and lemon colored. Gradually add sugar and continue to beat. Stir in chocolate mixture. Beat for one minute.

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt—stir into chocolate mixture.

Stir in apple sauce, nuts, raisins and vanilla. Put into a greased 9 x 13 x 2-inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Recipe makes 24 brownies.

WALDORF SALAD

- 1½ quarts diced unpared red apples
- 1 cup diced celery
- ½ cup seedless raisins
- ⅓ cup crunchy peanut butter
- ¼ cup mayonnaise
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon cinnamon
- ½ cup heavy cream, whipped
- Crisp lettuce leaves

Combine in bowl: apples, celery and raisins.

Blend together peanut butter, mayonnaise, salt and cinnamon; fold in whipped cream.

Stir peanut butter dressing into apple mixture with a tossing motion. Serve chilled on lettuce leaves. Recipe makes about two quarts, six to eight servings.

UPSIDE DOWN APPLE PIE

- 2 tablespoons soft butter or margarine
- ¼ cup pecan halves
- ½ cup shredded coconut
- 2 tablespoons honey
- Pastry for double-crust 9-inch pie
- ⅔ cup granulated sugar
- 2 tablespoons flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon cinnamon
- ½ teaspoon nutmeg
- 1 (1 lb. 4 oz.) can pie-sliced apples, well drained

Spread butter in bottom of a nine-inch pie plate. Place pecan halves, rounded side down, on butter. Sprinkle coconut on top. Drizzle honey over top of nuts, coconut.

Roll out half of pastry and fit into pie pan; trim edges.

Combine sugar, flour, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg. Add to well-drained apples, blend well. Spoon into pie shell. Top with remaining pastry; crimp edges.

Bake in 425-degree oven for 30 to 35 minutes or until golden brown. Remove from oven. Let stand three minutes. Invert onto serving plate.

APPLE-MINCE PIE

- 2 pkgs. pie crust mix
- 4 cups thinly sliced green apples
- 9 ounces mincemeat, crumbled
- ¾ cup sugar
- ⅓ cup chopped pecans
- Grated rind, juice of 1 small orange
- Wedges sharp cheddar cheese
- Wine-flavored whipped cream

Prepare pie crust. Roll out two-thirds pastry large enough to line bottom and sides ungreased 10-inch pie pan. Be sure to leave one-inch pastry overhang for fluting.

Pare, core and slice apples to make about four cups apples. Combine apples with crumbled mincemeat, sugar, chopped nuts, grated rind and juice of small orange. Blend well, then spoon into pie pan.

Roll out remaining pastry; cut into half-inch wide strips. Arrange in lattice over filling. Flute edge of pastry.

Bake in 400-degree oven from 35 to 40 minutes or until crust is richly browned and apples are easily pierced. Cool to lukewarm before cutting. Serve with slices or wedges of sharp cheddar cheese and wine-flavored cream.

WINE-FLAVORED WHIPPED CREAM

- 1 cup heavy cream
- 2 tablespoons confectioners sugar
- 2 tablespoons red sweet wine
- 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind

Whip cream to make about two cups; combine with sugar and wine, adding gradually and beating more if necessary to keep fluffiness. Spoon into serving dish and sprinkle top with grated lemon rind. Serve on side with pie.

Upside-Down Technique comes to pie-baking in this delicious version of apple pie topped with a layer of shredded coconut and halved pecans. The filling is an old-fashioned combination of favorite seasonings blended with apples. This also is a convenient recipe, using canned pie-sliced apples.

Big Feet Out of Step In Soviet

MOSCOW (AP) — Women with big feet who want to buy shoes are told to go to the men's department. Men with small feet are sent to the children's section.

Reporting this, the Tashkent newspaper Pravda Vosroka says the biggest shoe size for women is 41—9½-10 by American measurement—and the smallest size for men 6½-7.

It told of a girl who came to the editorial office and, on the verge of tears, asked how she could possibly wear men's shoes.

"She was a nice girl," the newspaper said, "but unlucky with her feet. She wore size 42."

The paper said that shops which make shoes to order cannot help women with big feet because they cannot find lasts for size 42 and up.

The problem was different—but equally unsolvable—for men with small feet, it added.

Shoe factories have lasts for size 37 and smaller since they produce for boys. But they will not use these lasts to make shoes in men's styles because regulations do not provide for this and violating the regulations would get them into difficulty.

"The number of people with feet of unusual size is sufficient that some attention should be paid to them," the article concluded.

Sight of False Teeth on Desk Is Too Much for Office Staff

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS We hope you will not consider this letter too indelicate to print, because we need help.

A very nice man works in our office He keeps to himself a lot — the quiet type. Nobody has ever had any trouble with him Now it seems he is having some dental problems For the past week he has been removing his partial plate during office hours (usually after lunch) and he just leaves it on his desk The sight of those teeth on his desk is enough to make a person want to change jobs.

We don't wish to offend the gentleman, yet we don't feel he has the right to spoil a person's day Do you believe an anonymous note might be the answer? — Too Much Realism

Dear Too Much: The poor guy needs to go back to the dentist and get his choppers adjusted. In the meantime, I see nothing wrong in telling him in plain language that the sight of his teeth on the desk is unappetizing, to say the least, and if he can't keep them in his head, would he please put them in the drawer.

DEAR ANN LANDERS Your acid comment, "Alimony is the high cost of leaving" has a nice ring to it but it indicates that you have no sympathy whatever for the victims of cruel and punishing ex-wives

My husband is one of those unfortunate people who is impaled on the alimony dagger For him, at least, the price of leaving was a great deal higher than it should have been

Because my husband is a fine person, he did not respond to his wifes' vicious charges. He could have blackened her name and taken the children, but he chose to remain silent and pay through the nose.

If you have a shred of decency you will print this letter and admit there is another side to the picture, but then you could not possibly say a good word for a divorced man or you'd be thrown out of the Catholic Church. — Mrs D.

Dear Mrs.: Throwing me out of the Catholic Church would be the neatest trick of any week since I am not in it.

Here is your letter, however, and it's a good one. There is indeed something to be said on the other side and I'm happy to give you equal time.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Am I soft-hearted, soft-headed or just plain selfish? If I don't have a date I will go out with any guy who calls me. It can be Mr Jerk, U S A., and I'll say yes, rather than hurt his feelings. I've put up with dozens of bores on account of this

My girl friend believes just the opposite. She says it is cruel to let a fellow waste his money on a girl who has no interest in him. According to her, when a girl accepts a date she gives the guy the impression that she thinks he is neat.

Who is right? — Molly and Polly

Dear M and P: I'd say the best position is somewhere in the middle. It is dumb to go out with any gink who happens to dial your number. By the same token, only a fool would refuse to date a fellow because he didn't set her on fire at the first glance. The most durable relationships start lukewarm and ignite later.

Drinking may be "in" to the kids you run with — but it can put you "out" for keeps. You can cool it and stay popular Read "Booze and You — For Teen-Agers Only." Send 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Your Money's Worth

Available Rates of Interest Variable

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Interest rates on savings are spiraling again. Top-rated corporations are being forced to pay more than 6 per cent interest to attract buyers to their new bonds. Commercial banks are once more offering 5½ per cent to depositors who will keep large sums on deposit for a specified period.

Most savings institutions are paying the maximum allowed: 5 per cent. Cities and states across the land are paying an average of almost 4¼ per cent, and since this interest is tax-free, it works out to an effective return of 8½ per cent to a taxpayer in the 50 per cent bracket.

Unceasing and huge demands for funds are pushing up the price of money. At the same time, investors are demanding higher rates because they fear that in the absence of a tax increase, the Federal Reserve System will slam on the credit brakes and thereby send interest rates soaring.

Rates Vary

But of course, interest rates vary and widely. You have to shop for the best and most appropriate deal for you in this area as in almost all other financial spheres.

Here is a compilation, prepared by Moody's Investors Service, which shows what you can get for your money today

IF YOU INVEST IN — YOUR ANNUAL RETURN IS

U.S. E Bonds (held 7 years) — 4.15 per cent

U.S. Freedom Shares (held 4½ years) — 4.74 per cent

Savings Banks (most) — 5.00 per cent

Savings & Loan Assns. (most) — Up to 5.00 per cent

Commercial Banks simple savings — 4.00 per cent

Bank Certificate of deposit (big denom.) — 5.50 per cent

$1,000 Savings certificates — 5.00 per cent

Municipal bonds (tax-free) — 4.22 per cent

Corporate bonds (average) — 6.06 per cent

Industrial bonds (average) — 5.98 per cent

Railroad bonds (average) — 6.14 per cent

Utility bonds (average) — 6.06 per cent

U.S. bills (91 days) — 4.52 per cent

U.S. issues — 3 yrs. — 5.39 per cent

U.S. issues — 10 yrs. — 5.33 per cent

U.S. issues long-term — 5.05 per cent

In general, interest rates are at historic peaks. Some rates have now soared even above the "crisis" levels reached in late summer 1966.

It sounds great for the saver. But is it? Not if the cost of living in this country surges upward at the pace now feared. If the rise in price is "only" in the 3½-4 per cent range, most of the interest added to your dollars will be eaten up by the decline in the buying power of the dollars. The income tax you must pay on the interest you earn, on all except municipals, will gobble up the rest.

Negative Rate

In U.S. savings bonds, you actually come out with a negative rate of real return, meaning you don't earn enough in interest to offset the decline in the dollar's buying power and the income tax bite. There are advantages to buying E bonds: automatic saving via payroll deduction plans; postponement of income tax on the accrued interest until you redeem your bonds; convenience; safety. But the income you earn is definitely not one of the reasons for buying

All you can earn on average in industrial stocks, according to Moody's, is 2.92 per cent, less than half the average return on corporation bonds. But increasing millions of Americans are buying stocks in the hope that their stocks will rise as prices rise and thus will protect them against inflation.

What a sad commentary on the dollar in the Vietnam era.

Fisherman's Gear Returned by Court

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — Carl Moulden of Casper, finally got his fishing tackle and portable ice chest.

But it took a Wyoming Supreme Court decision to do it.

Moulden was granted a divorce from his wife, Dorothy, in 1964. He was awarded the fishing tackle, portable ice chest and certain photographic slides.

In 1966 he filed suit contending his former wife refused to let him take the fishing tackle. The district court ruled in his favor, but Mrs. Moulden took the issue to the state supreme court, where the original decision was affirmed.

Voters Keep School, But Supply No Pupils

RUSSELL, Kan. (AP) — Last spring, the residents of the Pioneer School District voted against closing the district's one-room school. The school board, therefore, hired a teacher and made plans for the fall school term. The first day of school the teacher appeared but not one child showed up—there are no school-age children in the district

Banging, Bouncing Need Not Hurt Baby

BY DR. JOSEPH MOLNER

DEAR DR. MOLNER My baby is a year and a half old When she was almost a year old she started rocking She is a very good, intelligent child and I have never had any other problems with her

When I put her to bed, as soon as I leave the room she either rocks herself by bouncing against the headboard with her back and head or she gets on all fours and bangs her head against the headboard so I had to pad the headboard Sometimes she does it when I put her in for her noon nap

Is she hurting herself? I am very concerned. The doctor recommended that I take her to a psychiatrist — MRS S O.

The head bangers, bouncers and rockers are disconcerting to many parents — but I doubt that this child is harming herself If she bounced or banged hard enough to hurt herself, she'd cry, and stop The racket doubtless disturbs you more than it does her

Infants do what interests them Rocking may be fun for this baby It is to many. She may enjoy the noise she makes by banging her head

The behavior patterns of some children (this may or may not include the banging-bouncing) are often a response to inability to adjust to parental demands Sometimes parents, without realizing it, demand that children conform in ways which are beyond their physical abilities or infant understanding Or sometimes fatigue, anemia, nutritional inadequacies or mild infections can cause children to do peculiar things They can't express themselves in words, so they resort to actions

Your doctor recommended a psychiatrist, it may be that he senses or suspects something in parental attitude or home atmosphere that needs changing You must keep in mind that small children are more aware of environment and adult attitudes than is generally realized

In my view, the head bangers fall into two distinct classes The youngsters who do it just because it amuses or entertains them, and those who do it as a protest

It isn't always easy to tell the difference, but if a child is found to be thoroughly healthy and there is no indication that he is nervously upset, then in a few months his head banging usually ceases when he has more access to toys and activities.

Here's one suggestion A rocking chair is a very important piece of furniture when there are infants in the household. Sometimes a few minutes of holding and rocking the child at bedtime or naptime soothes and satisfies the baby, and may even pretty much put him to sleep Cuddling and being held and rocked can be a great satisfaction to a small child So give it a try

Director to Talk On VTE-12 Aims

The district director of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education Institute for District 12 (VTE-12) will speak at the Appleton Personnel Association monthly meeting Oct 19

William Sirek will outline to personnel administrators of Appleton area business and industries "What VTE-12 Means to You"

The newly created vocational district including Outagamie, Winnebago, Waupaca and Calumet counties, has been heavily criticized because of the vocational budget levy for 1968-69

Sanitary sewer projects set include Kenneth Avenue from Henry Street to the south limits $6,000, and the Chicago and North Western Railway property on the south side, $29,400. Water main in the railway property is expected to cost $10,800 and main on Peters Road from Edgewood Drive south is expected to cost $5,000 as is water mai on Eleventh and Main to Twelfth Street and Sullivan Avenue.

Grading and placing of stone on Maple Street from Island Street to Main Avenue, Eleventh and Main to Twelfth and Sullivan and the pool hill road is expected to cost $14,000. Walk and walk replacement projects will cost about $20,000. An outlay of $45,040 was set for new equipment.

This will include $8,000 for a truck and plow, $3,040 for a salt and sand spreader; $4,200 for a trailer mounted pugmill; $950 for a vacuum applicator for signs; $28,000 for a grader and snow wing and $850 for a traffic line marking machine. Special to The Post-Crescent

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Sixth District Rep. William A. Steiger, (R-Oshkosh) announced today that a $6,066,130 federal contract has been awarded to Oshkosh Truck Corp.

The contract, from the Naval Facilities Engineering Command, is for aircraft rescue firefighting trucks.

Police Apprehend Boys Who Stole Pool Cues

KIMBERLY — Village police apprehended two juvenile boys who have admitted the theft of four pool cues, valued at $35, from Jerry's Lanes, 114 N. Main St., on Sept. 5.

The cues have been recovered and returned to the owner and the boys were turned over to their parents for disciplinary action.

PSC Okays Nuclear Power Plant

MADISON (AP)— Three electric utilities have been given authority by the Wisconsin Public Service Commission to build an $83 million nuclear power plant in Kewaunee County.

The plant, east of Green Bay, would produce power for use by Wisconsin Public Service Corp., Madison Gas and Electric Co. and Wisconsin Power and Light Co., the commission said Tuesday.

Wisconsin Public Service would own 41.2 per cent of the plant, Wisconsin Power would own 41 per cent, and Madison Gas would own the balance.

The commission said construction must start within the year for authorization to remain valid. The plant will be in the Town of Carlton south of Kewaunee.

Plans call for a transmission line to Madison via Green Bay with various load centers at Appleton, Oshkosh and Fond du Lac.

The commission said there also will be power taps to Sheboygan, and a five - mile link with the Two Creeks nuclear plant of Wisconsin - Michigan Power Co.

Kaukauna Council Accepts Bids for New Road Grader

KAUKAUNA — Six bids for a new grader were received by the city council Tuesday night, however, action was delayed pending a review of bids and specifications by Robert Natrop, city engineer.

Prices ranged from a low of $26,000 to a high of $31,764. Some bids included the price of a snowplow wing while others listed the wing with attachments necessary for mounting.

Length of guarantee, availability of service and parts and allowance for trade-in are also itemized in the bidding, making tabulation necessary. The engineer will report to the board of public works and that group will make a recommendation to the council.

Installation Opposed

In other action two persons opposed installation of water main on Peters Road from the existing main south to the city limits. Aldermen voted in favor of the installation and set an assessment of $3 per side lineal foot for the project.

Donald Green, city attorney, was instructed to set up a policy for billing Combined Locks for sewage treatment services, make recommendation to the board of public works and handle legal matters prior to the council adopting a billing procedure. The city provides sewage treatment for the village on a contract basis, but some changes may be necessary following major improvements at the plant.

A request was received from Outagamie County for right-of-way requirements for a proposed expressway near the southwest city limits. The engineer and city attorney were requested to investigate the area involved and make recommendations to the board of public works.

A notice from the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers regarding the Nov. 1 closing of navigation was ordered filed.

AWOL GI Held At New London

Geborek, picked up Tuesday afternoon, is wanted for being absent without leave from Fort Riley, Kan. Police said Geborek had reportedly been missing from camp since Aug. 18.

Friday's Games:
Menasha at Kimberly.
Two Rivers at Shawano.
Kaukauna at Clintonville.

Saturday's Game:
New London at Neenah.

BY JIM HARP
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Still smarting from last week's 6-6 tie at the hands of rival Menasha, the Neenah High School Rockets will try to advance another step toward the Mid-Eastern Conference championship Saturday.

Neenah entertains cellar-dwelling New London in the league's only Saturday contest. The rest of the teams are in action Friday night, with Menasha traveling to Kimberly, Two Rivers will be at Shawano and Kaukauna will be at Clintonville.

Two Rivers has about the only realistic chance of catching the Rockets The Purple Raiders have a 3-1-1 record and face a stiff task in colliding with the Shawano Indians Friday.

Could Clinch Title

Neenah with a 4-0-1 mark could clinch the crown by beating New London Saturday if the Indians should topple the Raiders Friday. On the other hand, should Two Rivers win both its remaining games and Neenah lose one of its last two encounters, the two teams would tie for the crown.

After Saturday's tilt with the Bulldogs, Neenah faces Shawano in the last game of the season and the final one in the M-E circuit for Neenah Next year the Rockets will join the Fox River Valley Conference.

Kimberly and Shawano are currently tied for third place with 3-2 records and are still mathematically in the race

The Menasha-Kimberly game Friday night should prove to be one of the most interesting. Menasha has scored 113 points in six games, overall, while the Papermakers have scored 70. Defensively, the Papermakers have the best of it having allowed only 47 markers while Menasha has given 99 to opponents

Kaukauna and Clintonville, a pair of teams which were expected to have much to say about the outcome of the 1967 race, but have not lived up to expectations, take their frustrations out on each other at Clintonville The Truckers have a 2-3 record compared to 1-3-1 for the Ghosts.

Clintonville will be relying on its passing attack to handle the Ghosts Kaukauna, which has had trouble getting its offense going all season, has allowed only 41 points in six games overall

New London, Neenah's Saturday foe, appeared to have victory within reach last week-

Ex-Army Grid Star, Holleder, Killed in War

Was Switched From End to QB In 1955 Season

SAIGON (AP) — Maj. Donald W. Holleder, the most valuable player on the 1955 Army football team which upset Navy, was one of 58 Americans killed in action Tuesday against a Communist force 41 miles north of Saigon. He was 32

Holleder was a brigade operations officer with the 1st Infantry Division. He had been flown to the battlefield early Tuesday to take command of a battalion after the battalion commander was killed.

Fellow officers said he was moving forward when he was hit by a burst of small arms fire.

The battle was the biggest ground action since the siege of Con Thien last month and the bloodiest fighting above Saigon since last spring.

Holleder, father of four children, was in the West Point class of 1956. He was the son of Mrs Irving A Cowles of Webster, N Y, a village near Rochester, N Y His widow, Carolyn, and the four children live in Alexandria, Va

Holleder was the principal in a surprise switch by Col. Earl Blaik, then Army football coach, that was credited as the main reason for Army's upset 14-6 victory over Navy in 1955.

Surprise Switch

Holleder was regarded as one of the finest ends in collegiate football in 1954, but midway of the 1955 season was shifted to quarterback by Blaik.

At the time the move was called "Blaik's Folly" but Holleder quickly developed as a

Bays Face Fran

Tarkenton Has Done Much to Improve New York's Outlook

GREEN BAY (AP) — The Green Bay Packers, pained by Minnesota's upset victory last Sunday, have a chance to reaffirm their faith in their sterling defense next Sunday when they meet Fran Tarkenton again.

The former Viking is recalled as a 1966 problem for the Packers whom the Vikings upset Nov. 6. The Vikings, minus Tarkenton, remained a problem for the Packers as they downed Green Bay 10-7 Sunday holding the National Football League champions to their lowest point production in 38 games.

If the Packers are planning to show any anger, it may be displayed next Sunday against Tarkenton when the quarterback guides the New York Giants in the first Packer-Giant regular season meeting since 1961.

Tarkenton, gotten by New York from the Vikings in a trade, has done much to improve the Giants' outlook just as Minnesota improved its winless image in Tarkenton's absence by upsetting the Packers in Milwaukee and ending Green Bay's 18-game winning streak.

Intercept Three

The Vikings produced a fairly impressive defense that intercepted three of quarterback Zeke Bratkowski's passes and prevented Green Bay from penetrating Viking territory more than three times

The Viking performance sounded like the kind of defense Green Bay likes to use against its opponents In five games, the Packers have held foes to a game average of 30 6 yards in passing offense, and to 10 8 points

In 12 league games while he was with Minnesota Tarkenton attempted 227 passes against the Packers, completed 150, and gained 1,997 yards His passes included nine touchdowns The Packers stole 15 of his attempts

The Giants had a 1-12-1 season before Tarkenton's arrival They now have a 3-2 mark for the season against the Packers' 3-1-1.

Bratkowski has attempted 70 passes in five games, has completed 42 for 608 yards and five touchdowns

He still is in line as the starter against New York

Coach Vince Lombardi indicated Tuesday it would not be known before Saturday whether regular quarterback Bart Starr, still nursing injuries, would be able to play against Tarkenton

Greek Vaulter Places First

Says He'll Break Record; 200-Meter Run Won by Carlos

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Chris Papanikolaou of Greece, who won the gold medal in the pole vault Tuesday in Mexico's Pre-Olympic Games, predicts he will break the world record in the actual Olympics next October

Papanikolaou, a student at San Jose, Calif., State, beat Dick Railsback of UCLA with a vault of 17-4¾, then failed three times in an attempt to break Bob Seagren's listed world record of 17-7¾

The attempt of the 25-year-old Greek to break the record drew the most attention of the 12,000 in the Olympic Stadium after John Carlos, a New Yorker who attends East Texas State, had won the 200 meters in 20 8 seconds

"I was sure I could do it" Papanikoulaou said "I think I could have, but I need a special pole This one is too soft I'll practice indoors this winter and I'm sure I can break the world record here next year"

Carlos led all the way in the 200 meters to give the United States its third gold medal

The Soviet Union led in gold medals with five after the first three days with the United States second with three

Leclerc Placed on Waivers by Denver

DENVER, Colo (AP) — Coach Lou Saban of the American Football League Denver Broncos Tuesday said place kicker Roger LeClerc has been placed on waivers.

Leclerc, formerly with the Chicago Bears of the National Football League, had signed with the Broncos as a free agent.

'There's Nothing Wrong With Bays,' Says Allie

NEW YORK (AP)—Allie Sherman, coach of the New York Giants says he finds it amusing that people should be asking What ails the Green Bay Packers?

Sherman, whose Giants face the National Football League champions Sunday, remarked Tuesday that he had given his team the day off from training

"This in no way means we are taking Green Bay lightly," he said "Green Bay is still leading its division There is nothing wrong with them"

"I'm bemused," he added, "by the whole idea of people asking what's wrong with the Packers"

Sherman said the Giants are virtually injury free and would be at full strength for the Packer meeting.

Virdon, Leppert To Coach Bucs

PITTSBURGH (AP) — New Manager Larry Shepard of Pittsburgh announced Tuesday the appointments of former Pirates Bill Virdon and Don Leppert to the coaching staff

Virdon, who thrilled Pirate fans for 10 seasons with his spectacular catches in center field, was named batting and outfield coach

Leppert a Pirate catcher in 1961 and 1962, is the new catching and bullpen coach.

Coatta Hasn't Lost Sense Of Humor or Enthusiasm

Badgers Act Like 4-0 Team In Practice

MADISON (AP)— 'I think we can build a spirit here."

The remark was uttered six weeks ago by John Coatta as he prepared to launch his first season as coach of the Wisconsin Badgers

Wisconsin since has lost its first four games, has been outscored 107-34, and is off to its worst start in more than three decades

In its 13-11 loss to Pittsburgh last Saturday, Wisconsin muffed two good scoring opportunities, lost three fumbles and gave up the ball twice on pass interceptions.

But Coatta, 38-year-old former star quarterback for the Badgers, hasn't lost his enthusiasm or his sense of humor.

His squad whipped through drills preparatory to the Iowa clash at Madison Saturday and acted like a team with a 4-0 record instead of an 0-4

Coatta suggested his team might be looking for its second victory if the Badgers had kept their running game on the ground aainst Pittsburgh last Saturday.

Loses Ball

In that game, Wisconsin marched 80 yards only to lose the ball on the goal line when halfback Richard Schumitsch fumbled while leaning over his Badger teammates toward pay dirt.

Wisconsin lost the ball to the Panthers, who battled back to gain the victory

"The runner shouldn't try to leap over the line," said Coatta "He should look for holes. When he leaps, his arms go up and chances are the ball can be jolted loose"

Despite his fumble, Schmitsch helped the Badger ground game look fairly impressive. He personally accounted for more than 100 yards rushing

End Mel Reddick also had a good day, catching four passes and scoring the only Wisconsin touchdown. Reddick a sophomore from Chicago, received an offensive award for his play

If the Badgers lose to Iowa, they will match the 1935 squad's record of five straight losses at the start of a campaign.

Spices Giant Attack

Tarkenton Picked as Week's Offensive Star

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — When the New York Giants got Fran Tarkenton from the Minnesota Vikings they were told "he may not win for you but he will make things interesting"

Nobody ever lived up to an advance buildup better than Fran, the scrambling man from Georgia His wild feats of last Sunday afternoon at Pitt Stadium have earned him The Associated Press nomination as Offensive Player of the Week in the National Football League

If you haven't heard about the Giants' old flea-flicker pass that pulled the game out of the fire, you just have not been reading the papers or watching your television set

Starting with a routine handoff to Ernie Koy, and developing quickly into a Homer Jones end-around play, the Giants' "Well Mara Special" wound up with Jones handing off to Tarkenton who threw a 59-yard scoring pass to Joe Morrison for the 27-24 win

But that was only part of the day for Francis He rambled for a touchdown when Koy, halted at the line, flipped a lateral to the quarterback who sped seven yards around left end for the score

Tarkenton was hurt twice, once when he was knocked down after throwing a TD pass and again after scrambling to the one He carried five times for 34 yards and completed 18 of 29 passes for 287 yards and two TD's. He was intercepted once.

Mets' Staff Will Have 'Dodger Look'

NEW YORK (AP) — There will be a distinctly Dodger look about the New York Mets' braintrust next season

New Manager Gil Hodges, a longtime Dodger great both in Bronklyn and Los Angeles, announced his coaching staff at a press conference Tuesday

Hodges is bringing with him his entire staff from Washington, where he managed the Senators to a sixth-place tie with Baltimore last season Joe Pignatano, and Rube Walker, two former Dodger catchers, who played with Hodges and then coached under him in Washington, are following Gil to New York.

The other Met coaches will be Eddie Yost, a New York native who played over 2,000 games at third base for Washington, and holdover Yogi Berra, the lone survivor from last year's coaching staff

Yost will coach at third, Berra will continue at first and Pignatano and Walker will work in the bullpen, Hodges said.

NL Comeback Award Voted To McCormick

22-Game Winner Beats Out Cepeda, Banks and Maris

NEW YORK (AP)—Mike McCormick, a left-handed pitcher who led the National League in earned run average in 1960 and then was demoted to the minors four years later, was named the

circuit's Comeback Player of the Year for 1967 today on the strength of his stellar performance for the San Francisco Giants

McCormick, the NL's leader in victories with 22, was named on 219 ballots in the voting by 356 baseball writers and broadcasters participating in the annual Associated Press poll.

Orlando Cepeda of the St Louis Cardinals, a first baseman, was second with 32 votes followed by Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs, another first

Cubs' Jenkins To Play 7 Tilts For Trotters

CHICAGO (AP) — Pitcher Ferguson Jenkins a 20-game winner for the Chicago Cubs, has joined the Harlem Globetrotters basketball team, the club said Tuesday

"Jenkins got permission from the Cubs to play seven games for us," said George Gillett, new president and general manager of the Globetrotters, formerly headed by the late Abe Saperstein.

"In addition, he will do some advance publicity work for the Trotters"

All but one of Jenkins' appearances with the team will be in Canada where he played basketball for the Chatham Vocational High School in Ontario He will be with the team in Buffalo, N.Y., Nov. 24

Bakken Tops Scorers

Kelly, Roland Pace Rushers

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Roland the Rookie of the Year in 1966 for the St Louis Cardinals in the National Football League, appears well on his way to the workhorse of the year crown in 1967

Roland, trailing Leroy Kelly of Cleveland by only 17 yards in the battle for leading rusher honors, has carried the ball 96 times for the Cardinals in the first five games of the season, NFL statistics showed today In his rookie season, Roland toted only 192 times in 14 games.

Kelly held his lead over Roland last Sunday by boosting his rushing yardage to 405 as compared to 388 for the St. Louis ace.

Top Receiver

Although Charley Taylor of Washington is the top receiver with 32 catches for 441 yards, the big average man is Homer Jones of the New York Giants who has averaged 31.6 yards per catch, making 18 good for 568 yards and six touchdowns

Norm Snead of Philadelphia still tops the passers despite the Eagles defeat by the San Francisco 49ers The standings are based on Snead's 58.4 completion percentage, 11 TDs, 2 9 interception percentage and 9 24 average gain.

Jim Bakken, the St. Louis place kicker, is the top scorer Bakken has 58 points on 15 field goals and 13 conversions. Jones of the Giants is next with 42 points on seven touchdowns.

Keith Gehring Jolts 695 Series In Major League

Within Five of National Count; Jim Andrew Socks 257 Singleton

Keith Gehring, who has had a little trouble regaining the bowling form that carried him to numerous national honor counts prior to a stint in the army, displayed some of his old form Tuesday night in the Major Scratch League at Hahn's Lanes as he cracked a 695 series, just five pins shy of a national set.

Gehring's score was one of the highest rolled on Fox Cities lanes this season. Only one men's national count has been recorded so far.

Keith slammed games of 246 and 230 with the high set.

Other high scores in the Scratch League included Chuck Bayer 619, Chuck McGinnis 615, Joe Gregorius 237-615 and Dave Laux 604.

Jim Andrew powered the high game in the Fox Cities area Tuesday night as he slammed a 257 in the Tri-City League at Sabre Lanes. Andrew was 104 pins over his league average and earned an ABC Century Award for his performance.

High series in the Tri-City circuit was a 605 by Don Resch.

In Monday night action in the Sportsman's League at Michiels Bowl, Sherwood, Ed Knapp pounded games of 235 and 247 for a hefty 683 series, highest at Michiels this season. Dave Huhn came through with a 606 series.

Also on Monday night, Dick Dollevoet socked a 237 game and 645 series to lead the Heart of the Valley League at the Little Chute Recreation Lanes.

Pete Schmidt rolled a 609 series to lead the Tri-City League at the Recreation Lanes last night. Clyde Baumgart was close behind with a 606 and Norm Schimmelpfenning had a 555 series.

Mark Nagan's 616 series was high in the Major League at the Bowling Bar, Kaukauna, Monday night. Top game was a 226 by Mark Hoegh.

Kriehn Blasts 246

Arnie Kriehn blasted a 246 game and 591 series for individual honors in the Appleton Coated League at Hahn's Lanes.

Trainer Claims Joe Has Improved By 125 Per Cent

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "We're in college now waiting for our degree," said trainer-advisory Yank Durham after his fighter, Joe Frazier, scored a technical knockout over Tony Doyle Tuesday night.

The unbeaten Frazier stopped Doyle, of Salt Lake City, Utah, in 1:04 of the second round of their scheduled 10-round heavyweight bout at the new $12-million Spectrum. The best way to describe the fight is that it was no contest.

18th Victim

Durham, who handpicked Doyle as Frazier's 18th victim, said, "Joe has improved 125 per cent. He's out of high school. Now he can go out there and do what I tell him.

"I told him to stay right on top of Doyle, make him move the way we wanted him to move, then take him out with one good shot."

Frazier, who is ranked No. 1 by Ring Magazine and No. 9 by the World Boxing Association, confirmed his trainer's views.

The 6-foot-4 Doyle, who came here with an 18-4-1 record, had promised the upset of the year against the tough 22-year-old many experts believe will be the

Three Warriors Injured During Loss to Knicks

NEW YORK (AP) — The San Francisco Warriors might have lost more than a game against the New York Knicks Tuesday night — Nate Thurmond, Jeff Mullins and Clyde Lee all were injured.

After the 124-122 loss, Coach Bill Sharman said Thurmond felt something pull in his back, Mullins may have suffered a broken nose and Lee injured his jaw and can't close his mouth.

Thurmond and Mullins both finished, but Lee sat out the rest of the game.

The trio will be examined Wednesday in Cincinnati.

Wausau's Winter Wins AP's 'Player of Week' Award

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Jerry Winter, a senior halfback who scored four touchdowns and rolled up a record 240 yards rushing in leading Wausau to a 48-28 victory over La Crosse Central, was named Wisconsin high school football "Player of the Week" today.

The Associated Press honor is based on nominations by Wisconsin sports writers and sportscasters.

Three of Winter's four touchdowns came in the final nine minutes of play to break open a game that was tied 28-28.

Winter, knocked groggy in the first half, played only slightly more than half the game and broke the Big Rivers Conference rushing record with just 19 carries.

The old record of 220 yards in 20 carries was set by Al Kuehl, now a Nebraska regular, in 1963.

Winter's touchdowns came on runs of 21, 55, 33 and 52 yards.

The game-breaker was the 55-yard romp.

"He broke the linebacker's tackle, broke the halfback's tackle and running against the flow and with his speed, he was able to step out all the way," said Win Brockmeyer, the Lumberjacks' veteran coach.

Chargers Near Offense Lead In the AFL

Jets Have Slim Lead; Oakland Tops on Defense

NEW YORK (AP) — San Diego has remained the only unbeaten team in the American Football League with an offense that threatens New York's league lead, AFL statistics released today show.

The Chargers, who overpowered Kansas City 45-31 last Sunday, clased within 7.4 average yards per game of the Jets as the teams retained their 1-2 position. New York, which held a 30-yard-a-game spread last week, dropped to 382.6 yards per game while the Chargers rose to 375.2.

The Jets did raise their passing average 4.4 to 280.4 yards per game, but again the Chargers cut the gap by jumping 12 to 257.4. Kansas City is the rushing leader with 144.4.

Oakland is the top defensive team, allowing only 189.8 yards per game, far ahead of the Jets' 231.2. The Raiders, second in rushing defense to Boston, have allowed only 110.8 yards a game passing, almost 30 yards better than second place New York.

MSU and Michigan Have Drawn Top 2 Football Crowds

NEW YORK (AP) — The 103,210 fans who watched Michigan State beat Michigan 34-0 last Saturday made up the second largest college football crowd in the 20 years that records have been kept, the NCAA announced today.

The record is 103,235—just 25 spectators more—and was set in 1959 in Ann Arbor, Mich., also for the Michigan-Michigan State game.

In all, the 10 best-attended games last weekend drew 643,789 fans, fourth largest total in history. The top 10's four-week total is 2,535,337, far ahead of last year's record pace of 2,344,170.

baseman, 29 votes. Outfielder Roger Maris of the Cards was fourth with 21 votes.

Tied For Lead

McCormick's 22 victories in the past season also tied him for the major league lead with Jim Lonborg of Boston and Earl Wilson of Detroit. In 262 innings, McCormick struck out 150, walked 81 and posted a 2.85 ERA.

McCormick was signed by the Giants in 1956 for a reported $50,000 bonus. He paced the NL in ERA with a 2.70 average in 1960 while winning 15 games. The southpaw pitched in major league All-Star games in 1960 and 1961.

In 1962, he was traded to Baltimore. Plagued by arm trouble, McCormick was sent to Rochester of the International League in 1964 and traded to Washington the following year. He posted an 11-14 record for the Senators in 1966 and was re-acquired by the Giants on Dec. 3, 1966. Pitcher Bob Priddy and outfielder Cap Peterson moved to Washington in the transaction.

Ex-Army Grid Star, Holleder, Killed in War

passer. After the victory over Navy he said he was happy over the switch and felt he had made a contribution to Army's triumph.

Blaik was more outspoken. "He gave an unforgettable demonstration. An aggressive leader is priceless," said the Army coach.

Holleder was named on the All-East 1955 team by The Associated Press.

His play that year gained for him the Nils V. "Swede" Nelson Sportsmanship award by the Gridiron Club of Boston. The award goes to the player, who by his conduct on the gridiron, demonstrated a high esteem for the football code and exemplifies sportsmanship to an outstanding degree.

In addition, Holleder was the recipient of the Hughes Award as the most valuable player of the 1955 Army team.

In September, 1954, Holleder was charged with walking five yards off his post during summer training at Ft. Benning, Ga., to make a phone call to a friend. He was confined to quarters at West Point for one month and allowed no visitors, no movies and no football.

When he returned to the field his rise to fame started.

Garbage Truck Makes Fire Convenient for Appleton Firemen

Two garden hoses and a couple of shovels are all that were needed by Appleton firemen Monday to put out a fire in a city garbage truck in front of No. 3 fire station.

The truck, driven by Gerald Van Den Wildenberg of 1623 N. Wilmer St., Appleton, was in front of the station when its contents started smoldering.

The contents were spilled onto the street and firemen extinguished the blaze in about 10 minutes. There was no damage to the truck.

Kaukauna Youth Fined On Disorderly Charge

KAUKAUNA — Merle Lambie, 18, 817 Lawe St., pleaded guilty to a disorderly conduct charge when arraigned before Clarence O'Connor, municipal justice, Monday and was fined $20.

Lambie was arrested by police over the weekend when he was observed pushing a car down the street and when they stopped to investigate, found the youth had been drinking and had beer in an open soft drink bottle in his hand.

Student Aids To Get Study

State Board Plans Orderly Program of Help for Education

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — A master plan for student financial aid programs will be prepared by the State Higher Educational Aids Board, that agency voted Tuesday.

The Legislature, in light of the action, should proceed cautiously on pending proposals to create new state aid programs — and should not introduce additional measures until the completion of the study, according to the board.

Aim of the study is to prepare an omnibus bill consolidating state educational aid programs "to make an orderly program out of the current maze of proposals," according to Robert DeZonia, board member and director of the Wisconsin Association of Independent Colleges and Universities.

Administers Aids

The board administers state student financial aid programs, and dispenses federal academic building aids allocated to the state.

Call for the study passed unanimously, after University of Wisconsin Regent Charles Gelatt, of La Crosse, urged the board's staff to work closely with all concerned state groups.

Kaukauna Sells Three Acres to Appleton Concrete Products Co.

Dissenting Aldermen Felt More Study Needed on Cost, Future Use by City

KAUKAUNA — After considerable discussion, the common council Tuesday night authorized the sale of approximately three acres of land from the 14-acre site recently purchased from the Chicago and North Western Railway Co., to Concrete Products Co., Appleton, at a cost of $18,600.

Property approved for sale is at the far tip of the site. Ald. James McDaniel (4th) objected, indicating the concrete mixing firm would not be a clean operation; it would add heavy traffic to streets already heavily traveled, and the price was exactly what the city paid for it.

He thought more study should be given to the original ideas of off-street parking and a fire station in the area, and asked that the finance committee be given the opportunity to study the sale and make a recommendation to the council.

Ald. Gerald Klarer, 4th, argued it made sense to develop an industrial park which would bring taxes into the city. He felt the area could be developed for both light industry and a community center.

Mayor Gilbert Anderson pointed out that Eugene Franchett, executive director of the Fox Valley Council of Governments, had indicated the 3-acre area could be sold without destroying the value of the remaining acreage. Ald. Russell Dix (4th) argued the city was moving too fast and said there would be dust, heavy traffic on State 55 and river pollution.

Ald. Wm. Rogers (5th) also felt there should be more study. Ald. Lloyd Kloehn (2nd) said as long as the city had a buyer for the worst part of the package it should "get the show on the road."

A representative of the firm indicated the operation was not dusty or noisy and said similar plants were located in Appleton, within a few hundred feet of residential areas.

Dix, McDaniel and Rogers cast dissenting votes.

A library budget of $74,700, $25,800 higher than in 1967, includes a $20,000 appropriation for architect fees to begin planning a new facility. It was referred to the finance committee.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce, to be assisted by the Thilmany Girls' Club, Business and Professional Women's Club and Hospital Auxiliary were authorized to conduct a drive to raise approximately $15,000 to purchase a new city ambulance.

The finance committee was authorized to study 1965 requests of $9,000 for diseased elm tree removal, $2,500 for blacktopping LaFollette Park tennis courts, $10,000 for park rest rooms, $2,500 for tree planting, $10,000 for purchase of playground land and $8,000 for extending water and sanitary sewer to the park shop.

Also recommended for study were salaries of $3,800 for the health, recreation and welfare office secretary; $6,775 for the city nurse, $6,900 for park superintendent and city forester, and $7,775 for recreation director, welfare director and deputy health officer.

Council Okays Doty Rezoning At Kaukauna

Alderman Says Move Is Logical Extension Of Business Area

KAUKAUNA — The City Council approved Tuesday night the rezoning of the 100 block of Doty Street from residential to business district, after the proposal failed to receive a majority at the first council session this month.

The original proposal was favored 5-3 with two aldermen not present. The city attorney ruled this did not constitute the necessary majority for rezoning, thus Ald. Gerald Klarer (4th), a member of the city planning commission, brought the question up for reconsideration with a full 10-member council present. His recommendation passed unanimously.

He argued that the rezoning was a logical extension of the business district and only through extending the business district could the city hope to attract new business. Ald. Lloyd Kloehn (2nd) agreed but felt specific plans and diagrams should be presented to the council in the future to make sure all aldermen realized where the rezoning was occurring.

Extend Business

A letter from Eugene Franchett, who gave his opinion as a professional planner, not as a representative of the Fox Valley Council of Governments, indicated the area should be rezoned commercial as a normal move to extend the business district.

A request to have property at Desnoyer and Tobacnoir rezoned from residential to local shopping was referred to the planning commission as was a similar request for land on Crooks Avenue near the eastern limits of the city.

The first request involves a grocery store operating under a non-conforming use while the second was requested to permit construction of a split-level professional office building.

Representatives of the Veterans of Foreign Wars asked permission to utilize the Lawe Street park for the July picnic, presenting a petition with more than 700 signatures favoring the area. A council committee had been investigating other locations after the owner of a supermarket objected to this use of his parking area.

Vote Unanimously

After hearing from a VFW spokesman, council members voted unanimously to permit continued use of the Lawe Street park.

The legislative committee, finance committee and board of public works were authorized to set up legislation so all special assessments for road improvements and other monies received for streets could be put into a special street fund to permit continuance of the road improvement program without jeopardizing the regular city budget.

Ald. Robert Vondracek (1st) objected to a list of streets considered for improvement in 1968 which had been referred to the finance committee for study prior to adopting a budget. He said that the northside improvement program was being delayed at the expense of improvements to southside roads.

Earlier Requests

Ald. George Simon (3rd) contended that south side residents had had requests for street improvements in the longest, and many of their streets carry much heavier traffic than those proposed for work on the north side.

He also felt that expensive sewer work was needed before proposed north side street improvements could be made.

However, by a 6-4 vote, aldermen favored the streets for study as recommended.

These included portions of Margaret, Joyce, Diedrich, Seventh, Eighth, Ninth and Dodge streets and Bel Air Court streets. Approval was given for the installation of 300 feet of storm sewer on Black Street and across the Doty Bayorgeon Recreation Area between Dodge Street and the river.

Simpson Still Top Rusher

Purdue's Phipps Second Nationally In Total Offense

NEW YORK (AP) — A decisive factor in the rise of the nation's top two college football teams, Southern California and Purdue, can be traced to the remarkable showing of O. J. Simpson and Mike Phipps, according to statistics released today by the NCAA's National Collegiate Sports Service.

Simpson of USC, remains the major college rushing leader with 752 yards in five games. The junior halfback, who sparked the No. 1 ranked Trojans to their 24-7 victory over Notre Dame last Saturday, carried 38 times for 150 yards and all three touchdowns in the win over the Irish.

Phipps, a sophomore quarterback, is the nation's No. 2 offensive leader with 1,087 yards rushing and passing. Last Saturday, Phipps gained 259 yards in 29 plays in Purdue's 41-6 defeat of Ohio State. The leader in this category is Terry Stone of New Mexico, only 29 yards ahead of Phipps.

Has 91 Completions

Stone is tops in forward passing with 91 completions in 198 attempts. His passes have accounted for 1,253 yards and seven TDs, although New Mexico has lost four of its five games. Phipps is ninth in passing with 55 completions on 112 attempts, gaining 952 yards and seven TDs.

Dennis Homan of Alabama, along with Butch Colson of East Carolina and Wayne Patrick of Louisville top the scorers with 48 points on eight TDs.

The leader in pass receiving is Stone's favorite target at New Mexico, Ace Hendricks, with 38 catches for 675 yards and four TDs.

Lorge Bill to Ban Ads For Cigarettes Is Killed

Post Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — A bill to ban cigarette advertising from Wisconsin newspapers and broadcasting stations was killed Tuesday by the state Senate

The attempt, by Sen Gerald Lorge R-Bear Creek, would have prohibited such advertisements from newspapers and radio and television broadcasts originated within the state but allowed them to enter Wisconsin from sources located outside of its borders

Lorge said that the bill was designed to discourage younger people from smoking, as they are led into the habit he said by advertising that makes the practice appear virile healthy and stimulating

"Smoking makes you stink and stains your fingers ' he said to a laughing Senate It makes a smoker repulsive to other people I was a smoker myself, ' he said but he added that he broke the habit six months ago

This is a rotten bill said Sen Taylor Benson D-Franksville bluntly

"We don't need legislation in this area It ought to be done by the federal government," said Sen Norman Sussman, D-Milwaukee The bill would still allow out-of state newspapers and stations to bring such advertisements into Wisconsin and would deprive state publishers and stations of national advertising revenues he pointed out

The bill which Lorge co sponsored with Sen Raymond Johnson, R-Eau Claire, died on a voice vote

Washday Can be Any Day

"You'd better speak to him . . . he's going to end it all if you don't."

Washday is any day of the week, any time of the day, and for half the homemakers washday is every day of the week. Those are some of the facts uncovered by an in-depth survey conducted for U S Steel with 2,606 women who own automatic washers The survey was of the national area-probability type, which means its results are representative of the whole country

One-fourth of the women in the survey not only launder every day of the week, they also do 10 or more loads a week. A total of two-thirds launder three or more days a week

In spite of this hard usage, 70 per cent of the surveyed women reported no service calls required by their laundry appliances in the preceding year

This bears out industry statistics that first-year service calls are averaging a two-thirds decline since 1959 Increased reliability and improved functional design emerged in the survey as the most highly valued attributes of automatic washers and dryers.

Satisfaction with their present home laundry appliances was expressed by 95 per cent of the homemakers, with 53 per cent rating them superior or above average

Only two per cent think of laundering as their hardest household task Some 90 per cent of those interviewed characterized it as a breeze However, since only 50 per cent of the women in the survey had automatic dryers, there's plenty of room for improvement.

In the survey the following washer features were rated essential by the stated percentage of women

Water-temperature control	.88
Lint filter	.69
Water-level selector	.50
Unbalanced-load shutoff	49
Rinse-temperature control	.48
Type-of-fabric selector	43
Choice of wash speeds	.43
Cold-water wash	.40

When it came to dryers the results were.

Time control	.87
Lint catcher	81
Temperature control	.76
Type-of-fabric selector	.48
Cold-air tumble	.36

The interviews were hour-long personal calls during which each phase of laundering in the home was discussed.

Clothes Were Hung Inside 1920 Dryers

According to historians on the art of home laundering, the first clothes dryers were developed in the 1920's.

Intended for large apartment buildings, they were merely large, hot, sheet-metal chambers.

Garments to be dried were hung inside. The dryers contained gas burners and fans.

Industry Urges 'Waltz Through Washday'

The time you have to spend on the family's laundry increases in direct proportion to your lack of a modern automatic washer and dryer. The week's laundry for a family of four that you can do in 4 hours and 22 minutes with an automatic washer and dryer will take you 6 hours and 12 minutes without the dryer and 9 hours and 16 minutes if you have to use a wringer washer, industry figures show.

More than $5 billion are spent each year on home laundering, and many homemakers spend more time at that task than at any other except cooking. It is obvious that home laundry appliances are things it pays to make the right decisions about, industry spokesmen say

With that in mind, during October manufacturers, retailers, utilities, trade associations and manufacturers are joining in the fifth annual Waltz Through Washday program to show how easy and uncomplicated home laundering can be with modern automatic washers and dryers

At first glance the versatile new washers and dryers seem complicated This is true on the inside where they perform their washday magic On the outside they have been greatly simplified over models of only a few years ago. On some top models setting a single control on a washer or dryer is al you have to do to completely process any conceivable type of load.

Some Handicaps

Automatic washers last an average of about nine years.

In laundering the contents of today's wash basket, not only the fiber, fabric and finish but also the construction of an item must be considered Blankets need gentle agitation for one reason and delicate lingerie needs it for another.

Most modern washers have two or more speeds of agitation To meet exacting requirements, spin speeds can be varied from agitation speeds. A blanket, for instance, washed with gentle agitation should be spun fast to remove as much water as possible. A really dirty permanent-press garment, however, needs vigorous agitation followed by a slow spin to prevent wrinkles.

Dispensers on modern washers can't do anything that the homemaker can't, but they do it at the right time everytime.

Bleach dispensers add the automatically diluted bleach to the clothes after washing begins, when it is most effective. Fabric-softener dispensers add the conditioner to the last rinse automatically

The automatic cool-down rinse of a modern washer is the key to correct washing of permanent press. Permanent press can be wrinkled if spun while it is still warm from washing Cold water has become a factor in washing today's fabrics. A highly polished finish, or a color that is bleedable, will require the cold-water wash that is provided automatically by the new washers.

Automatic pre-wash or soak cycles are other aids in modern, complex laundering. A protein soil, for instance, may be set by hot water. A soak or pre-wash in cold water before washing in hot water is the solution

The indispensable partner of the automatic washer is the automatic dryer. Although long valued for its work-saving and convenience, the dryer becomes an absolute necessity with permanent press. This is spelled right on the permanent-press label, saying in effect "For no ironing, tumble dry."

The dryer has been automated to the point where anelectronic sensor actually feels the clothes and turn the dryer off when they have reached their ideal condition. Permanent-press or wash-and wear cycles on automatic dryers can mean wearing the garments straight from the dryer. After getting the clothes hot enough to remove unwanted creases the dryer conditions the load with five to ten minutes of cool tumbling to prevent any new wrinkles

Permanent Press Needs Correct Drying Action

Permanent press garments and home furnishings have burst upon the market with amazing suddenness

And American homemakers eager to extricate themselves from the drudgery of ironing have been equally quick to embrace this new discovery

Unlike the first wash 'n wear fabrics, which promised no ironing but never quite lived up to that promise, new permanent press garments really can be washed and worn without ironing

When permanent press garments are washed in an automatic washer and tumbled dry in an automatic dryer, as garment manufacturers recommend, fabric surfaces are smooth, puckering is minimized, and creases and pleats are sharp They can be worn without ironing

The secret of their success lies in that recommendation, "wash in an automatic washer and tumble dry"

According to Miss Virginia Van Nostrand, Whirlpool Corp. home service manager, the ideal wash cycle for permanent press garments would 1) get clothes clean which requires a hot water wash, 2) provide for gradual cooling of the fabric to prevent wrinkles and 3) spin by very low speed

"This type of garment becomes soft and pliable when warm, and wrinkles can be introduced if they are twisted or compressed For this reason," Miss Van Nostrand explained, "permanent press garments should never be spun while hot.

Proper washing technique is only part of the care permanent press garments must have if they are to live up to their promise of no ironing.

Garments should be tumbled in heated air to relax fibers and remove wrinkles. Then, at the end of the drying cycle, there's a 10 minute period of tumbling without heat. If tumbling stops while garments are warm and fibers relaxed, wrinkling results. So the cool-down period must be long enough to cool garments completely so wrinkling will not occur.

If cooled first, garments return to proper shape. Fabrics are smooth, and creases and pleats are crisp and sharp. Garments can be worn without ironing.

Proper Care Needed When Handling Permanent Press Garments

DON'T expect no-iron results with permanent press unless you tumble dry it. Line-drying or drip-drying will yield about the same results as with regular wash-and-wear.

DO buy permanent-press garments the right size. Some alterations may be impractical. Dresses and slacks can be shortened but not lengthened — the original heat-set crease cannot be eliminated.

DON'T accept permanent-press items with seam puckers or unwanted creases. These imperfections last the life of the item.

DO turn permanent-press garments with creases or pleats inside out when laundering. This prevents abrasion of the sharp edges.

DO remove permanent-press items from dryer as soon as it stops. This prevents wrinkles from the weight of the other clothes. If you forget, no great matter. Cycle them through the dryer again and the wrinkles disappear. Follow the same procedure for permanent-press items that are mussed but not soiled.

Here's a Mother Who Saves Time and money by outfitting her children in permanent press clothes. Children need fewer clothes and clothes need less care, such as ironing, when they are permanent press and treated to tender care in an electronic control clothes dryer, according to the laundry industry.

Secret's in Cycle Of Washer, Dryer

Cycles are what make the clothes washer and dryer automatic. The first automatic washers offered one cycle. The water was hot, the wash speed was fast, the rinse water was warm, and the spin-dry was fast. This was adequate for its time, because nearly all washables were wash-and-iron cottons.

Now the proliferation of synthetics, blends and no-iron finishes has brought about wash-and-wear and permanent-press cycles that, once set, make the washer fill (full, medium or low tub) with water (hot, warm or cold); wash (fast, medium or slow) the clothes, rinse them several times (in water the same temperature or different from the wash temperature and at speeds the same or different from the wash speed), spin them dry (at fast, medium or slow speeds), shut itself off and signal that it's finished.

The result is that just about anything washable at all can be washed in some automatic washers. Some examples of how cycles eliminate the guesswork from washing are:

Wash-and-wear or permanent press — Full tub of warm (hot if very dirty) water, short wash period at regular speed, a cool-down rinse to prevent wrinkles during damp-dry spin at slow speed.

Bright colors — Full tub of warm or cold water, normal wash period at regular speed, cold spray rinse, warm or cold deep rinse, and damp-dry spin at regular speed.

Delicate fabrics — Full tub of warm water, short wash period at slow speed, a cold spray rinse, a cold deep rinse, and a damp-dry spin at low speed.

In dryers, too, the cycle controls all operations. Once a cycle is set, it turns the dryer on, selects the degree of heat, tumbles the clothes through a stream of air until they reach the desired dryness, turns the dryer off and signals that the clothes are ready — in some cases with the tune "How Dry I Am."

The first dryers had one "cycle" that ran until you shut it off. Now cycles are controlled by a time-temperature device or by electronic sensors that actually feel the dryness of the clothes. The electronic control makes the sprinkling of clothes before ironing unnecessary. On the damp-dry setting, the dryer will shut off when the moisture content of the clothes reaches 18 per cent, considered ideal for ironing.

Special dryer cycles can banish ironing from all of permanent press and much of wash-and-wear. The cycle's secret is a hot enough temperature to relax worn-in creases, followed by a cool-down conditioning tumble to prevent new wrinkling.

Cost of Service Down, Industry Says

On a per-service-call basis, it costs more — one estimate says 40 per cent more — to have your automatic washer and dryer repaired than it did in 1959.

However, durability and reliability of home laundry appliances have improved so dramatically since 1959 that the amount of money you spend for service per year is considerably less now, according to the industry.

From 1959 to 1966 the average number of service calls during the first year of use has declined 58 per cent for dryers and 73 per cent for automatic washers, according to an industry-wide survey.

In 1959 each washer averaged 1½ service calls, while now only one appliance in three needs any service at all during its first year, industry sources said.

As a result, the cost of service per year now is 63 per cent less than it was in 1959. The average frequency of service required for automatic washers and dryers is down 66 per cent since 1959.

The figures cited are for valid service calls — those in which something was functionally wrong with the appliances. As high as 10 per cent of all service calls are unnecessary. They are for such things as a plug out of its socket, a faucet turned off or a failure to follow directions in the instruction book.

The industry is doing its part in reducing the need for valid service calls.

Automatic Washers Now Programmed to Give Right 'Recipe'

It was a great day for the homemaker when the automatic washer was introduced in the post-war era because it took so much of the work out of washday.

Then came the fabric revolution, creating new "hard-to-wash" worries Everyone enjoyed the wonderful "no-iron" benefits of new fibers and new blends, but washing them properly was more complex.

For best results, and longest wear, the new fabrics demanded their own "wash recipes" — the right combination of wash and rinse temperatures, wash and spin speeds.

To cope with the fabric revolution and to assist homemakers who were puzzled over washing techniques, the industry designed and developed a "programmed" washer that automatically sets up the right washing conditions for any type of fabric load. Push a button, set the dial and this washer makes all the decisions.

The control panel of a programmed washer may have pushbutton designations for the following types of fabric loads: (1) white or colorfast cottons, (2) non-colorfast cottons, (3) delicate cottons, (4) sturdy permanent press, (5) regular permanent press, (6) delicate permanent press, (7) specials, such as silks and woolens.

When one of these buttons is pushed the washer automatically selects the correct "recipe" for washing that particular load. These "recipes" were programmed into the washer after exhaustive research by engineers who worked with textile and clothing manufacturers, conducting tests to determine the best possible washing condition for different types of fibers and garments.

Sturdy fabrics take vigorous wash action, while delicate fabrics need slower agitation to maintain their beauty.

Woolens need slow agitation to prevent shrinkage, but they need faster spin speeds to remove water and reduce drying time.

Synthetic and permanent press fabrics need slower spin speeds, plus a special cool-down spray rinse to help reduce spin-set wrinkles. And while cottons need hot wash water to remove stains, synthetics need warm water to minimize wrinkles and setting of stains! But with the programmed washer to make all of these decisions for her, the homemaker gets the right "recipe" at the push of a button.

Removing Stains From Permanent Press Garments

REMOVING STAINS FROM PERMANENT PRESS AND WASH-N-WEAR GARMENTS — Crease-resistant cottons and blends and 100 per cent synthetics such as Acrilan, Orlon, Dacron, nylon, etc should be treated to remove stains promptly. Try flushing with clear warm water first. If this is not successful use warm detergent suds. A sodium perborate bleach such as "Snowy" may be used with hot water. Full strength hydrogen peroxide is a safe bleach and chlorine bleach solution may be used unless garments carry warnings to avoid it because of possible yellowing. (White Rit usually removes this yellowing.) Glycerin is also effective in removing certain ink stains from these synthetics and blends Grease stains on dark nylon, Dacron, Orlon, may be stubborn. Treat with liquid detergent or detergent and water paste. If stain remains, sponge with cleaning fluid, rinse thoroughly and dry in the air. Repeat the treatment if necessary.

Clean Bottle

To keep a vacuum bottle sweet-smelling and clean, once a week fill it with a solution of cold water and a tablespoon of baking soda. Wash in warm suds and rinse thoroughly in the usual way. Jugs used just for picnics should get this treatment after each use.

5 Million Gas Dryers in Use

More than five million gas dryers are now in use throughout the United States, and in 1967, sales figures are bettering record marks set last year, according to industry spokesmen

One of the principal reasons for increased sales, according to the American Gas Association, Inc (A G A), is the addition of permanent press settings on many '67 models

Permanent press was used almost exclusively for slacks and shirts when it first appeared a few years ago Today, extensive use is being made of its wrinkle-free properties in the areas of bed linens, tablecloths, lightweight men's suits and children's playclothes, .

Since the process is relatively new, only the latest automatic washers and dryers are equipped with permanent press settings.

Special cycles with cool-down periods at the end prevent wrinkles from setting in Some gas dryers have a warning device that alerts the housewife when the cycle is completed so that garments can be removed before they can acquire any wrinkles

Engineering advances that may affect the design of clothes dryers of the future are the new solid-state spark and piezo-electricity ignition systems.

These developments may eventually eliminate constant-burning automatic gas pilots, allow greater design flexibility and further decrease maintenance.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Button Up Baby's Lash

Dear Heloise:

I always hung my babies' corduroy pants on the line to dry by attaching clothespins at the two button holes in the straps.

One day I ran out of pins so I hung the straps over the line and just buttoned them up! The weight of the wet material pulled the straps straight and they hung so well I didn't even have to iron them

Heloise

Also the wind can't blow them loose

Lois Horner

Dear Gals:

If you've got a hair dryer with a tube on it, try connecting it when you have an ache or a pain and letting the hot air from the end of the tube blow on that sore spot as you massage it It's great

I found this wonderful when my neck or leg ached, and it's especially good to run up and down your spine when your back gets tired

This is one thing we can do for ourselves because that tube is umpteen inches long I sit in a chair when I use this method and then rub my back on the chair cushion It sure is relaxing

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

The hint about putting plastic wrap on the bathroom mirror so it wouldn't steam up is such a great idea. But I carried it a step further. I used it on the back window of our station wagon to keep moisture from forming on it.

Worked great, and what a wonderful feeling to be able to see out on cold and rainy mornings.

I felt so much safer driving, too.

If you make the children's Halloween costumes out of flannel, they will be much warmer They can also be used for winter sleepwear later

No waste then, as children outgrow clothing so fast

Dear Heloise:

This morning I received a letter from a young friend of ours in Vietnam I had mailed him cookies and candy

He was amazed that only one cookie was broken and thought my packing idea was great, so I would like to pass it on to others

I wrap each piece of candy or cookie in plastic wrap Then pack it all in a corrugated box or large coffee can, put crumpled nylon net between each layer and between the food and the box or can

The net acts as a cushion that keeps them from jugging around but adds practically no weight

When the cookies are unpacked the servicemen can make good use of the nylon net for scrubbing boots, equipment, etc

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise:

I save the cardboard rolls from wax paper and aluminum foil for my young twins

Now they can bang away on floors to their hearts content

Mother

Give 'em a great big hug for me!

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I have four children so my washing is always large

I keep small cardboard boxes next to my dryer, one for each child with his name on it. As I take the clothes out and fold them, I put them in the proper box. Then each child can take his own clothes and put them away himself.

Sure helps this busy mother out on wash days.

Plain or Fancy—Variety of Designs for Utility Room

Location of Laundry Is Your Choice

At one time there was little choice about where your home laundry would be located. The drudgery, dampness and disorderliness of this once irksome chore banished it to the least habitable part of the house the basement.

The compact, beautiful automatic washers and dryers of today have released the laundry from its basement bondage to the point that statistics show that more than 58 per cent of the appliances are on or above the first floor now.

Here's a brief rundown on laundry locations for you to consider:

Laundry area near the kitchen is popular. In older houses a little-used pantry may be ideal

The kitchen is often tops for convenience. Washers and dryers blend perfectly with kitchen appliances.

The bathroom is another convenient location Easy plumbing connections keep installation costs down.

Room adpacent to the bathroom is a good location particularly if it has space for sewing and mending.

The garage, or in mild climates a breezeway, are overlooked locations.

The basement remains the best location in many homes. Automatic dryers have made basements much more acceptable for two reasons: you don't have to carry heavy baskets of wet clothes to outdoor lines and you don't have the messy indoor hanging of clothes in stormy weather.

Where you live may have an influence on where you have your laundry. In the South nearly half are reported to be in the kitchen.

Automatic Washer Can Handle Nylons

Don't be a slave to your sink. If your apartment laundry center has washers with warm-water wash cycles, try a batch of nylon stockings. Protect them in a mesh bag and add them about midway through the wash cycle, advise experts.

$1.8 Million In Aids OK'd For Campus

WSU-O Facility To be Located In Fond du Lac

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The Fond du Lac County campus of Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh will receive its full allocation of $1 8 million, the State Higher Education Aids Board voted Tuesday

And the Marinette County University of Wisconsin center could receive up to $226,000, under the action taken by the state agency in allocating federal building funds to two-year higher educational institutions in Wisconsin

Other institutions were not as fortunate in their quest to win a share of the federal funds for facilities to be constructed in the coming year

The state will receive far less than the $4 475 000 requested for eight separate projects throughout Wisconsin, said Thomas Moran, secretary of the board, and funds will not be available for at least four of the projects this year unless far more than expected is allocated by Congress

Congressional Fight

The appropriation bill for the federal building aid is tied up in the congressional fight between proponents of a tax hike and those backing a spending cut as an anti-inflationary move

The state had planned on at least $2 528,545, but will probably receive less than that Moran said The indefinite size of the state share leaves the size of the Marinette grant undetermined

The UW project in Marinette will total $1 193 280, and the federal share requested was $477 312 The project placed fourth on the board's priority list after study of state and school needs

Based on the $2 528.000 federal share for Wisconsin, up to $226 395 could be left for the project after the first three priority projects are financed

Placing first on the list was a $47 000 federal fund request for a $1 5 million academic building for the Madison vocational school

Second ranked was the Fond du Lac County freshman-sophomore center to be administered by WSU-O The board granted a request for $1.860 566 in federal funds for the $4 651 415 campus

Both projects are virtually assured of full funding unless the cut in federal funds for Wisconsin is exceptionally large

Passed over, in order of priorities, were proposals for a WSU Stout campus in Barron County, the UW-Sheboygan center, UW-Washington County center and UW Baraboo center

The Sauk County-Baraboo center now has been passed over in federal aid requests two years in a row.

Homemakers Offered Guide to Getting Rid of Common Stains

A large number of common household stains do not need special treatment except for a fifteen minute cool water soak period in your washer before the hot soapy wash period. Chlorine bleach added to this hot soapy wash water will remove many common stains. Treat all stains as soon as possible.

INK — Some ink stains can be removed, others may be permanent. No standard method is suitable to all types. Ink stains may wash out in regular wash, especially if the ink is fresh. For all inks, first rub undiluted liquid detergent into stained area and allow it to stand 15 minutes before rinsing. Repeat a number of times, if necessary. If the stain is stubborn, try mixing a paste of soda and hydrogen peroxide, spread it on the spot and hold the stain over a steaming teakettle spout. If a yellow spot (iron rust) remains, apply several drops of oxalic acid solution or other rust remover and re-steam. Neutralize the acid with ammonia and rinse. Ball Point Pen Inks — Rub with vaseline and then wash in hot detergent water. This is frequently successful.

IODINE — Fresh iodine stains may sometimes be removed by warm soapy water. Ammonia and water solution or sunbleaching may remove stains that are set.

IRON RUST — Several methods may be used to remove iron rust Apply oxalic acid solution to the material spread over a bowl of hot water. To make oxalic acid solution, dissolve one tablespoon of oxalic acid crystals in one cup warm water, using a glass jar or bowl. Repeat until the stain is removed. Rinse after each application (Oxalic acid is poison when swallowed and should be kept away from children.) Use a few drops of ammonia in the last several rinses. Application of salt and lemon juice followed by sun bleaching may remove rust stain.

Iron rust soap or other commercial rust removers are handy and easier to use than oxalic acid solution. Try lemon juice and salt followed by sun bleaching for minor stains.

For colored materials, experiment with any of the above methods on an unexposed portion of the material.

MEAT JUICES — Soak in cold, salt water. If stain remains, soak in ammonia and water solution until clear. Wash in warm detergent suds and rinse well. Substitute peroxide for ammonia in non-colorfast washables.

MILDEW — Fresh mildew can often be removed by laundering. Lemon juice, salt, and sunshine are sometimes effective. Diluted chlorine bleach may remove old stains.

MUSTARD — Sponge with detergent suds, followed by a light solution of chlorine bleach if the detergent does not remove the stain. Rinse well. When chlorine bleaching is not successful rub glycerine into the stain full strength. Wash and rinse.

PAINT AND VARNISH — Fresh paint stains can usually be removed by applying lard, followed by turpentine, kerosene, or cleaning fluid Then wash in heavy detergent and water solution. Another method is to soak spots in equal parts of ammonia and turpentine and wash in hot detergent water Wash and rinse garment thoroughly after any solvent has been used, and air dry before placing in the washer.

EGG — Remove excess from material. Soak in cool water, follow with regular washing procedure in hot detergent suds and light chlorine bleaching

FRUIT STAINS — Most fresh fruit stains can be removed from cottons and linens by pouring boiling water through the stain If the stains are old and the color set, rub them with glycerine and treat them with the hot water. If the stain persists, it can be chlorine bleached followed by thorough rinsing.

If the stains are on silk, wool, or any colored fabric, spread the garment over a bowl of hot steaming water to which a few drops of ammonia have been added; then apply hydrogen peroxide with a medicine dropper at 5-minute intervals. Whether or not this treatment will fade colors will depend upon the dye in the fabric and can be determined only by testing on some unexposed part of the material.

Be sure to remove stain before it comes into contact with soap and water, as soap and other algaline detergents may set the stain. Orange juice stains should be soaked in lukewarm water and then washed.

GRASS STAINS — Rub with a cooking fat or oil, and wash in hot detergent suds. Bleach any remaining stain on white cotton garments with diluted chlorine bleach. Wash color fast cottons in warm water. If stubborn stain persists, apply alcohol or hydrogen peroxide. Rinse thoroughly before drying.

GREASE, OIL, FATS — For white goods, soak in hot detergent water, then rinse. "Hot" means far hotter than the hands can stand. (If stains are not removed, the white linens and cottons may be boiled in detergent suds.) Rub liquid detergent into stains on Dacron or dark cottons. Let stand, wash, rinse. Sponging grease stains on dark Dacrons, nylons, or other synthetics or blends, in wash-n-wears or permanent press items with cleaning solvent may remove them. Try detergent suds and cleaning solvent alternately on stubborn or old stains

GUM — Stiffen the gum by rubbing with an ice cube and scrape from material Remove any remaining stain with cleaning fluid, wash in hot suds, rinse well.

HEAVY SOIL — Very heavily soiled clothing should always be pre-washed. Rub soap, detergent-and-water paste or liquid detergent (undiluted) into the garment with a worn wash cloth, sponge, or soft brush. Work the soap or detergent into the garment before washing. For extra soiled clothing, soak the clothes before washing, to loosen the soil Fill the tub with warm water Soak for no more than 15 minutes Rinse, spin, and refill at hot water setting.

ICE CREAM — Remove excess from material Soak in cold water. Wash in hot detergent suds. Rinse well.

ALKALI STAINS — Yellow stains are made by the careless use of washing soda, lye, alkaline soap, or from insufficient rinsing Mild acids such as vinegar, lemon juice, or diluted oxalic acid solution may be applied, followed by a very thorough rinsing. "Stripping" a load of clothes discolored by a build-up of soap film can be done by running the load through a complete cycle using hot water, ½ to 1 cup Calgon, and no detergent or soap.

BEVERAGES, ALCOHOLIC OR SOFT DRINKS — May be removed immediately with cool water. If not completely removed, sponge with glycerine and water. Wash in warm detergent suds, rinse well.

BLOOD — Always use cold water on blood stains, first soaking them until the coloring matter is dissolved. Then wash in warm detergent water. If the stain persists, add 2 tablespoons of household ammonia to each gallon of hot detergent water and soak for 5 minutes. Wash and rinse.

CANDLE WAX, PARAFFIN — Scrape wax off fabric with a blunt knife. (A greater amount can frequently be removed by rubbing the spot with an ice cube to harden wax while scraping.) Then sponge the spot with cleaning fluid. If color from dye in the wax remains, it may be removed with peroxide, alcohol, or diluted bleach. Other methods for removing wax are to rub the spot with turpentine and then wash, or melt the wax with a warm iron.

CHOCOLATE AND COCOA — Hot detergent water will generally remove stains from white cottons and linens. If a brown stain remains, remove it with peroxide solution or diluted bleach, if the color is fast. If grease stains persist, remove with cleaning fluid.

COD LIVER OIL — Cod liver oil stains are difficult to recognize, because they appear colorless when fresh. If not removed in the washing process, the spot will yellow, particularly when ironed. Sponge with cleaning fluid, then wash in warm detergent water. If the cod liver oil stain has set, it is almost impossible to remove.

PERSPIRATION — Perspiration stains on white washable garments can generally be removed by regular bleaching with a chlorine bleach or hydrogen peroxide. Perspiration frequently stains colored fabrics. Sometimes the color can be restored by holding the stain over an open bottle of ammonia, allowing the fumes to pass through it, or by sponging with white vinegar. Perspiration odors may be removed by soaking the garment in a solution made of 3 tablespoons of salt to each quart of warm water for an hour or longer before washing.

266 Days Each Year Labeled Too Cold or Wet for Washing

Everyone talks about the weather but no one does anything about it — nobody, that is, except homemakers who have found that weather doesn't have to influence weekly laundry chores.

According to national weather statistics, 266 days each year are either too cold or too wet to properly dry clothes out of doors. With the weather stacking two-to-one odds against the homemaker, it appears that the sales of automatic gas clothes dryers, which set a record in 1966, can be expected to shatter that mark this year.

Most new gas dryers have a special permanent press setting which controls heat so that permanent press garments can be removed at precise temperatures to insure wrinkle free drying.

Use o fan automatic washer and gas dryer gives homemakers the option of doing laundry any day of the week, and in large or small quantities. With small children around, especially during the colder winter months, this has proven to be a valuable asset. In addition, wet suits, mittens, etc., during the winter, and damp bathing suits during the summer can all be dried in a few minutes with an automatic dryer.

For the homemaker who feels that weather odds against outdoor drying are better than the national average in her section of the country, here are some other statistics compiled by the American Gas Association, Inc. (A.G.A.) — the average housewife who still uses a clothes line carries two tons of wet wash to the line every year and walks about forty miles to accomplish the task.

58 GIs Die in Red Ambush

Battle 41 Miles North of Saigon Takes Heavy Toll of Officers

SAIGON (AP) — A veteran Communist regiment ambushed two companies of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division in canopied jungles 41 miles north of Saigon Tuesday. After a day of fierce fighting, 58 Americans and at least 103 Communists had been killed and 61 Americans were wounded

The battle took a costly toll of U S officers Among them were Maj Don W. Holleder, voted most valuable player on Army's 1955 football team, and Lt. Col. Terry Allen Jr., whose father commanded the 1st Division in Tunisia and Sicily in World War II.

Holleder, a brigade operations officer, had replaced Allen in command of a battalion after the latter was killed. A battalion intelligence officer and a platoon commander also were killed and two company commanders were wounded

A fresh battalion was sent into the jungle area this morning but made no contact with the enemy.

Planes Near China

Over North Vietnam, meanwhile, U S planes flew close to Red China Tuesday to attack the Lang Son railroad bridge 10 miles from the frontier and the Long Giai railroad yards 20 miles south of the border.

The U S. Command said four American planes were lost—three Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs and one A4 Navy Skyhawk This raised the total of U S planes announced lost in combat over the North to 765.

Hanoi claimed five planes were shot down Tuesday.

As the pace of the war quickened there were these other developments

2 South Korean Marines reported 431 enemy troops killed and 16 captured on the Batangan Peninsula about 350 miles northeast of Saigon in a sweep that began Sept 5 about 12 miles southeast of the allied base at Chu Lai The area has been a Communist stronghold for 20 years and an important water supply route for the Reds a Korean spokesman said Korean casualties were termed light in the operation

3 Infantrymen of the U S 9th Division, continuing a search of a vast tunnel complex 30 miles east of Saigon, uncovered more enemy weapons and munitions. The huge cache so far has yielded 1,150 weapons and 142,500 rounds of ammunition, division officers reported.

The battle north of Saigon erupted when the two compa-

Arson Suspected in Third of Brush Fires

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Fire fighters say arsonists may be responsible for at least a third of the 50,000 acres that have been destroyed by Southern California brush fires.

One major fire still raged uncontrolled late Tuesday, a 7,000-acre blaze edging into Los Padres National Forest north of Santa Paula, about 50 miles northwest of Los Angeles. Fire officials said the blaze had a perimeter of about 12 miles, with about four miles of that perimeter burning out of control, but that it was moving steadily away from populated areas and into rugged mountain terrain

An earlier fire in the Santa Paula area roared across 15,000 acres and burned within a quarter mile of the town before firemen brought it under control Tuesday

A spokesman for the California Division of Forestry said Tuesday night arson investigations are being made in at least three of the fires that have blotched the hill areas since Sunday.

Frank Crossfield of the division said police and sheriff's investigators believe arson was the cause of one of the major fires that erupted Sunday in the area of Simi, in the west end of the San Fernando Valley about 20 miles east and south of Santa Paula.

Crossfield said witnesses saw three youths fleeing the area shortly before the fire broke out. The fire joined another blaze to form a 25,000-acre inferno.

Menaced Town

He said the combined fire, which raged out of control through Sunday and Monday, was 90 to 95 per cent contained late Tuesday. It menaced the town of Thousand Oaks and forced evacuation of 50 homes and two schools before firemen and winds turned it back

Crossfield said investigators also believe arsonists started a second fire in the Simi area Monday night. That blaze destroyed 2,000 acres before it was brought under control Tuesday, Crossfield said.

Two 16-year-old girls were arrested in Simi Tuesday and accused of starting a fire that burned six acres in a field adjacent to Simi Valley Community High School

Ventura County sheriff's deputies said the girls were seen throwing burning refuse into the field from the highway.

Fire officials said the rash of fires had destroyed 42 homes in Los Angeles and Ventura counties by late Tuesday Seventeen other structures were lost

There were reports of several small fires erupting throughout the area, but patrolling firemen were reported putting them out as fast as they occurred. Authorities said 1,100 fire fighters were on the lines Tuesday.

Ike's Ailment Not Cancer, Doctors Say

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army doctors reported today that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has a "benign (non-cancerous) enlargement of the prostate gland," but that surgery is not indicated at this time.

Doctors at Walter Reed Army Hospital said that Eisenhower had symptoms indicating a partial obstruction within his urinary tract system.

But they said his spirits are good and that he is "up and around and out of bed"

The doctors also said that it has not yet been determined how long Eisenhower will remain in the hospital He was admitted to the hospital Tuesday with his third illness in five months

U.S.S.R. Craft Drops Instruments on Venus

Soft Landing Is Reported By Russians

Temperature on Planet Placed at 104-536 Degrees

MOSCOW (AP) — The unmanned Soviet spacecraft Venus 4 flew into the atmosphere of cloud-shrouded Venus today and dropped an instrument package that transmitted data showing a temperature range from 104 to 536 degrees Fahrenheit, an announcement said. It reported the package made a soft landing by parachute.

The planet's atmospheric pressure varied from the equivalent of that of the earth to about 15 times as great, the announcement said.

"The measurements have shown that the atmosphere consists almost exclusively of carbon dioxide," it was added. "Hydrogen and vapors account for about 1½ per cent and no noticeable traces of nitrogen were detected."

Signals from the spacecraft's instruments were monitored in Britain for an hour and a half after they apparently landed on Venus.

The Soviet announcement, distributed by the Tass news agency, said the instruments "conducted continuous stable measurements and transmission to the earth of the parameters of the atmosphere for an hour and a half." It did not make clear what happened then or why the transmissions ended.

Venus 4 was reported to have entered the atmosphere of the planet at 12 34 a m. EDT.

'Started Descent'

"The scientific laboratory detached itself from the station"—meaning the 2,438-pound spacecraft—"and started its descent," Tass said

"After aerodynamic braking of the apparatus in the atmosphere, the automatic parachute system took over and it continued gradual descent in the atmosphere of Venus."

The announcement added that Venus 4 found "the absence of any noticeable magnetic field or radiation belts" around Venus.

"A weak hydrogen corona was detected," it said.

The end of the broacasting may have been due to melting of instruments in the heat.

The spacecraft was the fourth of its type to be sent by the Russians toward Venus, the earth's cloud-covered sister, since Feb. 12, 1961. The first two were wide of the mark. The third, bearing a Soviet pennant, was reported to have crashed on Venus March 1, 1966.

Another Pennant

Venus 4 carried another pennant with the coat of arms of the Soviet Union.

The Venus 4 findings were generally similar to those made by the first successful probe of the planet by U.S Mariner 2 which passed about 21,600 miles from Venus on Dec. 14, 1962.

Mariner 2 reported a temperature of about 800 degrees, compared with a maximum of 536 reported by Venus 4.

An explanation of the way the instrument package reached the surface of the planet suggested that the temperature variations occurred as the measuring de-

Mrs. Knowles' Redecoration Plans Again Run Into Snags

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The state architect has opposed Mrs. Warren P. Knowles' plans for the redecoration of the ornate reception room in the executive office of the state Capitol, but state planning for the job is proceeding.

Secretary of Administration Wayne McGown admitted today that Shinji Yamamoto, the state's architect, has opposed the plan but refused to make public a letter containing Yamamoto's criticisms of the project, pushed by the governor's wife

"Yes, Shinji was opposed to it. I was opposed to it, too at the start," said McGown when asked what Yamamoto had reported regarding the propriety of the project.

But McGown refused to release the letter, saying that it contains information regarding bids on the work, which are still out.

Mrs Knowles is an interior decorator in private life, affiliated with a New York firm. Last year she generated criticisms in the midst of a political campaign when she worked on a several-hundred-thousand-dollar renovation project of the state executive mansion. She completed the project despite the opposition

She has now turned her attentions on the ceremonial conference room in the executive office, which was constructed in 1917 as a copy of the council chamber in Doge's Palace in Venice, Italy. It is finished in Venetian Renaissance style and has wood paneling, painted brown

Backbone of Mrs. Knowles' project is a plan to paint the wood a light gray to match a large marble fireplace.

Opposition has sprung up within state departments among planners involved in the project, who argue that the room has a unique historic value as it is and that it should be preserved without change. Renovation should copy existing finishings, they say.

Tuesday the state Senate passed a bill backed by Mrs. Knowles which would create a state executive residence board to preserve in the future, the historic features of the remodeled mansion in the face of remodeling proposals.

McGown said that Mrs. Knowles had been involved in proposing the changes in the office but that the decision was his as secretary of administration. Four sources in his department said the decision was Mrs. Knowles'.

"This was in part decided on the advice of Mrs. Knowles, who is donating her services to the state," McGown said

"Sure, there is historic worth, but I think it is both her opinion as a professional interior decorator and my opinion . . . having read materials for what is authentic for this period of Italian Renaissance that it will work with a white background," he said.

"It meets what an interior decorator says will produce an attractive effect," McGown argued

Other state sources say the original council chamber of the Doge's Palace was finished in brown and painted at a later date. A white color in that room would not be authentic, they argue.

McGown was asked if he had consulted another interior decorator.

"No," he replied.

He was asked if he intends to consult another interior decorator.

"No," he replied.

He was asked if he had an interior decorator on his staff in the State Bureau of Engineering.

"No," he replied.

"I asked the same questions but when we went to the textbooks, it refers to this as authentic for the period," he said.

Would Follow Bombing Halt

Wilson-Kosygin Talks Hinted

LONDON (AP) — British Prime Minister Harold Wilson intends to seek Soviet support for new Vietnam peace moves if the United States suspends bombing of North Vietnam

Informed sources said Wilson may go to Moscow for talks with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin.

A hint of Wilson's approach emerged during an interview with The Associated Press when he said he was in close contact with Kosygin about chances of joint peacemaking action in Vietnam.

"We would be ready to try any time when we felt joint action on our part could help to bring the parties together," Wilson said.

An opportunity for joint action may arise next month. South Vietnam's president-elect Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, has said he would ask the United States after his inauguration Oct. 30 to stop bombing the Communist North for about a week in order to test Hanoi's willingness for peace talks.

Wilson would like a longer bombing pause—long enough to enable him to consult Kosygin in Moscow. He said in the interview he had no immediate plans to visit either Moscow or Washington but recalled he had arranged with Kosygin to travel to the Soviet capital "at an appropriate time."

The Soviet Union and Britain were cochairmen of the 1954 Geneva conference that ended the French Indochina war.

In answer to other questions on Vietnam in the interview marking the start of his fourth year in office, Wilson also said:

—Britain is against any invasion of North Vietnam. This is a possibility that British newspapers claim has been under serious study by President Johnson's administration.

—North Vietnam would not advance toward peace if it used any American bombing pause to build up its own power or increase military activity.

Convinced of Desire

—Wilson personally is "100 per cent convinced" of the American desire for peace in Vietnam.

—Preconditions for peace talks are an end of American bombing of the North and of Hanoi's backing for the Viet Cong.

Wilson's position on these matters has separated him from many in the Labor Party. Two weeks ago the Party's annual convention urged the British government to dissociate itself "from the policy of the U.S. government in Vietnam" and called for an American bombing halt "immediately, permanently and unconditionally."

Once More, Rockefeller Claims He Won't Run

ABOARD SS INDEPENDENCE (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York has made his strongest statement yet to kill off moves by party moderates to push him for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination.

"I do not want to be president," Rockefeller told reporters on the sun deck of this National Governors Conference cruise liner en route to the Virgin Islands.

Gov. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland, who has never wavered in his support of Rockefeller as the best candidate the GOP could nominate, said the New Yorker's disclaimer sounded "pretty definite."

"I'm convinced he won't run unless he is drafted," Agnew said. "If he were drafted, it would take a pretty emphatic did anybody ever hear of a genuine draft?"

"I am not a candidate," Rockefeller told newsmen Tuesday. individual to turn it down. But

Rockefeller

"I do not intend to be a candidate. I do not want to be president."

"Do you really mean it?" a reporter asked.

Humphrey to See Thieu Ceremonies

SAIGON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey is expected to head the U.S. delegation to the inauguration of Lt Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu as president of South Vietnam Oct. 30, reliable sources said today.

Dispatches from Washington said President Johnson had talked with Humphrey about the inauguration but the personnel of the American delegation had not been worked out.

Resumption of UW-GB Fight Greets Returning Legislators

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Shadowboxing over the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay broke out on the floor of the State Senate Tuesday as the Legislature settled into its recessed fall session.

But the big battle over the fate of the Northeastern Wisconsin campus is at least a week away, according to Senate sources.

Sen. Gerald Lorge, R-Bear Creek, lost in his attempt to push a bill which would require the State Building Commission to prepare and deliver a transcript of all meetings to all members of the Legislature.

Lorge denied the bill is related to the choice of a site in Green Bay as home of the planned UW branch campus, but was countered by Senate majority leader Jerris Leonard, R-Bayside, who called the measure "pure hate legislation."

The bill is one of several introduced in response to building commission actions in approving the Green Bay site selected and in preparing plans for the construction of the new school.

Power On Commission

Leonard is a building commission power and chairs its university affairs subcommittee, which has overseer the UW-GB development. Lorge is a leader of the forces opposing the present UW-GB site

Sen. Ernest Keppler, R-Sheboygan, attempted to push the bill which would require the provision of transcripts. The commission deals with important issues and large sums of state funds, he said. The bill would "keep the rest of us on the outside looking in aware of what is happening."

Sen. Robert Warren, R-Green Bay, pointed out that the bill would require the commission to keep more records than the regular minutes now taken, and could prevent the agency from lapsing into closed session to discuss some land purchases and legal matters as it is now allowed to do.

Lorge said the bill "has nothing to do with UW-GB. "As a member of the Legislature I want to know what is going on," he said.

But Leonard called it "pure hate legislation — and typical of such, as it is poorly drawn."

The bill was set aside, as the senate is attempting to pursue only non-controversial matters in its early days.

The Rogers bill, designed to change the site of the Green Bay campus, is not expected to be brought before the upper house until at least next week, in light of the attempt to hurry through the non-controversial matters.

Sessions Set To Begin After Funeral of Held

MADISON (AP) — The Wisconsin Legislature, rested from an 11-week summer recess, begins regular sessions today after the funeral of a fellow lawmaker.

Both houses delayed meeting until later in the day to allow members to attend the funeral of James Held, Republican assemblyman from Milwaukee

Held died Sunday night when his car crashed with a truck on a rain-swept freeway in Milwaukee.

Agree to Delays

No bills of importance are expected to be debated until later this week. The leaders of both parties have agreed to delay important matters until a huge backlog of minor proposals can be disposed of.

The Assembly took no action Tuesday. The Senate debated nearly 100 measures in four hours, but voted on less than half of them. Thirty-six minor bills were approved and eight were rejected.

The body was expected to spend most of Wednesday con-

Appleton Firm Will Move to Grand Chute

Pacon Corp. Plans $250,000 Plant, County Board Told

Pacon Corp., a paper converting company located at 415 S. Oneida St., Appleton, will move its operations to the Town of Grand Chute and build a new $250,000 plant.

The plans were revealed Tuesday morning when the Outagamie County Board was asked to rezone 35 acres of land fronting on Casaloma Drive and along the Chicago and North Western Railway tracks from agricultural to heavy industry.

The change was approved 43-2 with Supvs. Patrick Mares and Ralph Schwartz, both of Appleton, casting the dissenting votes. Mares said he was not objecting to the rezoning as such, but to the procedure. He said the county board should not have to be making constant changes in the zoning districts.

"We should make a plan and then live with it," he said.

Mares was referring to an objection to the rezoning filed by Paul Rieden, 2335 Casaloma Drive, who said that when he built his home a year ago he was assured the area would be developed residentially.

Gerald Van Hoof, president of Pacon Corp., said he did not believe the plant would lower residential values but would, instead, increase them because plant employes would probably seek to build in that area. He added that because the plant converted paper, there were no obnoxious odors or excessive noises connected with the operation.

Supv. Bernard Tillman, Grand Chute, chairman of the Board of Adjustment Zoning ordinance, told supervisors that if the land was not rezoned, the company would move to Winnebago County. It was later indicated the firm had looked at sites in the Town of Menasha.

The company employs about 70 people. Van Hoof said. At present they operate two shifts, but may reduce that to one shift with new machinery in the new plant to eliminate the objections to residential area traffic at night. The number of employes would remain the same, however.

No indication was given by Van Hoof when the firm intends to start construction.

CESA 7 Proposes 'Super' Merger Plan

Would Cut 25 Districts Down to 11

WAUPACA — A proposed master plan which would consolidate the school districts in Cooperative Education Service Agency No. 7 (CESA), reducing the number from 25 to 11, was released this week by the CESA No. 7 committee.

The plan would combine the Waupaca and Weyauwega districts; Manawa, Iola and Marion; Tigerton, Bowler, Wittenberg and Birnamwood, and Amherst, Almond and Plainfield. There would be several other consolidations in the central and western portions of CESA 7.

Leon Case, CESA coordinator, said the plan is not an official proposal, but is a recommendation of district combinations which may not come about for several years, and in some cases, never.

"The school committee is not taking a definite stand on the proposal and is open for any suggestions or recommendations about it," Case said.

First in State

It is believed this is the first such master plan prepared for a Wisconsin CESA district. Such a plan in CESA No. 7 may touch off a similar move in other districts, Case said.

The committee, which has been working on the master plan for the past 15 months and has attempted to group the districts so each has a solid tax base and a large enough enrollment to provide a good education for students, the coordinator said.

Case said the CESA committee is considering calling a meeting to obtain comments from districts involved in the plan.

Case said there is no reason why boundary lines can't be crossed to develop a good district by combining Weyauwega and Waupaca districts.

Building Separately

Late last year and early this year, Waupaca and Weyauwega had considered a possible merger, but talks were cut off when voters of the Weyauwega district voted at an annual meeting to go ahead on their own new building program instead of

Calumet Voters Quizzed

Electors Oppose Merger

CHILTON — The proposal to merge Outagamie, Calumet and Winnebago counties is "strongly opposed" by residents of Calumet County, according to a survey conducted by Assemblyman Gervase A. Hephner, D-Chilton.

"The initial result from the poll," Hephner said, "substantiates my feeling that the merger is strongly opposed by the people in my district."

Hephner is sending postcards to 400 residents in his district, asking whether they favor the tri-county merger and whether they favor a referendum on the issue.

The proposal to merge the three counties under one county administration has been made by Assembly Speaker Harold Froehlich, R-Appleton, and Assemblyman David Martin, R-Neenah.

"The persons who answered the poll," he said, "unanimously felt that the merger of the three counties shouldn't take place. Several commented on the fact that Calumet County residents shouldn't be saddled with the $8 million debt now held by Winnebago and Outagamie counties."

Noting that the Appleton City Council and the Winnebago and Calumet County boards have gone on record as opposed to the merger, Hephner added:

"We in the Legislature are supposed to represent the views of our constituents. If the members of the legislature vote the way their constituents obviously want them to," he said, "the tri-county merger proposal will not be accepted this session."

County Okays Airport Sale After Heated Board Debate

Attempts for Delay Defeated; City to Pay $2,700 Per Acre

Sale of the old Outagamie County Airport land to the City of Appleton was approved by the county board but not before some two hours of debate which occasionally ended in shouting matches Tuesday afternoon.

The vote was 32-11 after efforts to hold off a decision until November and to amend the original resolution were defeated.

Appleton will pay the county $2,700 per acre for the 153-acre site on a 10-year land contract at 4 per cent annual interest on the unpaid balance.

Opposition to the sale was led by supervisors Russell DeLa Hunt, Kaukauna, Joseph De Bruin, Town of Buchanan, and G. Allen Buboltz, Appleton.

An effort by Supv. George Kroes, Town of Vandenbrock, to have only half of the land sold lost in a voice vote. DeLaHunt then sought to amend the resolution to sell only 50 acres of the site.

Argued Procedure

After a procedural argument over whether the amendment was out of order, Board Chairman Sylvester Esler, Appleton, ordered the amendment put to a roll call vote and it was defeated, 28-16. Supv. Merritt Kavanough, Kaukauna, sought to have the issue laid over until Nov. 6 but that also was voted down.

"No" votes on selling the land came from Supvs. Buboltz, Appleton, DeBruin, Town of Buchanan, DeLaHunt, Kaukauna, Hilet, Appleton, Kroes, Town of Vandenbrock; Leny, Kimberly; Mares, Appleton, Schreiter, Appleton, Schwartz, Appleton Spierings, Little Chute, Welch, Appleton, and Weyenberg, Kimberly.

DeBruin and DeLaHunt led the fight to have the airport site reserved for a future complex of county buildings. He said the courthouse could not be expanded in its present location and the various departments needed more space.

"The best way to expand is on the 153 acres," he said.

DeBruin said he was speaking of 20 years in the future when the county may also be considering such things as a convention center.

Esler, stepping down from the presiding chair, disputed DeBruin's contention and made a plea to the board to cooperate with the city. He said a 1963 survey indicated the present courthouse would be adequate for another 20 years.

"Not one office is crowded," he said.

He added that the biggest problem is parking but indicated this would be alleviated because the Social Services Department would soon be moving to a new facility, releasing both room and parking space.

Don't Need Courthouse

"We absolutely do not need a new courthouse," Esler stated. "The city is our biggest partner. We must work with the city. We had reason to turn down their request for $100,000 (for College Avenue) but not for this. If the city does not have land for industrial expansion it is not their fault, but ours," the board chairman said.

Supv. Andrew Jimos, Appleton, said if the county wanted to build new facilities it could do so on county land at the county

Among the sample codes were the National Building Code and Firemen's code.

Leonard Wayman, representing the architectural firm, offered to meet with the council and discuss the codes. The matter was turned over to the public affairs committee.

In other business councilmen were urged to attend conventions which include the League of Municipalities annual assessors institute Nov. 6 through 8 at Milwaukee and the Wisconsin Park and Recreation convention at Oshkosh Nov. 1 through 3.

Several orders of unfinished business will be taken up at a special meeting Monday.

Brillion Nears Completion of Funds Request

HUD Official to Meet With City On Urban Renewal

BRILLION — Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) officials and representatives of the city planners Candeub, Fleissig and Associates, will be here Thursday to complete the city's application seeking federal funds for urban renewal.

Areas to be included in urban renewal and designation of the estimated 70 substandard buildings should also be finalized.

Few cities in the United States with populations under 8,000 (Brillion has 2,000) have been awarded funds for urban renewal and only three cities in Wisconsin have been recipients.

City officials and planning firm personnel are optimistic that Brillion can secure aid. The anticipated federal funds, totaling $538,525 and approved by HUD in March, will be used to finance construction of 32 apartment units and a community building for the elderly.

In June the city authorized $3,000 to pay for the survey and planning application which will be completed Thursday. Preliminary work on the detailed forms was done by Candeub, Fleissig and Associates.

Almond Motorist Pleads Innocent

WAUPACA — LeRoy R. Clinton 41, Almond who was arrested Tuesday morning by Waupaca police, pleaded innocent when he was arraigned in Municipal Justice Court later Tuesday on a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicants.

His trial was set for 2 p.m. Oct. 24. Clinton was released after posting a $175 bond.

VTE-12 to Survey Area High Schools

Vocational Directors Will Study Facilities, Needs in 25 Districts

Directors of area vocational schools will play an important role in drawing together the outlying portions of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education District 12 (VTE-12).

As part of the effort to develop a total district curriculum, there will be a survey of each high school included in the 25 school districts which make up VTE-12.

James Malotke, director of the Neenah Vocational and Adult School, and Giles Woolf, director of the Menasha Vocational School, will soon begin working with their assigned area schools to gather facts and disseminate information on the district's present program.

Divide Responsibility

Woolf will be responsible for Menasha, Clintonville, Bear Creek, Iola-Scandinavia, Little Wolf and Marion. Malotke's assignment includes Neenah, Waupaca and Weyauwega.

To aid in the effort to include all parts of the district in vocational and technical education programs, they will help establish advisory committees in each district.

Their job will be to talk with the school superintendent in each district, determine what vocational evening school programs are now in operation, and the facilities which are used or are available and the needs for vocational programs in each community. Where night vocational programs are now in operation, or where there is vocational certification for a teacher, available teaching staff also will be determined by the directors.

Each advisory committee will include the superintendent, the mayor, village president or town chairman, and representatives of industry, agriculture and business.

Directors also will gather information on the day school programs now being offered by VTE-12 at the Appleton and Oshkosh schools.

Assume Costs

For the first time, many areas in VTE 12 are assuming a portion of the vocational costs and in all areas costs have at least doubled for 1968 with the VTE-12 approved budget of $2.8 million.

Area Director William Sirek has said he feels certain that when the directors of the present vocational schools are able to explain District 12 plans more fully, the citizens and taxpayers will see the benefits to be gained now and in the long-range planning.

In addition to the Neenah and Menasha directors' assignments, Dominic Bordini, director of the Kaukauna Vocational School will be contacting the superintendents in Kaukauna, Chilton, Little Chute, Brillion, Hilbert, Stockbridge, Kimberly, Freedom and Seymour. Milton Ness, director of the Appleton Vocational, Technical and Adult School will represent the district in Appleton, Hortonville, New London and Shiocton.

Oshkosh, Omro and Winneconne school districts are the responsibility of Director Curtis Gehling, Oshkosh Technical and Adult School.

The police escort was requested by the State Selective Service Office to avert any possible demonstration similar to those occurring throughout the nation.

If Facility Is Built

Park Available to School

NEW LONDON — The City Council authorized the school district Tuesday to use Hatten Park if an elementary school is built near the park.

Council members breezed through a short agenda Tuesday completing their business by 9 p.m. The request to use the park for special activities and field trips drew most council interest because of prospective building plans for the school and the site location.

A site of about six acres located about three blocks south of the senior high school on Werner-Allen road is being proposed as the most suitable location.

Supt. H. James Ramsdell presented the school board request to the council. He said a State Department of Public Instruction representative had recommended the site be used if Hatten Park facilities were available for special physical education activities and field trips. Ramsdell said the main playground area would be on the school site and the park would only be used on special occasions.

Questions Location

Ald. Matt Burton (5th) questioned the location of the proposed school. Burton said his main objection was that many small children in his ward would have a long distance to walk to school.

Ramsdell explained that the city had traditionally been split into north-south divisions with children north of the Wolf River attending school at McKinley and most of the children south of the river attending Lincoln School.

With a shift in the population center of the school age children and the vast development of the south side of the river, east and west division lines are more realistic now and should be in the immediate future, Ramsdell said.

Ramsdell said the annual school census taken of all children, aged 1 to 19 showed that over the past four years the largest grouping of children was in the south-central part of the city, which would be about midway between the Lincoln School and the proposed school site.

Walk Farther Now

The superintendent explained that many children living in the south side presently walked farther to attend school now, than they will have to if the new site is approved by the board.

While the district has a 1½ mile run in effect for bus transportation of children, exceptions are made in cases of danger to young children, he said.

The council also approved a planning commission recommendation to vacate the eastern end of North Street. The 60 by 120 foot piece of land has never been developed as a street. It is located east of Shawano Street, but is about 50 feet from adjoining Pfeifer Park.

Preparation of plans for storm sewers in the southeast part of the city was authorized by the council. Ray Pelishek, public works director, said the area to be serviced was located east of Algoma Street and at present only about 2½ blocks in this area had storm sewers.

He estimated the cost of the project at $200,000 to $250,000.

New ShopKo Will Open On Thursday

MENASHA — The 100,000 square foot ShopKo Discount Department Store, located on State 47 at Valley Road in the Town of Menasha, will open for business at 1 p.m. Thursday.

Construction began on the one-story brick and block building in late April.

It marks the fifth ShopKo store in Northeastern Wisconsin. The company also operates the Copp's stores in Oshkosh and Manitowoc and two ShopKo stores in Green Bay.

New Zoning Code Aired at Waupaca Council Hearing

Aldermen Also Approve Water Main Extension on Evan Street

WAUPACA — Public hearings were conducted Tuesday on a new city zoning ordinance, which has been in the making for several months, and on the extension of a water main on Evan Street.

The zoning ordinance, basically the same as the old law, but with some additions, will be published and then go to the council for approval. Copies of the ordinance are available at the city clerk's office.

The only part questioned was the section which requires a 25-foot setback from the street for heavy industrial buildings. It was explained that this provision was included to eliminate traffic obstacles created by trucks loading and unloading.

New Sections

New sections are those covering single and two-family residences. Prior to this the city did not have a two-family district: a planned commercial district for the development of any new commercial complexes: mobile home parks: a section which covers building on agricultural land: resource conservation district and extra territorial zoning.

At the Evans Street water extension hearing objections were raised by several property owners after the plan was cut to provide service for only five properties instead of the 15 which was originally proposed.

Some property owners objected because of the large assessment that would be levied against their property. Assessments ranged from $242 to $3,135.

If the amended plan is approved by the state, the new water extension will provide service for Frank Cary, Harley Hoppe, Fred Mannel, Ed Neusen and Edwin Schoohs.

In addition to the proposed water main extending the full length of Evans Street it was recommended that it connect with a main on the north side of the Crystal River on Berlin Street.

Along with shortening the proposed extension, the board of public works recommended that the assessment for Schoohs, who owns 1,067 feet of property on the south side of Evans Street, be deferred 10 years or until the land is developed. Schoohs' assessment would have been $3,040.

At the regular city council meeting, Mayor Lloyd Matheson read a new armory rental lease between the city and the National Guard. The lease, which can be renewed annually to 1970, is for $4,400 and basically the same as the current agreement. The present lease expires Dec. 31. The lease can be broken by either the city or the National Guard on a 30-day notice. Aldermen were told by Matheson to study the lease before making a final decision.

Before adjourning, Matheson informed members and department heads to have their budgets completed by Nov. 1. He also instructed the council to make an effort to take considerable time in preparing the city recreation budget and make an attempt to revamp the recreation program so that a full-time recreation director can be hired without raising the current budget. "If all recreation departments are put under one head with good management it should be possible to have a full-time director without spending any more money," Matheson said.

Federal Grant For Airport Is Accepted

Decision on Use, Matching Funds Still Not Made

Supervisors agreed, with some reluctance, to accept a $143,000 federal grant for projects at the Outagamie County Airport without going into what projects the grant covered or deciding whether the county would put up the required matching funds.

The grant, which would cover proposed runway work announced two months ago, required formal acceptance by the county and designation of the state aeronautics commission as the county's agent in handling the funds.

The required resolution was passed 40-1 Tuesday afternoon with three supervisors abstaining from voting. Supv. Carl Runte, Kaukauna, cast the lone dissenting vote while Supvs. Henry Breiting, New London, Joseph DeBruin, Town of Buchanan, and Merritt Kavanaugh, Kaukauna, abstained.

Refused To Act

DeBruin said he refused to act on the lengthy resolution, which was reecived by the county Monday from the state, until he had a copy of it to study.

Supvs. Patrick Mares and Eugene Kloes, Appleton, questioned whether passing the resolution would commit the county to spending $265,000 which had been mentioned at the September meeting of the board.

Airport Committee Chairman Paul Kostka, Little Chute, said the resolution committed the county to only acceptance of the grant.

Sought To Outline

Kostka sought to outline development plans for the airport but Board Chairman Sylvester Esler stopped him and told the board to "trust the Airport Committee" until the November session of the board when complete airport plans would be ready.

A move by DeBruin to have the resolution held over until Nov. 6 was defeated after County Corporation Counsel A. W. Ponath said he did not know if the delay would jeopardize the county's chances for the grant.

He confirmed Kostka's explanation that passing the resolution would not bind the county to spending any money.

County Okays Airport Sale

hospital. This was supported by Supv. Herbert Helble, Appleton.

"Give Appleton a chance to develop its tax base. If Appleton prospers, the county also prospers," he said.

Bubolz asked that the sale be held up so there could be adequate planning. This is a good example of "crisis planning," he said. He urged that a special planning committee be created to decide what best can be done with the land.

Supv. Eugene Kloes, Appleton, reminded the board that the county had originally hoped to get about $500,000 out of the old airport when it built the new facility. This is approximately the figure the county will realize in the sale of the property.

Appleton Paid Half

"The new airport has cost money," Kloes said. "Appleton has paid half of that and this is the only reason this land is available for sale."

Supv. Bernard Tillman, Town of Grand Chute, concurred. "The idea was to sell the land when we built the new airport," he said.

DeLaHunt charged th at action on the resolution was "timed so opponents of the sale could not appear before the board."

Seymour Supv. Marvin told the supervisors "to act like men." He said he was "amazed at the frustration of the board. You are afraid of every committee. The city, the biggest taxpayer in the county, has made an offer. It has been reported. If you don't want to sell, vote no."

Appleton Mayor George Buckley, who was invited to appear before the board over the objections of several supervisors, said it was not the intention of the city to take the time of the board to explain its need. "The city is desperate for this property for industrial expansion," he said.

He later thanked the supervisors who voted for the sale for "their wisdom."

Bill Would Change Time Polls Close

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — All polls in the state will close at 8 p.m. on election days if a bill passed Tuesday by the state Senate is signed into law by Gov. Warren P. Knowles.

The bill, sponsored by Assemblyman Jack Steinhilber, R-Oshkosh, removes an optional clause from state statutes which allows fourth class cities and towns and villages to close their voting places at 5:30 p.m. on election day.

Under the Steinhilber plan, previously passed by the Assembly, all polls in the state will close at 8 p.m., although opening times can vary from 7:30 to 9 a.m.

The proposal, which was forwarded to the governor, is an attempt to unify election practices and to foil electronic vote predictions which have been made while some voting places within the state are still open.

Using computers, some election forecasters have tried to predict state results on the basis of the early-closing polls under the optional plan.

The bill was approved on a voice vote.

Family of 10 May Rebuild Burned Greenville Home

A Town of Greenville man said Wednesday he may rebuild the two-story home that he, his wife and their 10 children lived in until fire destroyed it Saturday.

Pledged Aid

Harlan Verhagen said he and his family is staying with relatives in Kimberly, Kaukauna and Appleton. No cost estimate has been made on the fire that destroyed their home on U.S. 10, about two miles west of Appleton.

In the meantime, co-workers at Consolidated Papers Inc., where Verhagan works as a painter, have pledged to assist Verhagen and his family.

"We've raised about $85," said one of the workers Wednesday morning, "and we should have between $150-$200 before we're through."

Verhagen, who was building an addition to the home when the fire occurred, said he had some insurance on the building. He said he will wait for an appraiser's estimate on costs before he decides whether to rebuild on the present site.

Fire broke out in the upstairs of the home about 8 p.m. Saturday, while the family was downstairs watching television.

"We don't know what caused the fire," Verhagen said, "but fire officials assumed it was faulty wiring."

CESA 7 Proposes Super Merger Plan

joining Waupaca. Both Waupaca and Weyauwega are now developing separate building programs.

Total valuations of the proposed reorganized districts would range from $289 million in the Wausau area to $33 million in the Birnamwood, Bowler, Tigerton and Wittenberg area. The Waupaca-Weyauwega district would have a valuation of $72 million and the Iola-Manawa-Marion district would have a $45 million valuation.

Enrollments would range from 9,389 in the Wausau district to $1,555 in the Mosinee district. Waupaca-Weyauwega would have a total enrollment of 2,963; Iola-Manawa-Marion, 2,672, and the Birnamwod - Tigerton - Wittenberg district, 2,688.

Need Schools

At one time there was talk of merger discussions between Manawa and Iola but they never materialized and now Manawa also is embarking on a building program.

In the Birnamwood - Wittenberg - Bowler - Tigerton district merger talks now are underway, Case said at a recent meeting in Birnamwood the proposal was warmly accepted.

It is impossible to come up with a high valuation for every district, or an ideal enrollment, Case said, but every effort was made in preparing the plan to make it as equitable as possible.

The committee will now wait and see what develops in the individual district of CESA No. 7. Case said it will be willing to work with any board of educaton or group of boards in an attempt to provide better education for the students.

Youth Center Gets Three $1,000 Gifts

Construction Made Possible By Waupaca Industries, Lions

WAUPACA — The Waupaca Youth Center fund received a big boost Monday when three $1,000 donations pushed the total to almost $10,000.

The donations were from the Waupaca Foundry, Filter Materials, and Lions Club.

The Waupaca Foundry $1,000 check raises the company's total donations to $3,000.

The fund should now allow construction to begin, a Youth Center committeeman said. The building, to be built on the city-owned parking lot at W. Fulton and Washington streets, is expected to cost about $35,000.

Plans for the one-story building are being prepared by designer John Morgan. Upon their completion, bids on construction will be let by the committee.

Besides donations already received, Fred Rasmussen, drive treasurer, said pledges have been received from several organizations and individuals. Many of the civic organizations have made pledges over a three-year period, he added.

City officials have approved borrowing the balance and have arranged to repay this with future donations.

The building will be owned by Waupaca, but a committeeman said fund-raising programs by the city's youth should make the operation nearly self-supporting.

Donations Add $1,500 to Fund

WAUPACA — Two more sizable contributions have carried the Waupaca Youth Center building fund close to the $12,000 mark, which means building can begin as soon as plans are completed.

Latest donations were $1,000 from the Fire Department and $500 from Woody's Cheese Co.

Punt, Pass, Kick Winners Named For Waupaca

WAUPACA — Boys from Amherst, Weyauwega, Scandinavia and Waupaca, won first place in the Punt, Pass and Kick Contest staged here, Oct. 7 and 14.

Rain forced postponement of the contest before it could be completed and two of the age groups competed Saturday.

First place winners were Matt Redman, 13, Weyauwega; Peter Petersen, 12, Amherst; Jeff Keehler, 11, Scandinavia; Mitchell Bergen, 10, Waupaca; Wade Chalstrom, 9, Waupaca, and Tedd Kadolph, 8, Weyauwega.

A total of 85 area boys, ages of 8 to 13, participated. Jaycees conducted the contest.

Three $1,000 Checks received this week boosted the Waupaca Youth Center fund to the point where work can now start on the new youth center building. The fund was swelled to nearly $10,000 when $1,000 donations were made by the Waupaca Foundry, Filter Materials and the Waupaca Lions Club. Glass Fab to Build Addition In New London

$30,000 Structure Will House New Vacuum Type Press

NEW LONDON — Ground was broken Tuesday afternoon at Glass Fab, Inc., for a 5,000 square foot addition which will increase the young company's production and open a new field of manufacturing for the fiberglass products plant.

The 50 by 100-foot addition is estimated to cost $30,000. While it will provide docking, some warehousing and a finishing area for the fiberglass operation, the most important factor will be the installation of a new vacuum forming press.

Barry S. Hammerberg, vice president of manufacturing, said the new press is one of the largest in the Midwest. Paul F. Kampe, president, said it would permit diversification.

Hammerberg said the press could perform any of 17 combinations of forming processes on a thermo-plastic sheet.

The vice president said the new raw material comes in the form of solid-colored plastic sheets which are shaped by the press. The company presently is working with liquids and using fiber-glass reinforcement.

Increase Production

An increase in the volume of production — a step toward automated production — will be made possible by the new process, Hammerberg said.

Hammerberg said the new equipment was expected to be in operation by mid-January.

Glass Fab moved into its $100,000 facility on Beckert Road late in 1966 after locating in New London in June 1965. Better New London, Inc., (BNL), a corporation of New London Industrial Opportunities, Inc., city industrial promotion group, was formed to act as owner of the plant under a lease-purchase agreement with Glass Fab.

BNL sold a $30,000 debenture bond issue to finance the project last year. The expansion is being backed by BNL and the First State Bank, New London.

With the completion of the new addition, Glass Fab will have an 18,000 square foot operation.

'Wega, 'Paca Duel

3-Way Tie for Lead Possible in CW Loop

CENTRAL WIS. CONFERENCE

Waupaca	2	0	Manawa	1	2
Wittenberg	2	0	Marion	0	3
Weyauwega	1	1

Iola-Scandinavia at Marion.
Wittenberg at Manawa.
Weyauwega at Waupaca.

A 3-way deadlock for first place could result in the Central Wisconsin Conference football race this weekend, if a pair of clubs can spring upsets on co-leaders Waupaca and Wittenberg.

Weyauwega and Manawa, teams up and down during the season, will try to muscle in on the title picture when all CW schools will see action Friday night.

Coach Wayne Hoffman's Indians, who blanked Manawa, 18-0, last week despite losing in most categories of statistics, have the task of over-turning front-running Waupaca in the Comets' back yard. Waupaca, too, just might be ripe for the plucking after absorbing a 32-0 lacing from non-conference foe Luxemburg-Casco.

Manawa is in a different position. Ken Biegel's Wolves look to bounce back from a frustrating loss, where they outgained the opposition, 285 yards to 85 (10 on the ground) but also committed one crucial fumble and had a long pass interception run back against them.

Relegated to Spoilers

The Wolves can only act as spoilers in the league chase now, and will be trying to ruin Wittenberg's bid for a championship on the Manawa field.

If both Waupaca and Wittenberg should come through with victories, the league crown will be decided the following Friday when the Comets invade Wildcat territory.

Marion, the only team without a win in league play, garnered its first season triumph last week by getting past Amherst, 7-0, despite the loss of 11 players from the team during the week.

The Mustangs have another non-conference foe to meet Friday, as they meet Iola-Scandinavia. The Thunderbirds, like Amherst, are playing foobtall in the Central C Conference but will return to the CW for basketball.

Manawa High Plans Parents' Open House

MANAWA — An open house for parents and friends of high school students will be conducted at 7:45 p.m. Monday. The event will begin in the gymnasium where parents will be given a schedule of their youngsters' classes. They will then follow the schedule and instructors will briefly explain the year's program.

After the program, parents and teachers will meet in the home economics room for a social gathering.

Halden Keffer Hartline George Wald Ragnar Granit

Two Americans, Swede Share Nobel Prize for Eye Research

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Two Americans and a Swede were jointly awarded the Nobel Prize for physiology or medicine today for their investigations into the mechanics that makes the human eye see.

They are Haldan Keffer Hartline of New York, George Wald of Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass., and Ragnar Granit of Sweden.

The three scientists were cited by the awarding Royal Caroline Institute medical faculty for "their discoveries concerning the primary chemical and physiological visual processes in the eye."

The prize sum this year amounts to $62,000 to be shared equally among the trio.

Hartline, 63, who studied medicine at Johns Hopkins University of Baltimore, currently works at the Rockefeller Institute of New York City. He was head of the Johns Hopkins department of biophysics 1949-53 before joining the Rockefeller Institute.

Wald, 60, who is one of the world's greatest authorities on the biochemistry of perception, has been professor of biology at Harvard since 1948. Earlier he studied at Columbia University in New York and, like Hartline, in Germany before the war. He received the Lasker Prize in 1953 and the Rumford Medal in 1959 for his biochemical researches

Educated in U.S.

Granit '67 started a medical career after being graduated in 1927. As assistant professor of physiology, he obtained a research fellowship at Pennsylvania University where he worked at the same institution as Hartline in 1929-31.

In 1937 Granit was appointed professor of physiology at the University of Helsinki. He joined the Caroline Institute here in 1940 as research professor in neurophysiology.

Their discoveries have supplied answers to questions of fundamental importance for the understanding of visual perception. They explain partly the excitation of sensory cells—rods dan cones — when influenced by light, and partly the data processing of sensory cells with the network of the retina, connecting the sensory cells with the optic nerve fibres leading to the brain.

The discoveries thus have given information about the physiological base for the eye for perception of light, its intensity, form, color and movement.

'Dump LBJ' Move Sputtering

NEW YORK (AP) — Groups of Democrats who oppose President Johnson's policies in Vietnam are organizing in a number of states to drop him in 1968 and to nominate a Democrat pledged to end the war.

Some have a candidate—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York. For 13 months, Kennedy has consistently disavowed their efforts.

All have an issue—the war and what they feel are its adverse effects on the progress of domestic programs.

The numerical strength of the anti-Johnson movement, and its ability to obtain financing, is difficult to determine at this stage.

6,000 Members

Dr. Martin Shepard, national cochairman of the Citizens For Kennedy in '68, said recently that this group has some 6,000 members in 50 chapters in the country. At a convention of "stop Johnson Democrats in Pittsburgh, Shepard said drives have begun in California, Illinois, New York, Oregon, New Hampshire, Utah, Nevada, Colorado, Washington, South Dakota and the District of Columbia.

In a number of states, the dissident Democrats say they plan to enter a slate of anti-Johnson candidates for delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

The California Democratic Council, (CDC), with 33,000 volunteer members, formally launched such a drive in late September. The CDC specified that its delegates must advocate "an immediate cessation of the bombing of Vietnam, negotiations—including participants—for settlement of the war so that American armed forces may be withdrawn, and international guarantees of non-intervention in Vietnam."

All Top Democrats

This slate would be opposed on the ballot by pro-Johnson candidates who include all the top California Democrats.

In New York, the newly organized Coalition for a Democratic Alternative, teaming with the pro-Kennedy group, said they plan to run slates of anti-Johnson delegates in the 1968 primary in at least 20 of the state's 41 congressional districts.

In Seattle, a loosely organized group calling itself "Washington Citizens for Kennedy-'68" says it is starting at precinct levels to elect convention delegates supporting the senator.

Wisconsin Law

A new law in Wisconsin permits voters to mark "yes" or "no" opposite the name of a candidate if he is alone on the ballot. If more than one name appears, the ballot leaves space to note that the voter favors "none of the names shown."

A new group, taking the name, "Concerned Wisconsin Democrats," will attempt to defeat Johnson in the primary, April 2.

"Johnson has become a symbol of our policy in Vietnam," said Donald O. Peterson of Eau Claire, chairman of the organization. He said he had been a supporter of Johnson until this past summer. But as of last June, Peterson said. "There already were people at Democratic meetings in rural areas who would stand up and declare they would vote against the President."

First Primary

The New Hampshire primary, March 12, is the nation's first presidential test and therefore attracts attention disproportionate to the size of the vote. A pro-Kennedy campaign headquarters was opened in Franklin last Sunday by the city's former mayor, Eugene Daniell Jr. He said a pro-Kennedy slate would be entered to oppose the slate supporting Johnson in the primary.

Daniell said a Kennedy victory in the election would "persuade" Johnson to take himself out of the race, adding, "If this campaign is successful, we are going to make the job of running for president by Johnson considerably less attractive." Zolton Ferency, Michigan Democratic chairman, says the most likely candidate to replace President Johnson at the head of the Democratic ticket would be one of the President's Senate critics.

"But at present we have no possibilities on the horizon," Ferency said. He said Johnson's unpopularity could spell trouble for the entire ticket in next year's election.

'Better Believe'

In an assessment of the party's chances in 1968, Ferency accused national party leaders of having decided that "they will name the ticket and write the platform and everybody had better become believers."

In Minnesota, a new group called "Dissident Democrats" is seeking to raise funds for newspaper advertisements that will urge Johnson not to run. "Montana Dissenting Democrats," another new organization, recently placed a newspaper advertisement which said, "Are you a Dissenting Democrat? Do you oppose the war in Vietnam and want to do something meaningful about it?" It urged the reader to write to the organization's post office address.

Charles O. Porter, Oregon national co-chairman of the Citizens For Kennedy '68 group, said he assumes the senator's name will be entered in the state primary by the secretary of state. If Kennedy has it removed by formal action, Porter said, "We will file a stand-in." Oregon law permits a candidate to have a 20-word slogan on the ballot beside his name and Porter said it would be clear that the "stand-in" would be standing in for Kennedy.

Johnson's supporters generally minimize the potency of the movement to dump him. "They will not be large in numbers," said John Burns, New York State Democratic Committee Chairman. "All the major party leaders will be working hard for Johnson's re-election."

Soviet Craft Drops Package Onto Venus

vices got closer to Venus, but this was unclear.

The explanation said the instrument package was jettisoned from Venus 4 after its four-month ride from earth.

Heavy Atmosphere

Measuring instruments took readings as the device "was making a distance of 15.5 miles for 1½ hours," the explanation said. This suggested that in Venus's heavy atmosphere, it took the parachuted package that long to float down—an average speed of 10 miles an hour.

Radio transmissions from Venus 4 monitored at Britain's Jodrell Bank Observatory stopped at 12:38 a.m. EDT, believed the moment when the craft hit the planet's surface. Fifteen seconds later the observatory picked up new signals, fainter and different in tone.

"This is tremendous, amazing," Sir Bernard Lovell, Lodrell Bank's director said. "The signals we are now receiving are coming from the surface of the planet Venus. It seems that the Russians know for the first time what the surface of Venus is like."

Loan Gives Substantial Return After 44 Years

BUFFALO, Wyo. (AP) — In 1923, Carl Kaltenbach loaned a man $10 when he lived in Midwest, Wyo.

Recently the man walked up to Kaltenbach on a Buffalo street and repaid the $10—plus $5 for interest.

U.S. Suffers Heavy Losses

nies of the Big Red One—about 400 men—and a headquarters command element ran into troops of the elusive main-force 271st Viet Cong Regiment they had been tracking in Operation Shenandoah II for three weeks. The 2,500-man regiment had been heavily seeded with an estimated 75 per cent North Vietnamese since 1st Division troops badly bloodied it in fighting last spring.

Enemy Ready

In three weeks of sparring in the sweltering, rainswept forests the Americans killed 156 Communists and lost 15 dead but failed to bring the enemy to bay. The Red ambush Tuesday indicated the reinforced Communist forces may be ready once again to meet large American units head on.

"They were set up and waiting just like a cat getting ready to jump and that's what they did," said 1st Sgt. Jose A. Valdez, 35, of Velarde, N.M.

Advance elements of the U.S force ran into withering small arms and automatic weapons fire from the waiting enemy. Reinforcements were lifted in by helicopter and before the day was over four American companies, some 800 men, were in the fight.

The U S force also called in heavy artillery barrages; 105mm howitzers pumped some 5,000 rounds at the enemy and 155mm guns unloading 900 rounds more.

U.S officers said most of the casualties were taken in an initial "flash fight" that lasted 75 minutes. But fighting continued intermittently throughout the day and broke off only at nightfall when the Communist force melted into the jungle and heavy growth.

U.S. Air Force tactical bombers flew 47 strike sorties in support of the embattled ground troops.

Legislature Begins Its Fall Session

tinuing to weed out the bills of a non-controversial nature.

Majority Leader Jerris Leonard, R-Bayside, said he hoped the Legislature could end its fall meeting by Nov. 17. But most of the members predicted a session lasting into December.

Leonard said he and minority leader Fred Risser, D-Madison, have agreed to keep the upper house in session each day from 11 a.m. until 7 p.m., without the usual breaks for caucuses. He asked the members to keep debate on bills brief.

Bills Approved

Among the bills approved Tuesday were measures to:

—Force dentists and hospital administrators to report suspected cases of child abuse to police or welfare authorities.

—Require yearly re-evaluation of mental patients confined against their will to assure earliest possible release.

—Appropriate $500 to operate a nine-member panel charged with maintaining and decorating the governor's executive mansion in Madison.

China's Last Emperor, Japanese Puppet, Dies

Henry Pu Yi Had Abdicated at 6 After Revolution

TOKYO (AP) — Henry Pu Yi, last emperor of China and Japan's puppet emperor of Manchukuo, died Tuesday in Peking of complications resulting from cancer, a Japanese newspaper reported today. He was 61.

Born in Peking in 1906, Pu Yi became emperor under the title of Hsuan Tung when he was two years old. He succeeded his uncle, Emperor Kuang Hsu.

The Ching dynasty ended when Pu Yi abdicated in 1912 at the age of six, after the Chinese republican revolution succeeded.

The Japanese later made him emperor of the puppet state of Manchukuo they created in northeast China.

The correspondent did not give the source of his information.

Pu Yi was sent to Manchuria by the Japanese after they conquered Northeast China in 1931. In March 1934 he was enthroned as Emperor Kang Teh of Manchukuo.

After Japan's defeat in World War II, Pu Yi was captured by the Russians in August 1945 and kept in Siberia until 1956. That year he was sent to Peking and turned over to the Chinese Communists.

On Dec. 4, 1959, the Supreme People's Court announced he had been pardoned after having "repented and acknowledged his crimes against the Chinese people."

Policy Contradicts LBJ's Official Line

U. S. Officials in Saigon Want Negotiation Statements Ended

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

SAIGON — Top U. S. officials here are moving hard toward a basic policy position on negotiations to end the war that flatly contradicts the official line in Washington.

In brief, they wish President Johnson and his advisers would stop all talk about how desperately Washington wants to bring Hanoi to the negotiating table.

There are two rather obvious reasons for this, and one not so obvious. As for the obvious reasons, the men who are running the show out here are convinced that every public appeal for negotiations that comes from the White House or the State Department strengthens the hand of Ho Chi Minh.

"It's like telling your real estate man that your wife will just die if she doesn't get that house on the corner," a cold war strategist told us. "That is guaranteed to raise the price of the house on the spot."

The second obvious reason is that the President's repetitive appeals for talks distract and hamper the fighting men who wonder why they should be so eager to fight when the politicians are so eager to talk. But the third reason, the one that is not so obvious, is more basic than both these put together.

A major part of the negotiations mania in Washington is the hope that somehow the National Liberation Front of South Vietnam can be broken up and divided and that "Southern elements" in the front, alleged to be jealous of Northern influence, will make a bid for negotiations with Saigon.

High Quarters

Although this subject is treated in Washington with the caution of a surgeon doing a lobotomy, the hope that it will happen is held in very high quarters. Thus, the talk about negotiations with Hanoi is part and parcel of the hope that the NLF can be subverted, that anti-Hanoi dissidents within the NLF can be wooed away, and that this fracture of Ho Chi Minh's North-South axis will hasten negotiations.

Just how preposterous this hope is can now be explained by the results of an extraordinary interview conducted by U. S. officials with a captured official of the Communist Party of South Vietnam — formally styled the People's Revolutionary Party (PRP)

The National Liberation Front is usually referred to both as the political arm of the Vietcong guerrilla fighters and the spokesman and top-level agent for the PRP.

This fiction was laid bare by the captured official of the PRP, who documented the interlocking relationship between the supposedly autonomous Front, the PRP and the Communist Party of North Vietnam, called the Lao Dong party.

In brief, no important decision of any kind, except for local military tactics, can be made either by the NLF or the PRP without first submitting the problem to Hanoi and the central committee of the Lao Dong party.

Specifically, the Southern party and its National Liberation Front are positively barred from any independent action at all in the most significant areas of policy and decision. "Political matters are the property of the Lao Dong headquarters," the captured official disclosed. He ticked off the following: the nature of the war, the relationship of military to political activity, the question of negotiations.

"There are also other subjects, such as diplomatic relations, which the central committee of the PRP isn't able to handle itself and must rely on Lao Dong headquarters to take care of." Furthermore, as of early last summer, all the political cadres -- that is, the leaders — at battalion level and above in the Vietcong military structure are returnees, or Southerners who went North in 1954 and returned in the early 1960s to fight the war.

New Evidence

Finally, the captured Communist Party in the South, are also a dozen members of the PRP central committee, the Communist party in the South, are also members of the Lao Dong central committee, the Communist Party in the North. This is powerful new evidence of the tight control of the North over the entire political-military structure in the South.

It tells how fragile is any hope that the NLF can be dealt with independently. The NLF is a wholly-owned subsidiary.

No less fragile is the apparent hope in the White House that non-stop appeals for negotiations will produce them. They have not the slightest effect on Hanoi, but a distinctly bad effect here.
